University Charter

On March 7, 1907, an amendment was made to the College Charter by the following act of the Regents:

UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

Amendment to Charter of St. John's College, Fordham

Having received a petition made in conformity to law and being satisfied that public interests will be promoted by such action, the Regents, by virtue of the authority conferred on them, hereby amend the charter of St. John's College, Fordham, by changing its corporate name to

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

And giving to its Medical department the name of Fordham University, School of Medicine; to its Law department the name of Fordham University, School of Law; and to its Collegiate department the name of Fordham University, St. John's College.

In witness whereof, the Regents grant this amendment to charter No. 1808, under seal of the University, at the Capitol in Albany, March 7, 1907.

St. Clair McKelway,
Vice-Chancellor.

A. S. Draper,
Commissioner of Education.

Recorded and took effect 2.30 p. m., March 7, 1907.

of rooms will be made before July 1. The former holder of a room will have claim on that room until July 1. If by that time the room be not engaged by him it will be considered vacant. The earliest applicant will have the right to any vacant room, providing his application be accompanied by $10, as above prescribed.

In case two students apply at the same time for the same room, the senior applicant will be given the preference.

The right to a room for which a deposit has been made expires if the room is not occupied the evening before the opening of schools.

In case a student who has made a deposit decides not to enter the college he should send notification before September 1. After that date deposits will not be returned.

All students in the college who do not reside at home, or with immediate relatives, or with guardians, are required to live in the University Residence Halls.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

St. John's College, Fordham University, New York, was founded by Archbishop Hughes upon the old Rose Hill Farm at Fordham, and formally opened on St. John the Baptist's Day, June 24, 1841. On April 10, 1846, an act of incorporation was passed by the New York Legislature, granting the College the power to "confer such literary honors, degrees or diplomas as are usually granted by any university, college or seminary of learning in the United States."

For the first five years of its existence the College was conducted by the diocesan clergy of New York; but in June, 1846, the property was purchased by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus. Since then the institution has been under the direction of the Jesuits.

On June 21, 1904, with the consent of the Regents of the University of the State of New York, the board of trustees authorized the opening of Schools of Law and Medicine. The first classes in both of these departments were begun in the fall of 1905.

SCHOLARSHIPS

To found a full resident-student scholarship the sum of fifteen thousand dollars is required. Day-student scholarships require three thousand dollars. Partial scholarships may also be established, yielding three-fourths, one-half, or one-quarter of the income of a full scholarship. Students holding a partial scholarship will be required to pay the amount their scholarships fall short of the full tuition. Those not prepared to found a partial scholarship may be able to pay the annual tuition for one day-student.

To give a bright and deserving boy an opportunity to receive a thoroughly Catholic education, and so aid him to become a better Christian and a better citizen, ought to urge friends of Catholic education to found Scholarships, and so accomplish lasting good for the individual and for society, while helping us to make our great work self-supporting and permanent.

Students holding scholarships are required to maintain an average of at least 75 per cent.; failure to do so entails forfeiture of the scholarship.

Further particulars regarding the subject matter of the examinations, etc., will be forwarded on application.

Scholarships for the assistance of students of St. John's College and High School have been endowed as follows. Unless otherwise stated the endowment is in perpetuity:

The Rev. Patrick F. Dealy, S.J., Scholarships, six in number, founded by the Hon. William R. Grace in memory of the Rev. Patrick F. Dealy, S.J.

The St. Ignatius Scholarships, four in number, endowed to assist students from the parish of St. Ignatius Loyola in the city of New York.

The Patrick Carney Scholarship.

The Sarah A. Tracy Scholarship.

The Rev. F. W. Gockeln, S.J., Scholarship, founded by James J. Doherty in memory of the Rev. F. W. Gockeln, S.J.

The Morgan J. O'Brien Scholarship, founded by the Hon. Morgan J. O'Brien, A.B., '72.

The Thomas E. Crimmins Scholarship, founded by Mrs. Walter A. Burke in memory of her father.

The Rt. Rev. Henry A. Brann, D.D., Scholarship, founded by the Rt. Rev. Henry A. Brann, D.D., A.B., '57, LL.D., '91.

The Joseph McAleenan Scholarship, founded by Joseph McAleenan, A.M., '02.

The Sarah A. Moore Scholarship.

The Martin Walsh Scholarship.

The Class of '84 Scholarship.

The Rev. Michael Cunningham Scholarships, two in number.

The Mooney Scholarship, founded by John Mooney in memory of his father and mother, Patrick and Bridget Mooney.

The John Whalen Scholarship, founded by the Hon. John Whalen, A.M., '89.

The Hanrahan Scholarship, founded by the Rev. James F. Flood, A.B., '80, in memory of the Rev. Nicholas Hanrahan, S.J.

The O'Donnell Scholarship, founded by Neil and Hugh O'Donnell.

The Andrew J. Heide Scholarship, founded by Henry J. Heide in memory of his son, Andrew J. Heide, '05.

The Coakley Scholarship, founded by Miss Margaret M. Coakley.

The McCusker Scholarships, four in number, founded by Miss Mary V. McCusker, in memory of herself, her father, her mother and sister.

The Knights of Columbus Scholarships, twelve in number, founded by the New York State Council of the Knights of Columbus.

The John H. Griffin Scholarship, founded by William V. Griffin in memory of his father, John H. Griffin.

The Arthur H. Murphy Scholarships, two in number, founded in memory of Arthur H. Murphy.

The Peter McDonnell Scholarship, founded by members of the McDonnell Family, in memory of their father, Peter McDonnell.

The University Scholarships, awarded by the University of the State of New York.

The W. G. Reed Mullen Scholarship.

The John Joseph Scott Scholarship.

SYSTEM OF EDUCATION

The educational system of ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE is substantially that of all other Colleges of the Society of Jesus. Those who are desirous of making either a scientific or historical study of that system, have abundant sources of information in the following works: Monumenta Germaniae Pedagogica, Vols. II, V, IX, XVI; Un Collège de Jésuites, par C. De Rochemonteix, S.J. For a shorter commentary on the Ratio Studiorum, the reader is referred to Jesuit Education by Robert Swickerath, S.J.

The subjoined brief outline of the underlying principles of the system, the dominant features of its method and the object aimed at by its teaching, will give a general idea of its purpose.

Education, in its complete sense, is understood by us as the full and harmonious development of the intellectual, moral and physical powers of man. It is not, therefore, mere instruction or the acquisition of knowledge, although instruction and the acquisition of knowledge necessarily accompany any right system of education. But the gaining of knowledge is a secondary, or at any rate, a concomitant, result of education. Learning is an instrument of education, not its end. The end is culture, and mental and moral development.

Hence, such instruments of education, that is, such studies, sciences or languages, are chosen as will effectively further the end proposed. These studies are selected, moreover, only in such numbers as are sufficient and helpful to ensure a gradual and natural development of the student's powers. A student who is to be educated will not be forced, in the short period of his college course and with his immature faculties, to study a multiplicity of the languages and sciences into which the vast world of modern knowledge has been divided. If two or more sciences, for instance, give similar training to some mental faculty, that one is chosen which combines the most effective training, with the largest and most fundamental knowledge.

The purpose of the mental training given is not proximately to fit the student for some special employment or profession, but to give him such a general, vigorous and rounded development as will enable him to cope successfully even with the unforeseen emergencies of life. While giving the mind stability, it tends to produce mental elasticity, the lack of which is one of the most hopeless and disheartening results of specialism in students who have not brought to their studies the uniform mental training given by a systematic college course. The studies, therefore, are so chosen and communicated that the student shall gradually and harmoniously reach, as nearly as may be, that measure of culture of which he is capable.

It is fundamental in the system of the Society of Jesus that different studies have distinct and peculiar educational values. Mathematics, the Natural Sciences, Language and History are complementary instruments of education to which the doctrine of equivalence cannot be applied. The specific training given by one cannot be supplied by another.

Furthermore, Language and History have always been held in esteem as leading factors in education. Mathematics and the Natural Sciences bring the student into contact with the material aspects of nature, and exercise the inductive and deductive powers of reasoning. Language and History effect a higher union; they are manifestations of spirit to spirit, and by their study and for their acquirement the whole mind of man is brought into widest and subtlest play. The acquisition of Language especially calls for delicacy of judgment and fineness of perception, and for a constant, keen and quick use of the reasoning powers. A special importance is attached to the classic tongues of Rome and Greece. As these are languages with a structure and idiom remote from the language of the student, the study of them lays bare before him the laws of thought and logic, and requires attention, reflection and analysis of the fundamental relations between thought and grammar. In studying them the student is led to the fundamental recesses of language. They exercise him in exactness of conception in grasping the foreign thought, and in delicacy of expression in clothing that thought in the dissimilar garb of the mother-tongue. While recognizing, then, in education the necessity and importance of Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, which unfold the inter-dependence and laws of the world of time and space, the Jesuit system of education has unwaveringly kept Language in a position of honor as an instrument of culture.

Lastly, the system does not share the illusion of those who seem to imagine that education, understood as an enriching and stimulating of the intellectual faculties, has a morally elevating influence in human life. While conceding the effects of education in energizing and refining imagination, taste, understanding and powers of observation, we have always held that knowledge and intellectual development of themselves have no moral efficacy. Only religion can purify the heart, and guide and strengthen the will.

The Jesuit system of education, then, aims at developing, side by side, the moral and intellectual faculties of the student, and sending forth to the world men of sound judgment, of acute and rounded intellect, of upright and manly conscience. And since men are not made better citizens by the mere accumulation of knowledge, without a guiding and controlling force, the principal faculties to be developed are the moral faculties. Moreover, morality is to be taught continuously; it must be the vital force animating the whole organic structure of education. It must be the atmosphere the student breathes; it must suffuse with its light all that he reads, illuminate all that is noble, expose what is base, and give to the true and the false their relative light and shade.

In a word, the purpose of Jesuit teaching is to lay a solid substructure in the whole mind and character for any superstructure of science, professional and special; as well as for the upbuilding of moral, civil and religious life.

The Student Counsellor

One of the Fathers of the Faculty is appointed as counsellor or adviser of the students. His principal duty is to direct the spiritual activities of the College and the various religious societies and sodalities, in regard to which he exercises much the same supervision as the Prefect of Discipline exercises in his department.

He provides opportunities for the students to receive the Sacraments in addition to the times assigned for the general student body.

He is, in a special sense, the friend and adviser of the students, not only in matters directly spiritual, but also material and temporal; in their studies, their social duties, and in other intimate and personal matters as each one may wish.

One of the questions of highest importance to every College graduate is the wise choice of a profession or vocation according to one's character, talents and attractions, both natural and supernatural. No student with a serious outlook on life will fail to determine, well in advance of his graduation, the career which, under God's providence, will best assure his temporal success and his eternal happiness. In this matter the assistance of the Student Counsellor will be invaluable. His hours will be arranged to afford ample opportunity of conferring with him.

Library

The Library contains 100,000 volumes, of which 21,000 have been carefully selected for the use of the students.

Religious Training.

The College authorities are convinced that without religion there can be no education in the true sense of the word, that is to say, no complete and harmonious development of the intellect and heart of man. They hold, furthermore, that religious truth, being definite and certain, may be taught with as much exactness as language or philosophy. Hence, the study of Christian Doctrine is required, and lectures on evidences are given twice a week. Moreover, all are required to attend regularly to their religious duties. Though the Catholic religion alone is taught, the courses are open to students of any religious belief whatsoever.

Attendance

The Fall session begins on or about the second Wednesday in September; the Spring session, February 1. The daily sessions begin at 9 A. M. Punctual attendance is required. Parents and guardians should know that absence, even when excusable, affects class standing. Students who are not present 85% of a term will not receive any credit for the work of the term. No student is permitted to enter class late.

Examinations and Promotions

Examinations are held semi-annually, in January and in June. Philosophy examinations are both written and oral; in all other branches, they are written only.

Promotions are made only at the beginning of the year. They are determined by the student's record for recitations and written work during the course of the entire year, combined with the results of the mid-year and final examinations.

Conditions are allowed in the final examinations in three subjects, one major and two minor. A student who fails in two major subjects must repeat the term. A major subject is a subject pursued for at least four semester hours per semester. A minor subject is a subject pursued for two semester hours per semester.

Conditions must be satisfactorily removed in February for students deficient in the first term, and in September for students deficient in the second term, or such students will not be allowed to proceed with their class. They may repeat the entire term, taking all courses over again.

No student is allowed to take more than five years in which to obtain his degree. He may repeat a year only once during his course, and may not repeat any other year later.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must present evidence of their graduation with diploma from a four-year high school course in a school accredited by the New York State Regents. They must also submit a detailed record of their high school work. This record must represent at least 15 units distributed over four full years, and must be accompanied by a certification by the principal that the student is qualified for higher studies. It is expected that such certification will not be given to those who have received a grade of less than 75% in their last year of high school. Students must also furnish certificates of good moral character, and of honorable withdrawal from the school they last attended.

A unit of credit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work.

The credits offered for entrance into the regular Freshman Class must include the following subjects:

For A.B. Course		For B.S. Course
Latin	3 or 4 units	English	3 or 4 units
English	3 or 4 units	Algebra	2 or 1 unit
Algebra	2 or 1 unit	(at least through quadratics)
(at least through quadratics)		Plane Geometry	1 unit
Plane Geometry	1 unit	Trigonometry	½ unit
Trigonometry	½ unit	Modern Language	2 or 3 units
Modern Language	2 or 3 units	History	1 unit
History	1 unit

The remaining units may be made up from any standard high school subjects except commercial and manual training courses.

Applicants may be admitted without Trigonometry, in which case they will be required to take this subject, as an extra course, in addition to the other requirements, in the first semester of Freshman. The fee for this course is ten dollars.

Admission to Advanced Standing

A candidate for admission to advanced standing from other institutions of collegiate rank must present, first, a catalogue of the college from which he comes, and, second, an official certificate showing his entrance credits at that institution and his college record in each subject taken.

He must have completed creditably at least one entire year in a school of collegiate grade.

He must have taken the courses in Latin, (Greek), English and Philosophy as prescribed in the curriculum, and also Trigonometry, if not a part of his high school course. For other subjects an equivalent may be accepted at the discretion of the Board of Admissions.

No one will be admitted under any circumstances to a standing higher than that represented by the completion of the junior year.

REQUIREMENTS FOR THE A.B. AND B.S. DEGREES

In order to receive the degree of A.B. or B.S. a student is required to complete successfully an amount of work equivalent to 136 credits. A credit represents one hour per week for one semester, except when the class period is conducted in the style of a conference or seminar, in which case fewer credits are allowed. In laboratory work two hours are estimated as the equivalent of one lecture period.

Toward the end of the sophomore year every candidate for these degrees must select with the advice of his Faculty Adviser one major study to be followed during the last two years of his course.

A major study comprises: (1) not less than 18 semester hours of instruction either in the same subject or in subjects so closely related as to form a well unified field of study; (2) assigned reading or investigation in the designated subject; (3) before the end of the Senior year candidates will be obliged to write a thesis on some portion of his major approved by the head of the department.

If the major is a subject which has been pursued in Freshman and Sophomore years, two semester credits will be allowed for this earlier work.

After the prescribed courses for Junior and Senior have been provided for and the major has been selected, the remaining number of hours may be made up from other subjects at the discretion of the Faculty Advisers.

The disjunctive syllogism. Abridged and conjoined syllogisms. Induction, Methods of induction. Argument from analogy, Fallacies. Definition. Division.

5. Method. Definition. Rules of method.

COURSE II. Criteriology or Applied Logic.—Junior Year. Nine hours a week, one-half term.

1. Truth. Definition of truth. Truth completely possessed in the judgment only. Logical falsity. Ideas never false. Judgments may be false.

2. Certitude. Nature of certitude. Metaphysical, physical, and moral certitude. Natural and philosophical certitude. Universal scepticism. Methodic doubt. The primary principle, fact and condition of all knowledge.

3. Sources of Certain Cognition. Consciousness. The senses. Ideas. Criticism of Kant's synthetic a priori judgments. Intellect. Reason. Memory. Human testimony and belief. Historical criticism. Auxiliary sciences of history. Processes of indirect research. Textual criticism.

4. Universals. Nominalism. Conceptualism. Ultra-Realism. The true doctrine on universals.

5. Criterion of Truth. Blind impulse to believe. Sentimentalism. Traditionalism. Objective evidence.

COURSE III. General Metaphysics.—Junior Year. Nine hours a week, one-half term.

1. Being. The concept of being. Analogousness of being. Essence and existence. Possibility, internal and external. Source of internal possibility.

2. Attributes of Being. Unity. Individuality. Identity and distinction. Truth of being. Goodness of being. Evil in being a privation.

3. The Categories of Being. Substance and accident. Hypostasis and personality. Distinction between nature and person. Separability of accident from substance. Principal accidents and their divisions. Quantity. Quality. Relation.

4. Causes of Being. Intrinsic and extrinsic causes. Principle of causality.

5. The Perfection of Being. Simple and compound being. Necessary and contingent being. Finite and infinite being. Order and beauty.

COURSE IV. Cosmology.—Junior Year. Nine hours a week, one-half term.

1. Origin of the World. Pantheistic theories. Materialistic views. Possibility of creation. Fact of the world's creation in time.

2. Laws of Nature. Reality of activity in inorganic bodies. Design in nature. Intrinsic final tendencies of natural bodies. Contingency of physical laws. Nature, possibility and cognoscibility of miracles.

3. Theory of Matter and Form. Atomism. Dynamism. Substantial changes. Nature and properties of primal matter and of substantial form. The compound.

4. Nature and Properties of Inorganic Bodies. Quantity. Continuity. Formal effect of Quantity. Space and Place. Time, Eternity and Eviternity. Sensible qualities of corporeal substances.

5. Existence of Bodies in Space. Reality of existence of bodies in space. Compenetration and replication of bodies.

COURSE V. PSYCHOLOGY.—Senior Year. Five hours a week, one and one-half term.

1. The Problem of Life in General. Characteristics of living and non-living matter. Mechanical theories of life. Vitalism, Neo-Vitalism. The Scholastic doctrine.

2. The Structure and Functions of the Nervous System of Man. The general arrangement of the nervous system. Nerves. The peripheral end-organs. The spinal cord. The brain.

3. The Reflex Mechanism and Its Bearing on Psychological Problems. The facts of reflex action. Their purposive character and the so-called objective criterion of mind. Reflexes and voluntary actions, sensori-motor and ideo-motor actions, expressive movements, instinctive and impulsive actions. The physical basis of habit. The automaton theory. The principle of conservation of energy and mental control over bodily actions.

4. The Localization of Functions in the Brain. History of the problem. Modern methods and results. Motor and sensory areas.

The so-called "silent areas." Speech centers. The various forms of aphasia. Acquired functions. The process of learning. Problems of child psychology.

5. Sleep and Dreams. History of the problem. Various theories of sleep; its physiological and psychological significance. Experimental investigation of dreams.

6. Hypnotism. The facts and the various theories. The so-called hypnosis of animals.

7. Nature and Kinds of Sensations. Classification of the senses. External and internal senses. Mueller's, Weber's and Fechner's laws. Experimental investigation of association and memory. The Associationist school. Experimental investigation of the various sensations. Space, perception and modern theories on the subject. The scholastic doctrine concerning sensation.

8. Emotions. Experimental investigations and the scholastic doctrine.

9. Intellectual Life. Theories of psychic elements in the light of the psychological experiment. Methods of investigation. The work of the Wurzburg school. Essential distinction between intellect and sense. The scholastic doctrine in the light of physiological and experimental data. Sensationalists, Associationists, Materialists, Monists, Psychophysical Parallelists, Positivists, Empiricists, Evolutionists. Brutes have no reasoning power.

10. The Three Elements of Intellectual Life. Simple apprehension, judgment and reasoning. The objects, primary and secondary, of the intellect.

11. The Origin of Ideas. Theory of innate ideas; Plato, Descartes, Leibnitz, Rosmini, Cousin, Fichte, Hegel, Schelling, Kant. Ontologism; Malebranche, Gioberti, Ubaghs. Traditionalism; De Bonald, Bonnetti, Ventura. The scholastic Aristotelian doctrine. The process of abstraction; the scholastic doctrine in the light of modern investigations.

12. Judgment and Reasoning. The scholastic doctrine. Experimental analysis of the judicial process; assent and consent.

Analysis of Ratiocination. Deduction and Induction. Implicit reasoning.

13. The Will. Its essential difference from the sensitive appetite. The object of the will. Motives. Deliberation. Necessary and free acts.

14. The Nature of Free Will. The conditions of free choice. The experimental evidence. Moral aspect of free will. Free will, the necessary complement of man's rational nature. The various forms of Determinism. The impediments of free choice. The perversions of the will; crime and insanity.

15. The Human Soul. The substantiality of the soul and the so-called "actuality theory." The stream of consciousness. The perception of abiding identity of the Ego. The simplicity of the soul and the recent advances in nerve-physiology. The spirituality of the human soul. The argument from the perception of abstracts and universals. Modern Nominalism. The argument from perfect Psychological reflection. The argument from free will.

16. Union of Soul and Body. Aristotelico-Scholastic doctrine. Descartes' doctrine on the seat of the soul. Doctrine of Plato, Malebranche, Locke, Rosmini, etc. Modern theories of "interaction" and psychophysical parallelism.

17. Origin of the Human Soul. Traducianism. The scholastic doctrine.

18. Immortality of the Human Soul. The natural immortality of the human soul proved from its spirituality. Its actual immortality. Ethical and teleological arguments. The universal belief of mankind and its value as an argument.

COURSE VI. Natural Theology.—Senior Year. Five hours a week, one-half term.

1. The Existence of God. Views of the Monotheistic Philosophers on the natural foundation of a reasonable belief in God. Refutation of so-called Ontological arguments. St. Anselm's argument. Proofs of the existence of an Intelligent First Cause or Personal God. The metaphysical, physical and moral a posteriori arguments.

2. The Essence of God. His attributes. Infinity, unicity, simplicity, immutability, eternity, invisibility, incomprehensibility.

3. The Cognition of God. Its objects, primary and secondary. His cognition of the possibles, of necessary and free future acts, of the futuribles.

4. The Will of God. Its objects, primary and secondary. Necessary and free objects. His Will, the principle of creation. The creative power can in no sense be shared by creatures. Divine preservation and concurrence. Divine providence and its relation to existing evil. Scholastic difference as to the manner in which God concurs with creatures.

COURSE VII. ETHICS.—Senior Year. Five hours a week, both terms.

A. General Ethics.

1. Premise. Ethics is concerned with and interprets a specific and paramount fact; is based on reason; is a normative science. The elements of the fact are conduct and oughtness. The scope of Ethics is character.

2. Conduct. Conduct is volitional action, elicit or imperate, self-regarding or other-regarding. It differs from behavior and purely voluntary actions.

3. Oughtness. Oughtness implies an ultimate end, a supreme good and an absolute right.

4. End. The absolutely ultimate intrinsic end of man's volitional activity is blessedness, or the final perfection of his rational nature with the happiness consequent thereupon; the absolutely ultimate extrinsic end is the external glory of the Creator. Blessedness is not obtainable by any finite good or combination of finite goods; but only through the perfect knowledge and perfect love of God.

5. Good. Good is perfective, delectable, useful. The supreme intrinsic good of man is EUDAEMONIA, i. e., perfection with the happiness congruous thereto. The proximate norm of goodness is rational nature looked at in itself and in its essential relations; the ultimate norm is the Divine Nature as known to the Divine Practical Reason. The determinations of goodness are the end of the action, the end of the agent, and the modifications intrinsically affecting either. Goodness is formal, i. e., attributable to an agent, when the conditions required for a volitional act are present. A volitional action cannot be indifferent in respect of goodness.

6. Right, Objective. Right, objectively considered, is an ideal of conduct obligatory in character. Obligation arises from moral law. Moral law is the promulgation in a rational creature of Eternal law; is one, universal, unchangeable, and, so far as its primary principles are concerned, knowable to all whose reason is developed. Conscience is reason applying the principles of moral law to individual acts. It is to be obeyed when it is prudentially certain; when it is doubtful, recourse must be had to reflex principles affording certainty before action becomes lawful. The perfect sanction of moral law, which is the realization or the frustration of blessedness, is had only in a future life. Man may truly merit blessedness.

7. Right, Subjective. Right, subjectively considered, is an inviolable moral faculty to do, to hold, or to exact. It is derived from man's moral responsibility. Its correlative is duty, i. e., the moral obligation either of not impeding the exercise of another's right, or of co-operating with it. Rights are co-active and uncoactive; duties, juridical and merely ethical. Every right is limited, and may therefore apparently conflict with another's right.

8. Character. Character is an integration of habits of conduct superimposed on temperament. It is morally perfect when it results from the combined theological and moral virtues. The theological virtues are faith, hope and charity; the moral virtues are prudence, justice, fortitude and temperance and the virtues allied to these.

B. Special Ethics

1. Duties to God. By the moral law man is obliged to render to God, both privately and publicly, the worship of interior and exterior adoration, and to believe in a divine revelation when made known to him.

2. Duties in Respect to Self. The moral law obliges man to acquire the knowledge essential to his eternal welfare, and to the performance of the duties of life, to govern his volitional activity by this knowledge, to have a rational care of health and life, to seek the external goods of life, in so far as they are necessary for the duties of his state of life.

3. Duties to Others. The moral law obliges man to respect the rights of others to intellectual and moral integrity, to health and life, to good name and property. The rights enumerated are coactive rights, and may be protected from unjust aggression, provided the moderation of blameless defence is preserved, by the use of force suited to secure them and proportioned to the loss threatened.

4. The Right to Material Things. Everyone has a connatural right to the material goods by which life is sustained. The right of ownership, though conditioned by a contingent and universal fact, is, when actuated by a legitimate title, based on moral law. In case of extreme need the connatural right prevails over the right of ownership. Socialism, as an economic theory, or collectivism, is, in view of the above-mentioned fact, adverse to the material prosperity of the race; as a philosophic theory it entails a crude materialistic interpretation of history: as a political theory it leads to democratic absolutism. Monopoly exists by favor or tolerance of the civil community, and is lawful only when it subserves the common welfare. It may become a social evil, economically, politically and ethically.

C. Sociological Ethics.

1. Society. Society is a stable union of two or more for a common purpose attainable by co-operative activity. Its material element is the constitutent members; its formal element, the bond which obliges them to social co-operation. Society is pactitious when its nature, purpose and bond are fixed by man; it is natural, when these are fixed by the moral law or the Author of nature. The three natural societies are domestic, civil and religious; the two latter are supreme in their respective spheres. The primary property of every natural society is authority, the range of which is fixed by the nature and purpose of the society.

2. Society, Conjugal. Conjugal society is a contract properly so-called, but differs from other contracts in that its nature, purpose and bond are determined by the Author of nature. Its primary intrinsic purpose is the procreation of rational beings and its secondary purpose is the mutual love and welfare of the contracting parties. Its essential properties are unity and indissolubility.

3. Society, Parental. The primary intrinsic purpose of parental society is the education of the children who are members of it. To parents alone belongs the inherent right of educating their children. The duty from which this right springs may be enforced, should need arise, by civil and religious society.

4. Society, Industrial. The proximate and individual norm of wages, due on grounds of commutative justice, is the net value of the work that the laborer produces; the supreme and general norm of wages, due on grounds of social justice, is the common welfare of the laboring class.

5. Society, Civil. The genetic origin of civil society is to be found in the inclination, aptitudes and needs of man; its historical origin, in the various facts that caused the aggregation of many men in the same territory; its juridical origin, in the consent, either tacit or expressed, of those who instituted it. The distinction between people, nation and state.

6. The End of the State. The state is not an end to itself, but exists for the temporal well-being of the community. Its primary purpose is to secure the rights and liberty of its members, and its secondary purpose is to afford equitably the opportunities socially necessary for temporal prosperity. Civil authority, the organ of which is government, can oblige in conscience only in so far as it is ultimately derived from the Supreme Legislator.

7. Government, Functions and Form. Functions of government, legislative, judicial and executive. The purposes of government are best obtained when these functions are distributed in different depositories, in such a way as to preserve the organic unity of the state. No form of government is without defects. The best form is that which is suited to the political capacity and character of a people as determined by historical causes and in which authority is so exercised and liberty so secured as to inspire citizens with loyalty. Generally speaking, for the political temperament of modern peoples this is best effected in a constitutional and representative government.

8. The State and Conscience. Liberty of conscience, properly understood, is a connatural and inalienable right of man. In the external exercise of his right the citizen may not be constrained by the civil authority, though he may be restrained by this authority whenever such exercise is seriously harmful to the general welfare.

9. The Church and State. Though church and state are in their respective spheres perfect and independent societies, the absolute irrelation of both is impossible; and attempts to effect it are against the moral law.

10. International Right. Nations as well as individuals are subject to moral law, and have certain ethical and juridical duties with corresponding rights. International law governs the relations existing between independent nations; and comprises both the principles which right reason perceives to be consonant with humanity and justice, and such definitions and determination of these as may be established by general consent.

LATIN

NOTE: The courses in Latin, Greek and English are, for greater educative effect, made parallel as far as possible. The theory of the different forms of literature is presented in the English courses and the classic masterpieces studied in the Latin and Greek courses furnish illustrative material for enforcement of the precepts and for comparative work.

In Senior and Junior years, Latin is not prescribed, except for students who may not have finished the prescribed courses. Advanced courses may be arranged if desired.

In all the language courses the Professors may select those authors from the list prescribed, which they wish for the illustration of the precepts in the Sophomore and Freshman Years.

COURSE I. Freshman year. Seven hours a week.

AUTHORS.—Cicero, Pro Archia, De Signis, Second Philippic, Pro Marcello; Livy, History, Book XXI; Virgil, Aeneid, Books VI-XII; Horace, Odes, Ars Poetica; Plautus, Duo Captivi; Selections from Latin lyric poets.

COMPOSITION.—Two exercises in Latin prose each week. Some of the exercises are based on Bradley's Aids to Latin Composition; the rest will be original themes in imitation of prose authors read in class.

COURSE II. Sophomore year. Six hours a week.

AUTHORS—First Term: Cicero, Pro Lege Manilia; Horace, Epodes, Satires, Epistles, Carmen Sæculare; Tacitus, Agricola, and for reading at sight, Germania. SECOND TERM: Cicero, Pro Milone and Pro Ligario; Juvenal, Satires; Tacitus, Annales.

COMPOSITION.—Two exercises in prose each week. Elegant translations. Structural analysis of authors.

COURSE III. Elective for Junior and Senior.

GREEK

NOTE: Greek in Senior and Junior years is optional, except for those who have not completed the prescribed courses. Students may make arrangements for advanced courses.

COURSE I. Freshman year. Four hours a week.

AUTHORS—First Term: Plato, The Apology; Homer, Odyssey; Herodotus, optional reading at sight (Merry, Parts I-V). SECOND TERM: Demosthenes, Olynthiacs I, II and III; Euripides, Hecuba; Herodotus, optional reading at sight (Merry, Parts VI-X).

COMPOSITION.—Written exercises once a week based on Sidgwick's Introduction to Greek Prose Composition.

GRAMMAR.—Review of Greek moods and the syntax of dependent sentences. General laws of versification.

COURSE II. Sophomore year. Four hours a week.

AUTHORS—First Term: Demosthenes, Philippic I; Aeschylus, Prometheus Bound; Sophocles, Oedipus Tyrannus; Thucydides, Peloponnesian War, Book II, cc. 1-46. SECOND TERM: Demosthenes, De Corona, entire; analysis of oratorical structure and style. Thorough acquaintance with the historical issues at stake. Thucydides, Peloponnesian War, Book II, cc. 47-68.

COURSE III. Elective for Junior and Senior. Three hours a week.

AUTHORS—First Term: Aeschylus, Agamemnon; Plato, Crito and Phædo; St. Basil, Classical Literature. SECOND TERM: Plato Republic, Book I; Aristophanes, Birds, or Frogs, or Wasps; Pindar, Olympic Odes, I, II, VI, VII.

COURSE IV. Elementary Greek.

ENGLISH

COURSE I. Freshman year. A.B. Four hours a week.

1. PRECEPTS OF LITERATURE—Both Terms: The definition of Literature. Characteristic qualities of the art. Position of Literature among the other Fine Arts. The four elements of Literature—Emotion, Imagination, Thought and Form; discussion of each element. 3. Authors—First Term: Shakespeare, Hamlet, Analysis of Dramatic Structure. King Lear, reading with study of passions involved. Newman, Second Spring (style, analysis and imitation), (Donnelly)—both terms. Second Term: Shakespeare, MacBeth (analysis). Shakespeare, Julius Cæsar (oratorical study). Bradley, Oratorical Selections—both terms.

4. Composition: Oratorical. Exercises in the application of the Precepts of Rhetoric. Practice in the Drawing of Briefs.

5. History of English Literature. Early English Literature. The Age of Chaucer. The Elizabethan Period. Shakespeare and His Contemporaries.

The following courses in English are elective for Junior or Senior:

COURSE IV. Shakespearian Drama: A study of the growth and development of Shakespeare's art, with critical reading of representative plays of each period.

COURSE V. Elizabethan Drama: A historical study of the origin and the growth of the English drama, with special attention to the immediate predecessors of Shakespeare and to his successors, down to the closing of the theatres.

COURSE VI. Literature of the Eighteenth Century: A study of the temper and the ideals of the eighteenth century, as shown in the work of the principal writers of the period.

COURSE VII. The Romantic Movement: The beginnings and the history of romance in England, with special attention to the revolt against classicism and the revival of the romantic spirit.

COURSE VIII. The Evolution of the Novel: A study of the development of fiction in English, from the early romances to the present day.

COURSE IX. Poetry and Fiction of the Victorian Era: Reading and discussion of the works, in poetry and in prose fiction, of the principal writers of the Nineteenth Century.

COURSE X. Oral English: Physiology and Psychology of effective oral expression.

HISTORY

As in most Preparatory Schools to-day, "Ancient History" (extending to the year 800 A.D.) forms an integral part of the History course, it is assumed that all entering Freshman are acquainted with the outstanding facts of the early history of the Race. Consequently the aim of the college course is to give, in keeping with the more mature mind of the grown student, a fuller acquaintance with Medieval and Modern History culminating in an advanced course in American Constitutional History.

In Freshman year, after a rapid review of the main features of European History from the Birth of Christ to the Coronation of Charlemagne, the student enters on an extended survey of the whole Medieval period, 800 to 1517 A.D., in which are seen the roots of our modern civilization.

In Sophomore year, the period 1517-1648 is studied intensively as here are seen the disruptive forces (at least in their origins) that are at the root of contemporary discord.

In Junior year, after a rapid glance at the main events between 1648-1789, the student is offered in detail the story of the nineteenth century in Europe and America, leading up to and including the Great War.

In Senior year, as a preparation for an intelligent participation in public life as a clear-seeing citizen, a course is offered in American Constitutional History. This fittingly serves as a crown upon the High School and College History Course.

As the Sophomore courses treat of events and institutions that are of the utmost importance to any serious student of modern civilization and its problems, they are made obligatory.

The Junior and Senior courses though not of less importance, but having a stronger appeal to the contemporary mind, may be safely left in the number of elective studies.

Freshman

4 hours a week. 1st Semester

Era of Charlemagne to "Reformation," 800-1517 A.D.

Summary and Brief Review of Ancient Pagan World.—Conflict with Christianity. Triumph of Christianity. Migration of Nations. Conquest of Western Roman Empire. Conversion of Barbarians. Early Celtic Missionary enterprises. Eastern Roman Empire. Estrangement from Western Europe by heresy and schism.

Reorganization of Western World under Charlemagne.—The Papacy and the Holy Roman Empire. Monasticism, its origin and character; its work for civilization.

Feudalism, its origin, nature, and influence for good and evil.—Moral revival of Eleventh Century: Hildebrand and his successors: their struggle for law and order against forces of anarchy and absolutism.

The Medieval Church.—Its imperial character in temporal as well as spiritual sphere; its wealth and political power, origin and justification of same; its rôle as chief civilizer in every department of human life; its three avenues of energy, the Papacy, Monasticism, the Sacramental System.

Islam, its origin and character, its assaults upon Christian and civilized world.—The Crusades, their true nature, causes and effects. The Military Orders and the defense of Christian frontiers against the Moslem. Crusades against heretics. Nature of Medieval heresies. The Inquisition. True nature and theory of medieval religious persecutions.

Social and Economic features of the Middle Ages.—The Gilds. The rise of cities and decay of Serfdom. The Age of Discoveries and Exploration.

Medieval Education.—Origin and development of the University. Medieval art, literature and science. Scholasticism. The Friars, their missionary, educational and moral influence; their connection with the Universities. Age of Charity and Benevolence.

Development of Free Institutions in the Middle Ages.—The Cortes in the Spanish Kingdoms. The French States General. German Diets. Magna Charta and development of English Parliament. Influence of Roman Canon Law upon European jurisprudence. The Roman Civil Law; its excellencies; its deplorable effect upon Medieval liberty; its furthering of absolutism. The Medieval Concept of the "Catholic Church and Christian State."

Expansion of Europe to East.—Entrance of Slavs into Christian Civilization. Growth of spirit of nationality and formation of Chief Modern Countries. Dynastic ambitions and wars.

The Renaissance.—Christian and Pagan aspects of the Movement. Its beneficial and disastrous influences upon later Middle Ages.

SOPHOMORE

3 hours a week. 2d Semester

"The Reformation"

Revolt of Luther, 1517. Peace of Westphalia, 1648

Causes and occasions, remote and immediate, of the Religious upheaval of the Sixteenth Century.—Contest between the Papacy and Philip the Fair. Avignon Residence of the Popes. The Great Western Schism. Lollards and Hussites. The Black Death.

Baneful influence of "Pagan" Renaissance.—Growing absolutism of Civil Power; its jealousy of wealth and political position of the Church. Hostility of Commercial Classes to economic teaching and practices of the Medieval Church. Worldly lives and secular pre-occupation of Renaissance prelates. General weakening of spiritual ties and growth of secularist spirit.

The true character of the Religious Revolution of the Sixteenth Century and its leaders, as seen in the light of modern research contrasted with traditional ex parte views.

Luther and Lutheranism.—Doctrinal errors and reliance upon civil power. Philip of Hesse. Gustavus Vasa. Chaos, religious, social and political, consequent upon preaching of the "New Gospel."

Zwingli and Calvin.—Further development of doctrine. Huguenot intolerance and conspiracy in France. Counter-violence of Catholic party. John Knox and tyrannical measures of the Reformation in Scotland.

Special features of the Reformation in England.—Divorce of Henry VIII. Rupture with Rome and reign of terror. Further Protestantization under Edward VI. Reaction under Mary. Ultimate triumph of politico-religious compromise under Elizabeth and the Stuarts.

Barbarous efforts to force Protestantism upon Ireland and their failure.

Catholic Reaction and Counter-Reformation.—The Council of Trent. The Jesuits and kindred Orders. The Inquisition; its true history and character. Expansion of Catholicism into new lands, India, Japan, Africa and the Americas.

Wars of Religion.—Internal dissensions and intolerance of Protestants. The Thirty Years' War. Practical effects of the Reformation upon European life, liberty, civil and religious, education, literature, and progress.

JUNIOR

Elective

Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries

Peace of Westphalia to Our Own Times

Rapid Survey of Europe from Peace of Westphalia to French Revolution.—Power of France and England. Decay of Liberty and Religion.

The French Revolution.—Its causes and leaders; its earlier good features; its later disastrous results. Napoleonic Wars.

Reorganization of Europe by Congress of Vienna.—Holy Alliance. Irish Struggle for Land and Liberty. Redress of many ancient wrongs. Reforms in English Parliament. Expansion of Empire abroad. Revolutionary outbreaks and gradual growth in Free Government all over Europe. Loss of Temporal Power of the Pope. Unification of Italy and Germany. Vicissitudes of French Government: Kingdom, Empire, Republic. Extension of Russian Empire. Entrance of Japan into circle of Great Powers. Immense Industrial and Commercial Expansion of Europe. Marvelous growth of United States from Colonies to World Power. Triple Alliance and Entente Cordiale. The Great World War. The New Era.

SENIOR

Elective

American Constitutional History

This covers: (a) A careful study of the nature and content of the United States Constitution itself.

(b) Its historical backgrounds, i. e., the Medieval Catholic political ideals and institutions in which it is rooted, and their later development in England and the Colonies; the proximate history of the Constitution as seen in the deliberations of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, its divergencies and compromises.

(c) The later growth of the Constitution, i.e., the men and the controversies that have most conduced to its interpretation, expansion or modification down to the present day.

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

Elective

COURSE I. Constitutional Government.
COURSE II. Growth of Democracy.
COURSE III. Economic History of United States.
COURSE IV. Political Economy.
COURSE V. Trade Economics.
COURSE VI. Social Economics.
COURSE VII. Social Ethics.
COURSE VIII. Sociology.
COURSE IX. Social Reconstruction.
COURSE X. Industrial History.

EVIDENCES OF RELIGION

COURSE I. Freshman year. Two hours a week.

First Term: Revelation, Natural and Supernatural. Miracles and Prophecies. The Primitive, Patriarchal and Mosaic Revelation. The Christian Revelation. The Institution and End of the Church. (Wilmers, pp. 1-77.)

Second Term: The Constitution of the Church. St. Peter given the Primacy not only of honor, but also of jurisdiction. The Pope, the successor of St. Peter. The Infallibility of the Pope. The Marks of the Church. The Teaching Office of the Church. Sources of the Church's Teaching: Holy Scripture, Tradition. The Rule of Faith. (Wilmers, pp. 77-152.)

COURSE II. Sophomore year. Two hours a week.

First Term: The existence and nature of God. The Divine Attributes. The Unity of God. The Blessed Trinity. The Creation of the World. (Wilmers, pp. 152-219.)

Second Term: The Creation and the Fall of Man. The Incarnation. The Redemption. Grace. (Wilmers, pp. 219-303.)

COURSE III. Junior year. Two hours a week.

First Term: The Sacraments in General. Baptism. Confirmation. The Holy Eucharist. (Wilmers, pp. 305-341.)

Second Term: The Mass. Penance. Extreme Unction. Holy Orders. Matrimony. The Church as a Means of Salvation. Escatology. (Wilmers, pp. 341-397.)

COURSE IV. Senior year. Two hours a week.

First Term: Christian Morality. The Theological Virtues: Faith, Hope and Charity. The Virtue of Religion. (Wilmers, pp. 397-444.)

Second Term: Divine Worship. Christian Duties. Christian Perfection. (Wilmers, pp. 444-494.)

EDUCATION

Elective

COURSE I. History of Education.

COURSE II. Educational Psychology.

COURSE III. Principles and Methods of Education.

ASTRONOMY

Elective

General Principles of Spherical Trigonometry. The Doctrines of the Sphere. The Earth, Sun, Moon, Eclipses. Celestrial Mechanics. Uranography. Practice in the use of the Transit Circle, the Equatorial, and of the Ephemeris. Calculation of Eclipses.

GEOLOGY

Elective

Dynamic Geology: Winds, Weathering, Rivers, Glaciers, Lakes, Oceans, Volcanoes, Earthquakes.

Structural Geology: Rock-forming minerals, Composition and Structure of Rocks. Physiographic Structure.

Historical Geology: Archæan, Paleozoic, Mesozoic, Cenozoic, and Psychozoic Eras.

HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY

Elective. Two lectures a week throughout the year.

First Term: Oriental Philosophy: The Sacred Books of the Chinese. The Vedas and other productions of Indian Literature. The Philosophy of Vedanta, of Samkhya and Yoga, of Nyaya and Vaishesika. Philosophical Theories of Egypt and of Western Asia.

Greek Philosophy: The Ionic School. The Pythagoreans. The Eleatics. The Sophists. Socrates and the Socratic Schools. Plato. Aristotle. The Epicureans. The Stoics. The Sceptics.

Christian Philosophy: The Gnostics. The Neo-Platonists. The Fathers of the Church.

Scholastic Philosophy: Boethius. St. John of Damascus. Erigena. Avicenna. Averroes. Alexander of Hales. St. Bonaventure. Albertus Magnus. St. Thomas Aquinas. Roger Bacon. Duns Scotus. Raymond Lully. William of Occam. Peter d'Ailly. Tauler. Gerson. Nicholas of Cusa. The Mystics. The Revival of Platonism, of Aristotelianism, of Atomism. The Secular Philosophers. The Political Philosophers.

Second Term: Modern Philosophy: Descartes and His Followers. Malebranche. Spinoza. Bayle. Cudworth. Locke. Hume. Condillac. Helvetius. Voltaire. The Encyclopedists. Leibnitz. Wolff. Berkeley. Rousseau. The Scottish School. The Transcendentalists: Kant, Fichte, Schelling, and their schools of thought. Herbart and Schopenhauer, Krause and Hegel. The Neo-Kantians. Von Hartmann. Trendelburg. Lotze. Current Philosophical Theories. Neo-Scholastics. Thomistic Philosophy under Leo XIII.

BIOLOGY

Elective. Two lecture and two laboratory periods a week throughout the year.

Origin of life. Morphology of cell and tissues. Differentiation of tissues. Morphology of organs and their physiological functions. General classification of living beings. Origin of the species. Evolution. Darwinism. Heredity. Weissmann's Germ-Plasm theory. De Vries' Mutation theory. Mendelism. Psychological study of the sensitive knowledge and instinct of animals. Comparative anatomy of vertebrates. Dissection of rabbits, birds, lizards, frogs, and fishes. Anatomy of crustaceans, molluscs, arachnids, insects and worms. Study of Protozoa—amoeba, paramæcium, vorticella, stylonichae and euglena. Parasitism, and general knowledge of bacteriology. Fundamental principles of embryology in their relation to evolution. General technique in histology.

CHEMISTRY

COURSE I. General Inorganic Chemistry. Three didactic and two laboratory periods throughout the year.

This course offers a thorough and systematic study of the general laws and theories of chemistry. The metallic and the non-metallic elements and their compounds are studied from the standpoint of the periodic classification. This course is of obligation for the Sophomore A.B. and Freshman B.S. courses.

COURSE II. Qualitative Analysis. Two lecture and three laboratory periods a week for two semesters.

In this course the qualitative analysis of the metals and the acids are studied according to groups. Preliminary experiments are carried out on "known solutions" after a thorough review of the physical and chemical properties of the metal, salt or acid under consideration. The work is then followed by analysis of several unknown solutions or mixtures. The student is in each case required to make out a detailed report of the analytic procedure and to write all the equations connected with each analysis. This course is obligatory for Sophomore B.S. Elective for Junior and Senior A.B.

COURSE III. Quantitative Analysis.

In the lectures are discussed the general methods of Quantitative Analysis and the standard methods for determining quantitatively the more common metals and anions. The laboratory work begins with the volumetric processes of acidimetry and oxidation-reduction determinations; and then takes up the gravimetric estimation of hydrochloric, sulphuric, and phosphoric acids together with iron, calcium, magnesium. Attention is also paid to the solution of typical quantitative problems. Two full afternoons each week are required as a minimum.

Text-book: Talbot, Quantitative Analysis.

Elective in Junior and Senior.

The prerequisites to this course are Courses I and II.

COURSE IV. Organic Chemistry. Three didactic and two laboratory periods a week for a full year.

The aim of this course is to acquaint the student with those fundamental facts of organic chemistry which are the necessary foundation for the understanding of the chemistry of foods, and of the chemical changes that take place in digestion and metabolism. It aims, also, to train him in the habits of thought, in the laboratory methods and in the chemical technique necessary for the fruitful prosecution of the study of Biochemistry, Physiology, Pharmacology, Pathology, etc. In the laboratory the student makes a practical study of the properties, the reactions, the methods of preparation and identification of important organic compounds. The lectures, demonstrations and recitations are co-ordinated with the laboratory work with a view of aiding the student to build in his mind a unified systematic picture of the facts and phenomena necessary to the intelligent study and practice of medicine.

This course is of obligation for Junior B.S., elective for Junior and Senior A.B.

The prerequisites to this course are Courses I and II.

COURSE V. Physiological Chemistry. Two lecture and two laboratory periods throughout the year.

This course will include a detailed discussion of the chemistry of the carbohydrates, fats, and proteins, together with a general consideration of the accessory food products. During the first semester digestion will be considered both in the class-room lectures and in the laboratory work. During the second semester the lectures will cover the more important features of metabolism, both that of the normal organism and the more important pathological conditions such as diabetes, nephritis, and other conditions of disturbed metabolism. In the laboratory, during the second semester, particular attention will be paid to the practical side of biochemistry, such as the analysis of gastric contents, blood, sputum, and urine, making use of the latest methods employed in the modern hospital and clinical laboratory.

The prerequisites are Courses I, II and IV.

RESEARCH. The Graduate Laboratory and the Private Research Laboratory are open to students who have had sufficient training in the field of chemistry to be able to undertake the investigation of chemical problems. Each research student is under the direction of some member of the department and has at his disposal the best apparatus and chemicals for the fruitful prosecution of his work.

PHYSICS

COURSE I. Four lecture periods. One semester.

The topics of the lectures are rectilinear motion, curvilinear motion, wave motion, forces with their application to simple machines, mechanics of fluids.

COURSE II. Three lecture and two laboratory periods throughout the year.

The subjects of the lectures in this course are sound, heat, light, magnetism and electricity.

The laboratory work includes the study and use of the vernier, micrometer, planimeter, spherometer, cathetometer, the resolution and composition of forces, the laws of torsion, the determination of the acceleration due to gravity, the study and use of the Chemical Balance, Jolly and Mohr-Wesphal Balance, the determination of specific heat, latent heat, expansion coefficients, mechanical equivalent of heat, velocity of sound, laws of vibrating strings, wave length of various notes, the study of lenses and optical instruments, spectrometry, photometry, wave length by means of the diffraction grating, study of direct and alternating currents, resistance of conductors, capacity of condensers, motors and generators. In the laboratory work, the student must study thoroughly the arrangement of his apparatus in order that the best possible results may be obtained. He must make a written report in which he must explain the method followed and the theory underlying the work in hand. All calculations must be shown and average deviations, fractional deviations and percentage deviations determined. Results, together with the probable sources of error, must be neatly tabulated. Graphs and diagrams are required.

This course is obligatory on all Sophomore B.S.

The prerequisites are Course I (Mechanics) ; Course IV (Mathematics).

COURSE III. Two lecture and two laboratory periods throughout the year.

The subjects of these lectures will include a briefer course in rectilinear motion, curvilinear motion, dynamics, mechanics of fluids, sound, heat, light, magnetism and electricity.

Laboratory work will in general follow the laboratory work of Course II.

The course is of obligation for Junior A.B.

MATHEMATICS

Elective

COURSE I. Algebra (Advanced). This course embraces all the higher algebraic conceptions, permutations and combinations; logarithms; determinants; complex numbers; theory of equations; undetermined coefficients; partial fractions; Horner's method of approximation, etc.

COURSE II. Analytic Geometry (Plane). Systems of Co-ordinates, loci and equations, straight line, circle, parabola, hyperbola.

COURSE III. Differential and Integral Calculus. The study and development of the three fundamental notions of the Calculus: the derivative, the anti-derivative, and the definite integral, with applications to problems in geometry, mechanics and physics.

COURSE IV. Co-ordinated Mathematics.

MODERN FOREIGN LANGUAGES

In order to follow the course in Modern Foreign Languages prescribed for Freshman Year, students must, upon entrance, have a fair reading knowledge of the languages which they choose. For this, two or three years of preparatory work are required.

FRENCH

COURSE I. Freshman year. Four hours a week, two semesters.

1. Grammar.
   Français Practique, Briscoe and Dickman.
2. Composition.
   One exercise a week.
3. Prepared Reading.
   Le Blè qui Lève, Bazin (Holt).
   A Book of French Verse. Lucas.
4. Sight-Reading.
   From the texts used in the class.

For those who have had only one entrance unit.

COURSE II. Four hourse a week, one semester.

1. Study of French Classic Writers.
   Le Cid, Corneille.
   Athalie, Racine.
2. Sight-Reading.
   Supplementing the prepared reading prescribed above.
3. Composition based on authors.

For Freshmen who have had two or three entrance units.

COURSE III. Sophomore year. Three hours a week, one semester.

1. Prepared Reading.
   Short stories and extracts from XIXth Century Writers. Claretie, Daudet, Halévy, Sardou, Bazin, Coppée, de Maupassant, etc.
   Text: Contes Divers, Harvitt.
2. Sight-Reading.
   Supplementing the prepared reading prescribed above.
3. Composition based on authors.

COURSE IV. Elective.

French Philology and Morphology. History and psychology of the French language. Conversational idioms, origin of words, homonyms, synonyms and etymology.

Text: Langue Française (Cours Moyle) (Poussielgue) (Paris).

COURSE V. Elective.

French Composition and Philology. Exercises of Comparison, accumulation, parallels, transposition of words, hyperboles, allusions, substitution of words in composition, etc.

Text: Laugue Française (Cours Superieur) (Poussielgue) (Paris).

COURSE VI. Elective.

Technical and scientific French. A course intended for those whose requirements in medical studies include a reading knowledge of scientific papers.

The text will be chosen from current editions of medical and scientific papers from France.

GERMAN

COURSE I. Freshman year. Four hours a week, one semester. Sophomore year. Three hours a week, one semester.

Reading in German Literature. In Freshman year, stress is laid in the free use of language, oral and written composition from classics. Each student will have special work assigned and is required to give a good synopsis in German. In Sophomore year, a brief survey in German Literature will be given.

COURSE II. Elective. History of German Literature.

(1) From the early period to the Reformation. (2) From the Reformation to modern times.

COURSE III. Elective. Scientific German.

Reading and translation of scientific articles. Special attention is given to Chemical German.

SPANISH

COURSE I. Freshman year. Four hours a week, two semesters.

1. Grammar: De Vitis.
2. Composition.
   One composition a week.
3. Prepared Reading.
   Gil Blas de Santillano, Le Sage.
   El Pajaro Verde.
4. Sight-Reading.
   From the texts used in the class.

For those who have had only one entrance unit.

COURSE II. Four hours a week, one semester.

1. Practical exercises in introductory Spanish prose composition; thorough study of:
   Spanish idioms and idiomatic expressions.
   Spanish dictations carefully planned.
2. Sight-Reading:
   Text: La Independia; Breton de los Herreros.
3. Composition based on author.

COURSE III. Sophomore year. Three hours a week, one semester.

1. Prepared Reading.
   Short stories and novels from Spanish and Latin-American Writers. Texts: Cuentos Hispano-Americanos. Spanish Prose Composition, Umphrey, La Guardia.
2. Composition based on original subjects given by Professor.

COURSE IV. Junior year (Elective).
History of Spanish Literature.

1. The writers of the Golden Age, de la Barca, Lope de Vega, Tirso de Molina, José Olmedo.
2. Sight-Reading. Supplementing the prepared reading of the above named writers.
3. Composition based on writers.

COURSE V. Senior (Elective).
Commercial and Journalistic Spanish.

1. Study of special vocabularies of South-American countries, including commercial terminology.
2. Technical expressions used in the various industries of Spanish-speaking countries, e.g., petroleum, rubber, agriculture, etc.
3. Composition based upon themes of correspondence in Spanish.
4. Text-book: Spanish Commercial Correspondence.

College Organizations

THE FORDHAM UNIVERSITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The object of this association is to strengthen and perpetuate friendships formed at the College and to promote the interests of Alma Mater.

All graduates, as well as students, who have passed at least one year in the College course and have left the College in good standing are eligible to active membership.

The following are the officers of the association for the year 1924-1925:

President—Dr. William E. Howley, '88; First Vice-Pres.—Hon. Carroll Hayes, Law, '11; Second Vice-Pres.—Thomas F. Connolly, '07; Third Vice-Pres.—Dr. James F. Kiernan, Med., '16; Fourth Vice-Pres.—Rev. Emmet F. Rogers, '03; Treasurer—Henry J. Amy, '16; Corresponding Secretary—George Langley, '17; Recording Secretary—William J. McNulty, '23; Historian—George S. Kelly, '12.

THE PARTHENIAN SODALITY

This Sodality is composed of resident College students, under the invocation of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the patronage of St. Aloysius.

Spiritual Director.—Rev. Francis D. O'Loughlin, S.J.

Officers.—Vincent J. McPeak, '25, Prefect; Joseph P. Dunn, '25, First Assistant; Joseph J. Carroll, '25, Second Assistant.

SODALITY OF THE IMMACULATE CONCEPTION

(Day Students' Sodality)

The Sodality, Senior Division, is composed of day students of the three highest College classes and is under the patronage of St. John Berchmans.

Spiritual Director.—Rev. John J. O'Connor, S.J.

Officers.—Francis A. Walsh, '25, Prefect; Edmund C. Burke, '25, First Assistant Prefect; William Rogan, '25, Second Assistant Prefect; Edward B. Lyman, '25, Sacristan; James Breslin, '27, Organist; Edward Hogan, '25, Consultor—Senior; Francis Coxen, '26, Consultor—Junior A; Arthur Taylor, '26, Consultor—Junior B; J. Gerard Tobin, '26, Consultor—Junior C; Francis Fullam, '27, Consultor—Sophomore A; Joseph Sherlock, '27, Consultor—Sophomore B; Francis Ruddy, '27, Consultor—Sophomore C; M. Francis Demski, '27, Consultor—Sophomore B.S.

Freshman Division is composed of day students from the freshman classes.

Spiritual Director.—Rev. Ignatius W. Cox, S.J.

Officers.—Victor J. Lugowski, Prefect; Francis M. Cox, Jr., Assistant Prefect; Edward J. Komora, Secretary and Treasurer.

APOSTLESHIP OF PRAYER AND LEAGUE OF THE SACRED HEART

Devotions in honor of the Sacred Heart are held in the Students' Chapel on the first Friday of every month.

Spiritual Director.—Rev. George F. Strohaver, S.J.

Promoters

Senior.—Vincent J. McPeak, Daniel J. Barrett, Edmund C. Burke, Edward J. Hogan, Joseph F. Howe, William E. Howley, James L. Duncanson, Hugh J. Grant, Thomas J. Malone, Ralph E. O'Connell, Edward B. Lyman.

Junior.—Arthur J. Daley, Edward J. Grainger, John E. Quinn, Thomas P. Dooney, George J. Kearns, Charles P. Murray, Joseph C. Porcelli, John G. Tobin, Richard J. Foy, Allen J. Cannan, James P. McGrattan, Louis D. Ricciuti, Frederick E. Polizzi, Emil L. Santangelo.

SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, FORDHAM UNIVERSITY CONFERENCE

The object of this conference is to promote among its members progress in manly virtue and in character by prayer, by the teaching of catechism and by works of charity.

Spiritual Director.—Rev. Terence J. Boyle, S.J.

Officers.—Walter Slattery, '25, President; Vincent McPeak, '25, Treasurer; Richard Marian, '28, Secretary.

The special object of this society is to visit and help poor families. No work of charity is foreign to it. Its members take advantage of the opportunities that present themselves to console the sick and prisoners, to instruct and relieve the poor, and to procure the helps and consolations of religion for those who need them, particularly at the hour of death.

Every Sunday morning and on other suitable occasions the members of the Fordham University Council visit the sick in nearby hospitals and instruct the young prisoners at the House of Refuge, Randall's Island, in Christian Doctrine and their religious duties.

Frequently during the year they bring financial assistance, not only to the poor themselves, but also to the devoted Sisters in our religious communities who have charge of the poor.

THE HARVESTER CLUB

The object of this club is to further the work of the Catholic Students' Foreign Mission League according to the general directions of the Diocesan Director of the League and to keep alive among Fordham students interest in the American Jesuit Missions in Jamaica and the Philippine Islands. The membership is voluntary, but restricted to a quota from each of the under-graduate classes. Individual names for membership are voted upon and a two-thirds majority is required for election. The Harvester Club is the one organization of the University which participates in the diocesan movement among Catholic college students of both sexes for the advancement of interest in the Foreign Missions. Its members have visited parochial schools to instruct the children about the Missions and in the University itself the Harvesters strive to maintain interest in former Jesuit professors or Fordham students who at present may be in the Mission fields.

Faculty Moderator.—Rev. Edward P. Duffy, S.J.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY COUNCIL OF DEBATE

This society was organized in 1854. Its object is to accustom its members to speak with ease and fluency in public. Meetings are held weekly after class hours. The exercises consist of debates, formal and extemporaneous, on subjects of political or economic interest. Membership is confined to a limited number of students from the three upper classes of the College. The officers are elected annually.

Faculty Moderator.—Rev. James A. Taaffe, S.J.

Officers.—Edward J. Hogan, Jr., '25, President; Edmund C. Burke, '25, Vice-President; J. Gerard Tobin, '26, Secretary; Vincent P. Uihlein, '25, Treasurer; Thomas K. Flynn, '25, Censor; Thomas P. Dooney, '26, Historian.

FRESHMAN FORUM

The Freshman Forum was organized in 1924 to train the Freshman debaters in the methods of collegiate debating, and thus prepare them for the Council of Debate.

Faculty Moderator.—Mr. Francis V. Sullivan, S.J.

Officers.—First Term—Edward F. Bowes, President; Joseph V. Gallagher, Vice-President; George B. Fargis, Treasurer; Victor J. Lugowski, Secretary.

Second Term—Victor J. Lugowski, President; John V. Higgins, Vice-President; John J. Mackin, Treasurer; Edward F. Bowes, Secretary.

THE FORDHAM MONTHLY.

The Monthly was first published in November, 1882. It is edited by students of the University and is the official organ of the student and alumni bodies. The subscription is two dollars per year, in advance. Remittances, literary contributions and letters should be addressed:

The Fordham Monthly,
Fordham University,
Fordham, N. Y.

Faculty Moderator.—Rev. Augustus M. Fremgen, S.J.

Editor-in-Chief.—Francis A. Walsh, '25.

Assistant Editor-in-Chief.—James H. McCabe, '26.

Edmund C. Burke, '25; James J. Sheridan, '25; Richard J. Foy, '26; Roland W. Miller, '26; Robert N. Rose, '26; Clifford J. McGuinness, '28, Associate Editors; John A. McGann, '27, Opinions on Books; J. Russell Sherlock, '27, Exchanges; Thomas A. Reilly, '25, Alumni Notes; C. Gordon Lamude, '25, Business Manager; W. THE FORDHAM RAM

This is the weekly University newspaper and its purpose is to keep the students informed of all the timely, appealing and significant events occurring in the University's various schools. This brings the interests of the University before all its students and creates school spirit. It enables the metropolitan dailies, too, to get a comprehensive view of events of "news" value.

From the standpoint of the students, the Ram is a medium of clear, concise and arresting expression. Those who write in it are compelled to observe and discriminate between real and alleged facts and to cultivate a balance of judgment in commenting on them. They must be reliable in fulfilling their assignments and prompt, persevering and unfailing in their attention to details. The business conduct of the paper develops an executive ability in those who are entrusted with this responsibility.

The principal members of the staff are:

Faculty Moderator.—Mr. Edward B. Bunn, S.J.

Edward B. Lyman, '25, Editor-in-Chief; Arthur J. Taylor, '26, Managing Editor; Joseph P. Dunn, '25, Business Manager; William P. Boyd, '27, Assistant Business Manager.

THE MENDEL CLUB

The Mendel Club was formed on March 23, 1921, under the direction of Reverend G. A. Caballero, S.J., for men interested in the furtherance of biological research.

Lectures pertaining to the more important points in the study of biology are delivered before the members at the weekly meetings of the club.

The library and laboratory of the Biology Department are open at all times for the convenience of the members to carry on their special branches of work.

At the conclusion of the school year a bulletin is published, in which is contained the reports of the special branches of work.

Faculty Moderator.—Rev. Joseph Assmuth, S.J., Ph.D.

Officers.—Rev. William Duane, S.J., Honorary President; Rev. Michael Jessup, S.J., Honorary Vice-President; Rev. Joseph Assmuth, S.J., Director; Mark T. Crowley, Vice-Director; Angelo Sellaro, B.S., '27, President; Joseph T. Boyle, B.S., '27, Vice-President; James F. Brown, B.S., '27, Secretary; Michael Agolia, B.S., '27, Treasurer.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION

"The Mimes and Mummers"

This is the dramatic organization of the College. Four kinds of activity make up the scope of its work—playwriting, acting, directing and stage designing.

A play of some pretension is produced during the year in which grace of speech and movement, and intelligent and dramatic interpretation especially of the more subtle characters of the great masters are displayed before the public. This production, as a specimen of finished acting and stage designing, aims to rival professional performances.

Original writing is encouraged and promoted by the one-act play contests. Not only is the writing done by the students, but the directing and stage designing as well. A sense of responsibility and a versatility with every phase of theatrical work are developed as a consequence.

Faculty Moderator.—Mr. Edward B. Bunn, S.J.

Officers.—Godfrey Schmidt, '25, President; Robert Peters, '26, Vice-President; Joseph Fechteler, '27, Secretary; Robert Rose, '26, Treasurer; Edward Lyman, '25; James McCabe, '26, Board of Directors.

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The object of this Association is to promote the athletic interests of the University, and to discuss and determine matters of management pertaining to the welfare of collegiate and intercollegiate sports.

Faculty Director.—Rev. Charles J. Deane, S.J.

Officers.—J. Frank Gargan, '11, Graduate Manager; Paul Collins, '25, President; Harold Leddy, '25, Vice-President; Frank Walsh, '25, Secretary; Rev. Joseph F. Keating, S.J., Treasurer; Raymond D. O'Connell, '16; John J. Sullivan, '14; Edward J. Walsh, '12, Members of Alumni Committee.

Football.— C. Gordon Lamude, '25, Manager.
Charles P. Murray, Jr., '26, Asst. Manager.

Basketball.—Daniel J. McMahon, '25, Manager.
Charles L. Hannelley, '26, Asst. Manager.

Thomas O'Brien, '26, Asst. Manager.

THE FORDHAM UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB

Organized 1923

The purpose of the Glee Club is to instil and promote among its members a love and appreciation of the truly beautiful in music, through the medium of choral singing.

Its membership consists of not more than one hundred students of Fordham University. College Freshman are excluded from membership, but those members of the Freshman class who desire to join the Glee Club must make known their intention before January of their Freshman year, so that they receive six months training before entering the organization.

The officers consist of a Board of Directors, nine in number, seven undergraduates, the Conductor and the Moderator.

Faculty Moderator.—Rev. James T. G. Hayes, S.J.

Conductor.—W. Kenneth Bailey.

Board of Directors.—Joseph P. Dunn, '25, Chairman; The Rev. James T. G. Hayes, S.J.; W. Kenneth Bailey; J. Austin Murphy, '25; Gabriel M. Liegey, '26; Charles P. Murray, Jr., '26; Roland P. Miller, '26; Charles J. Doyle, '26; Everett D. McCooey, '27.

Fordham University

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

St. John's College, Fordham, New York, was formally opened on June 24, 1841. On April 10, 1846, the Act of Incorporation was passed by the New York Legislature, raising St. John's College to the rank of a University, with the power "to confer such literary honors, degrees or diplomas, as are usually granted by any University, College or Seminary of Learning in the United States."

On June 21, 1904, the Board of Trustees authorized the opening of a School of Law and a School of Medicine. The first courses were begun in the University departments in September, 1905.

The following Act was passed by the Regents:

UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER OF ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, FORDHAM

Having received a petition made in conformity to law, and being satisfied that public interests will be promoted by such action, the Regents, by virtue of the authority conferred on them, hereby amend the charter of St. John's College, Fordham, by changing its corporate name to

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

And giving to its Medical department the name of Fordham University, School of Medicine; to its Law department the name of Fordham University, School of Law; and to its Collegiate department the name of Fordham University, St. John's College.

In witness whereof, the Regents grant this amendment to charter No. 1808, under the seal of the University, at the capitol in Albany, March 1, 1907.

ST. CLAIR MCKELWAY,
Vice-Chancellor.

A. S. DRAPER,
Commissioner of Education.

Recorded and took effect 2.30 P. M., March 7, 1907.

In 1911 the College of Pharmacy was organized and received full registration by the Regents of the University of the State of New York in 1912.

The University includes the following departments:
The School of Law,
The College of Arts and Sciences,
The College of Pharmacy,
The Graduate School and Department of Education,
The School of Sociology and Social Service,
The School of Accountancy and Business Law.

GENERAL STATEMENT

The fourteenth annual session of the College of Pharmacy will open on Monday, September 14, 1925.

From the very beginning it has been our aim to establish and maintain a College of Pharmacy in which individual instruction could be carried on.

With the exception of the teachers in some of the science branches, every member of our Faculty in the College of Pharmacy has had a thorough practical training of many years' standing behind the counters of retail pharmacies. This enables them to blend the purely theoretical with the practical in such a way as to arouse the interest and hold the attention of the student.

This college is registered by the New York State Education Department. Its graduates are eligible to examination by the New York State and by most other boards of pharmacy if they have fulfilled the requirements regarding age, apprenticeship and preliminary education.

DEGREES

Four degrees are granted in Pharmacy: Graduate in Pharmacy (Ph.G.); Pharmaceutical Chemist (Ph.C.); Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy (B.S. in Phar.); and Doctor of Pharmacy (Phar.D.).

These degrees are conferred by the University in conjunction with other departments of the University.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION

The instruction of each class occupies three days in the week in the Ph.G. course, the alternate days being devoted to practical experience in Pharmacy. The students are thus enabled to meet the requirements for a license from the Board of Pharmacy, and are also afforded an opportunity to earn enough to maintain themselves during their course at the College. Instruction in the University course occupies five days in the week. The following is the schedule of classes during the present year:

The Course Leading to the Degree of Graduate in Pharmacy

This course includes two academic years of not less than 32 weeks each. The school year begins on the 3d Monday in September and ends about the middle of June.

For admission to this course, according to the rules of the Regents of the University of the State of New York, the student must be at least 17 years of age, and must present:

a) Qualifying Certificate for a Pharmacy student, issued to him by the New York State Education Department. This certificate must be filed at the time of registration. Those who have successfully completed not less than four years' study at a high school recognized by the State Education Department can secure this Certificate by sending their credentials to the Chief of Examination Division, Education Department, Albany, N. Y., on a form provided for that purpose. This form may be obtained at the College of Pharmacy, Fordham University. The Education Department requires that $1.00 be sent with the application for a Pharmacy Student's Certificate.

The official evidence of the completion of the preliminary requirement is called the pharmacy student certificate which may be secured upon evidence of the successful completion of not less than four years' work in an approved New York State secondary school or the equivalent. Forms will be furnished applicants by the University. The equivalents are (1) 72 counts in Regents examinations, at a minimum standing of 75 per cent.; (2) an academic diploma on Regents examinations in the schools; (3) evidence of the successful completion of a year's work in an approved college; (4) evidence of the successful completion of work in another state or in a foreign country, equivalent to the completion of a four year course in an approved New York State secondary school; (5) evidence from a professional school of the completion of work recognized as the equivalent of four or more years of work in an approved secondary school. Under this head allowance is made for graduation from registered schools of theology, law, medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine.

Special examination in English. All applicants for a pharmacy student certificate upon credentials from foreign countries other than those in which English is the language of the people, all or any part of which are earned or issued in said foreign countries, must pass a special examination in English. No counts are granted in the special English examination.

Completion of the preliminary requirement. a) The pharmacy student certificate or its equivalent must be filed with the executive officer of the pharmacy school at the time of registration.

The students may select any of the subjects in the following table to complete their 72 academic counts:

The Following Tables Apply to Examinations Beginning with the June, 1919, Examination

Passing Mark.—The passing mark in these examinations is 75 per cent.

b) Apprentice Certificate as granted by the Regents of the State of New York.

c) Certificate of good moral character.

d) Candidate must be a citizen of the United States, or at least have declared his intention to become a citizen of the U. S. (first papers).

ATTENDANCE

Students are required to be in attendance at the beginning of the course, in order to obtain full benefit from the lectures and laboratory work. No student will be admitted later than two weeks after the beginning of the first term. Every student must attend not less than ninety per cent. of the hours of instruction throughout the year. Failure to comply with this condition will deprive the student of the privilege of presenting himself for examinations.

Graduate in Pharmacy Course (Ph. G.)

FIRST YEAR

Materia Medica, including General Facts and Principles, Physiology, Botany, Microscopy, Pharmacognosy, Toxicology and Posology.

Physics and Chemistry, including Inorganic, Pharmaceutical, Qualitative and Manufacturing.

Pharmacy, including Manufacturing and Dispensing Pharmacy, Pharmaceutical Arithmetic.

SECOND YEAR

Materia Medica, including The Materia Medica of the U. S. P. and N. F., Toxicology and Posology, Histology, Pharmacognosy (Pharmaceutical and Commercial) and Pharmaco-Dynamics.

Chemistry, including Organic, Pharmaceutical, Qualitative, Quantitative, Manufacturing and Drug Assaying.

Pharmacy, including Practice of Pharmacy, Commercial, Manufacturing and Dispensing Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Jurisprudence and Latin.

DETAILS OF INSTRUCTION FOR THE DEGREE OF PH. G.

PHYSICS

REV. FRANCIS D. O'LOUGHLIN, S.J., Ph.D.....Professor
REV. WILLIAM G. LOGUE, S. J., Ph. D.....Professor
JOHN S. O'CONNOR, S.J.....Assistant Professor
JOHN H. VEGESSY.....Instructor
WILLIAM P. HURLEY, B.S.....Instructor

The mechanics of liquids and gases—sound, heat, light and electricity—are treated in lectures and laboratory exercises.

GENERAL CHEMISTRY

Gustave Horstman, Ph.G., Ph.D.....Professor
James B. Hance, Ph.G.....Instructor
Henry H. Schumann, Ph.G.....Instructor

General Chemistry.—The course includes a study of chemical phenomena and the laws of chemical action. Crystallography. Consideration of the elements based on Mendelejeff's classification. The non-metals—oxygen, nitrogen and the argon group, carbon and its oxids, the halogens, sulphur, phosphorus. Metals of the alkalis and the alkaline earths, the arsenic group, copper group, iron group, gold group and earth metals.

Special stress is laid upon the study of the compounds of pharmaceutical interest.

The practical work consists of a carefully chosen set of experiments illustrating fundamental laws of general chemistry and includes the study and preparation of a series of chemical substances.

Analytical Chemistry.—In the second half of the junior year the study of analytical chemistry is commenced. Preliminary training is given in the use and care of reagents, apparatus, analytical balance and the spectroscope; the study of solutions containing metals, acids, bases and salts; inorganic substances in the solid form; pharmaceutical testing, preparation of reagents and test solutions, indicators for acidimetry, alkalimetry, volumetric solutions, etc. The detection of impurities in official inorganic chemical preparations.

Laboratory work includes individual conference with the instructor in the laboratory. The student is required to analyze a certain number of unknown solutions and powders.

Toxicological Chemistry.—A course of about eight lectures and twenty hours' laboratory practice is devoted to toxicology. Tests for the common poisons. The study of the chemical antidotes. Methods for chemically detecting inorganic poisons in foods and stomach contents.

PHARMACEUTICAL AND ORGANIC CHEMISTRY

The course consists of lectures and laboratory exercises with special reference to Pharmaceutical Chemicals. In the junior year the Inorganic Chemicals of the U. S. P. are dealt with in lectures and quizzes, and examined for identity and purity in the laboratory. The Pharmaceutical preparations involving chemical reactions are made and examined for identity, strength and purity. In the senior year the drugs of organic origin are treated similarly and special emphasis laid on the identification of alkaloids by chemical tests and their isolation from crude drugs.

Organic Chemistry.—The course embraces the study, theoretical and by laboratory exercises, of:

Organic Analysis; Molecular and Structural Formulæ; Isomerism; Hydrocarbons; Organic Synthesis; Molecular Symmetry and Asymmetry; Saturation and Addition; Organic Radicles and Characteristic Radicle Groups; Halogen Derivatives; Alcohols; Hydroxyl Derivatives; Aldehydes; Ketones; Acids; Acid Anhydrides; Sulphur Derivatives; Metallic Derivatives; Ethers; Esters; Fats; Amines; Amino Acids; Hydrazines; Animal and Vegetable Alkaloids; Theory of the Benzene Derivatives and their Special Isomerism; Side Chains; Halogen, Amido, Azo, Diazo, Phenol and Sulphonic Derivatives; Terpenes; Camphors; Condensed Nuclei; and Pyrrol, Indol, Pyridins and Quinoline and their Derivatives.

MATERIA MEDICA

OTTO P. M-CANIS, Ph.G... .....Professor of Materia Medica
OTTO F. A. CANIS, Ph.G.....Assistant Professor of Pharmacognosy
ALBERT R. CAVA, Ph.G.....Instructor
ALBERT PERSONENI, Ph.G., Ph.C.....Instructor

This course extends over both junior and senior years, and consists of lectures, recitations and practical demonstrations of drugs and their medicinal uses, preparing the student in a practical and theoretical way for the successful practice of pharmacy. It includes both inorganic and organic materia medica, the separate topics being considered according to the pharmacopœial titles, definitions, habitat, range, collection, constitutents, therapeutic action, uses, preparations, doses and toxicological treatment.

Throughout the junior year the sessions are devoted to the study of classification of medicines, posology, toxicology and the inorganic salts. Medicines are systematically classified according to the therapeutic action, care being taken to point out their practical application in the treatment of disease, our aim being to secure that which will be of greatest benefit to the pharmacist in his every-day practice and in a theoretical way bring his ideas of therapeutics to a higher plane.

In the senior year the sessions, consisting of lectures, recitations and practical demonstrations, are devoted to the study of organic drugs, of vegetable and animal origin.

As proper drug classification greatly facilitates intelligent study, therefore drugs in common use receive the greatest attention, and all others are studied in proportion to their importance in practice.

Besides considering the drug from a pharmaceutical and botanical viewpoint, considerable stress is placed upon its practical application in the treatment of disease. While pharmacists are not students of medicine, it is well for them to be informed as to the therapeutic value of everything dispensed, and it is for this reason that much time is spent on the study of Therapeutics. Some time is also devoted to practical instruction in the recognition of Pharmaceutical preparations by physical means.

There are frequent examinations during the term, so that it may be made evident if there are any points the student has failed to grasp. The personal supervision of the instructor is given to render such aid as may be necessary to have the student achieve success in such an abstruse subject as Materia Medica.

BOTANY AND PHARMACOGNOSY

A thorough course in fundamental Botany, including instruction in the use of the microscope, is given to the students of the junior year. This is followed in the second year by a study of the botanical drugs used in Pharmacy. Sections, gross and microscopic, are supplied to the students and special stress is laid upon methods of identification and discovery of adulteration of vegetable drugs.

PHYSIOLOGY

An attempt is made in this department to avoid the fallacy of usual elementary courses in physiology. These ordinarily deal more with the subject matter of histology and gross anatomy, while here and there appears a very simple physiological fact. It is a matter of experience that a few mammalian demonstrations will impart the requisite anatomical knowledge and really place the student of pharmacy in a position to grasp and correlate most of the fundamentals of physiology. To this end, the course consists of demonstrations, lectures and recitations. The first few laboratory sessions are concerned with demonstration of the anatomical inter-relations of the body, particularly the viscera, and then all subsequent sessions are employed in demonstrating the cardinal principles of circulation, respiration, digestion, excretion and central nervous system. Explanatory lectures accompany the laboratory exercises and the subject matter of each demonstration is always reviewed by recitation.

TOXICOLOGY

Includes a thorough theoretical course, with practical demonstrations upon animals, and prepares the student for all emergencies which may arise in cases of poisoning, in the selection of antidotes at short notice, how to administer the same by the stomach tube, and siphoning the stomach contents. Attention is given to intelligent application of restoratives in the case of collapse. This course covers treatment of poisoning cases in any stage, and prepares the student in a practical way to administer first aid with safety, and prepares him to act efficiently when called upon in urgent cases.

POSOLOGY

A knowledge of Posology is one of the indispensable requirements of the pharmacist. Time is well spent in enlightening the student on the dangers of toxic doses, and while this study is greatly a matter of memory, the simplified grouping adopted in our course of instruction makes it easy to retain all the details.

PHARMACY

JACOB DINER, Ph.G., M.D.....Professor of Pharmacy
HIERONYMUS HEROLD, Ph.G., LL.B.,
Professor of Pharmaceutical Jurisprudence
PETER DIAMOND, Ph.G.....Professor of Commercial Pharmacy
OTTO F. A. CANIS, Ph.G.....Assistant Professor of Pharmacy
JOHN DANDREAU, Ph.G.....Instructor
EDWARD R. MALONEY, Ph.G.....Instructor

Instruction in pharmacy is given by means of lectures, recitations, laboratory exercises and written and oral quizzes. The course begins with the definition of pharmacy, outlining the history of the art and science of pharmacy, the history of the pharmacopœia, reviewing the latest editions of the foreign and the United States Pharmacopœias and the National Formulary. The subject of Metrology is exhaustively treated, beginning with the demonstration of weight. The various weights and balances are thoroughly considered and discussed. The history of the derivation of the standards of weights and measures, with the conversion from one system into the other, is treated. Specific gravity is demonstrated, and the student performs the various operations of determination.

Heat.—Under this heading are considered, the sources of heat, the apparatus for conveying heat, heating by conduction, convection, radiation; steam and the various baths, also the general use of heat in pharmacy and the combustion of liquids, solids and gases. The construction of various thermometers with exercises in the conversion of one scale into the others.

The processes of evaporation, spontaneous and in vacuo; ebullition; boiling point and melting points of substances by laboratory work; pharmaceutical processes, such as sublimation, calcination, granulation, dehydration, torrefaction, reduction, oxidation, carbonization, deflagration, ignition, etc., are taken up theoretically and by laboratory exercises.

After lectures on the collection, drying, curing, garbling, etc., of drugs, the various processes of comminution are considered. This is followed by exercises in the processes of solution, chemical, pharmaceutical, simple, complex, saturated, super-saturated, circulatory displacement, etc.

Dialysis.—Construction of dialiser, osmosis, endosmosis, exosmosis, crystaloids and colloids.

Maceration.—Expression, digestion, simple and with inverted condensers, infusion and decoction.

Percolation.—Theory, methods, exhaustion, repercolation, continuous percolation, etc.

Filtration.—Methods, media, filtration of various fluids, rapid filtration, filtration in vacuo, hot filtration, etc.

Colation and Decantation.—The use of the syphon and the use of guiding rods.

Distillation.—Simple, fractional, destructive; kinds of apparatus and methods.

Sublimation.—Methods and apparatus.

Applied Pharmacy.—The student makes the preparations, both pharmacal and galenical, in strict accordance with the U. S. P. and N. F. The list includes aquæ, emulsa, glycerita, infusa, decocta, liquores, linimenta, lotiones, misturae, mucilagines, magmae, cataplasmata, oleata, oleoresina, pillulae, pulveres, syrupi, spiritus, tincturae, fluid-extracta, unguenta, trochisci, suppostoria; also ample practice in the purification of salts by crystallization and granulation. Dispensing special preparations is practiced by the student, i. e., the preparation of aseptic hermetically-sealed solutions intended for subcutaneous injection, soft filled capsules, cachets, bougies, ampules, etc. In the course in Assaying the student is taught the official assay processes, including the examination of crude drugs, extracts, fluid extracts, spirits, solutions, oils, ointments, etc., for their alkaloidal content and other constituents. These constituents are assayed by both the gravimetric and the volumetric methods, and physiological testing is taught by lectures and laboratory experiments.

Thorough consideration is given to the identification and determination of purity of pharmacal and chemical substances. Thus the student is offered ample opportunity to acquire valuable information for the successful practice of pharmacy.

Pharmaceutical Latin.—This course is designed to present, in as brief a manner as is consistent with thoroughness, those principles of Latin etymology and construction which are essential to an intelligent understanding and use of the terminology of Pharmacy. The Nomenclature of the U. S. Pharmacopœia and the National Formulary are especially considered. Abbreviations, as used by physicians in prescription writing, receive due consideration.

Dispensing Pharmacy.—This important branch of the Practice of Pharmacy is conducted according to the best modern methods. After the student has acquired ample knowledge in theoretical and practical pharmacy, he is taught how to prepare prescriptions, beginning with the simplest mixtures and solutions and progressing to complex forms requiring special skill. There is also a thorough discussion on all phases of prescription incompatibility, with criticism and corrections, as well as formula construction.

Magistral and Commercial Pharmacy.—The student is taught store management and methods of conducting a pharmacy along the most approved lines. Store equipment, i. e., fixtures, shelfware, prescription department, laboratory and its arrangement, buying and selling of goods, ethics, advertising, side-lines and numerous details, the proper observance of which is the difference between successful and unsuccessful conduct of a pharmacy.

Emphasis is also laid on:

Bookkeeping.—Asset; liability; debit; credit.

Banking.—Commercial banks, savings bank, deposits, withdrawals; loans; presentments.

Insurance.—Nature of the contract; insurable interest; the contract; property covered by policy; written portion of policy; kinds of policies; warranty, representation and concealment; premium; special provisions; surrender; subrogation; powers of general agent; limitation upon agent's authority contained in policy; waiver by agent.

Commercial paper, etc.—Definition; surety contract; joint makers; statute of frauds; essentials; non-essentials; negotiability.

Acceptance.—Effect of acceptance; negotiability: by delivery, by indorsement; kinds of indorsement; indorsors, guarantors; sureties; liabilities distinguished; accommodation papers; effect of affixing the word "surety"; discharge of guarantors; and of sureties; illegality, fraud, duress and failure of consideration; bona fide holders; requisites; purchase before maturity; valuable consideration; usual course of business; good faith; presentment for payment; days of grace; place of presentment; manner of presentment; protest; notice of dishonor.

Checks.—Certification, negotiability.

PHARMACEUTICAL JURISPRUDENCE

Special consideration is given to the Pharmacy laws of the State.

Narcotic laws of the State and Nation.

Liquor laws, State and National, in so far as they affect the retail pharmacist.

Contracts.—Definitions, nature and requisite of contracts in general; essentials of contracts; parties; offer and acceptance—consideration; interpretation of contracts—discharge of contracts.

Agency.—Definition, principal and agent, form of authority: ratification, rights and liabilities of both parties; rights and liabilities as to third party (person).

Partnership.—Common law partnership; formation of partnership; rights and liabilities of partners; dissolution; limited partnership.

Corporation.—Formation; capital stock; rights and obligations of stock-holders; comparison of partnership and corporation.

Property.—Personalty; title to property; bailments; common carriers.

Bankruptcy.—Who may become bankrupt; rights and duties of bankrupt; rights of creditors; preferences; distribution of assets; discharge from bankruptcy.

Pharmaceutical Chemist (Ph.C.)

Candidates for this degree must have satisfactorily completed four years of high school work, or its equivalent previous to matriculation, and must obtain the degree of Ph.G.

Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy (B.S. in Phar.)

The entrance requirements to this course shall be four years of high school work, and the degree of Ph.G.

Doctor of Pharmacy (Phar.D.)

The degree of Doctor of Pharmacy (Phar.D.) will be conferred only on the satisfactory completion of two years' work after that required for the degree of B.S. in Phar.

Special Course in Clinical Diagnosis for Laboratory Assistants

Courses begin Monday, July 6, 1925, at 9.00 a. m.

Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9.00 a. m. to 12.00 m.

FEES (Payable in advance):

Registration	$ 5.00
Tuition	60.00
Breakage deposit (returnable)	10.00

Registration Office open daily except Saturday and Sunday from 9.00 a. m. to 4.00 p. m.

CERTIFICATE:

A certificate of proficiency is awarded to the students who complete the work of the course in a satisfactory manner.

Other special courses will be given if a sufficient number of applicants appear.

LOCATION OF THE COLLEGE

The College of Pharmacy is on the University grounds. Entrance on Bathgate Avenue and Fordham Road. The transit facilities to the University are numerous. The Harlem Railroad has a station at Fordham, as also has the subway by connection with the Third Avenue Elevated Railroad at 149th Street. There are moreover, several trolley lines passing within a few yards of the entrance to the University on Fordham Road.

BOTANICAL GARDEN

The New York Botanical Gardens, immediately adjoining the grounds of Fordham University, give the best facilities in the State for extensive study of plant life.

FEES

Course leading to the degree, Graduate in Pharmacy.

Junior Year		Senior Year
Registration	$ 5.00	Lecture Ticket	$185.00
Lecture Ticket	190.00	Student Activities Fee	10.00
Laboratory Fee	5.00	Graduation Fee	15.00
Student Activities Fee	10.00	Breakage Deposit	10.00
Breakage Deposit	10.00		$220.00
	$220.00

The graduation fee of fifteen dollars must be paid before June 1, 1926.

Students failing to attain the required percentage in the examinations in not more than one major and two minor subjects, may be permitted by the Committee on Examinations to take one re-examination in these subjects. The fee for re-examination in each subject is five dollars.

From the breakage deposit will be deducted pro rata cost of unnecessary damage or loss in the building, equipment, library and on the premises in general, which cannot be collected from individuals responsible for it. The amount remaining will be refunded at the end of the year when the keys and other college property have been returned in good condition.

PAYMENT OF FEES

The registration fee must be paid at the time of registration and is not returnable.

The session fee may be paid as follows: the student electing which plan he will accept and signing a contract therefor:

At least one-half of the fee must be paid within two weeks after a candidate has been accepted, and in the case of candidates accepted after September 1, fees must be paid at the time of the registration. The balance may be paid as follows:

A. In full on or before September 15, 1925.

B. Pay one-half of the fee on or before September 15, 1925, and half on or before January 1, 1926, in this case $3 will be added to the first payment.

A student who fails to meet any payment will be liable to be debarred from attendance.

None of the fees are returnable except at the discretion of the Treasurer of the University, and no rebate will be made until all of the property in the student's possession belonging to the College has been returned in good order.

EMPLOYMENT BUREAU

It is desirable that the students in the College of Pharmacy should be occupied in practical pharmaceutical work during the days when they have no sessions in the College. With that end in view, we have established an employment bureau to secure for our Pharmacy students positions in retail pharmacies. The Counties of the Bronx and Westchester offer ample opportunities for this purpose, and we have also been able in the past few years to place many of our students in desirable positions in pharmacies in New York County (Borough of Manhattan), and in Kings County (Borough of Brooklyn). In this connection we want to assure prospective employers that their applications for assistants will receive prompt and very careful attention.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Alumni Association of Fordham University College of Pharmacy was organized May 15, 1915, for the purpose of advancing and encouraging scientific study in the various allied branches of Pharmacy among its members.

Meetings of Alumni Association

Meetings are held at stated intervals.

The Alumni Association co-operates with the Employment Bureau of the College, and is very active in procuring positions for worthy students. A bureau of general pharmaceutical information is maintained for the members.

For information relative to the Alumni Association, address either the Secretary or the Registrar.

CLASS ORGANIZATIONS

Each class is organized into a "Class Organization," to which all the students of that class are eligible. At the weekly meetings papers are read and discussed by the students and guests. This feature is encouraged by the Faculty who assist in directing the discussions and help in conducting the meetings on parliamentary lines. This is intended to broaden the student's training and to foster a fraternal, co-operative spirit among the students and to awaken his interest in pharmaceutical associations to which Pharmacy owes a debt which it never can amply repay.

ATHLETICS

The Fordham University Athletic Association provides for the following sports and pastimes: base-ball, foot-ball, running, basket-ball, tennis, hand-ball and rowing. The students in the College of Pharmacy, with the students of the other departments of the University, are eligible to membership in this Association.

INFORMATION

For information by mail, apply to the Secretary of the Fordham University College of Pharmacy, Fordham, New York.

We call the attention of students to the advantage of matriculating a few days in advance of the opening exercises, in order that they may have ample time in which to secure boarding-places and to purchase books. They will thus avoid any interruption in their studies at the beginning of the term. No student will be accepted for matriculation later than two weeks after the date of the opening exercises.

The Faculty of the College of Pharmacy reserves the right to terminate the connection of any student with the institution at any time on the ground of mental or moral unfitness for the pharmaceutical profession, or improper conduct while connected with the school.

BOARD

Information may be obtained from the Registrar in regard to boarding houses that can be recommended by the University.

REGISTRATION AND MATRICULATION

Students on entering must register and pay a fee of $5, which is not returnable.

PRIZES

Bronx County Pharmaceutical Association Prize

The Bronx County Pharmaceutical Association has established a prize, consisting of a gold medal, to be awarded by Dr. Diner in the name of the Association to the student in the College of Pharmacy attaining the best average in the subject of "Pharmacy" during his two years' course.

Westchester County Pharmaceutical Association Prize

The Westchester County Pharmaceutical Association has established a prize, consisting of a gold medal, to be awarded to the student obtaining the best average in the subject of "Operative Pharmacy" during his two years' course.

Dr. George Hohmann Memorial Medal

The Alumni Association of the College of Pharmacy has established a fund for the purpose of awarding a medal to commemorate the splendid work done by the late Professor George Hohmann, Ph.G., M.D.

The Lehn & Fink Prize

The firm of Lehn & Fink, Inc., offers a gold medal as a prize to be awarded at the discretion of the Faculty. This prize will be awarded to a student in the Ph. C. course showing marked ability, initiative and progress during the post-graduate course.

Alumni Prize

An "Alumni Medal" is awarded by the Alumni Association to the student having the highest average in all subjects during the two years' course.

NEW YORK STATE PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION PRIZE

The New York State Pharmaceutical Association offers a membership in this body to the student who shows exceptional ability in all the subjects taken in the College of Pharmacy.

CHEMISTRY PRIZE

A gold medal is awarded to the student making the greatest progress in chemistry during the two years' course in the College of Pharmacy.

MATERIA MEDICA PRIZE

A Dispensatory is awarded as a prize to the student who attains the greatest proficiency in the subject of materia medica in the two years' course.

I. LICENSING OF PHARMACISTS

All applicants for a license to practise pharmacy upon examination must meet (a) the preliminary requirement; (b) the professional requirement; (c) the licensing examination, and (d) must be citizens of the United States.

a. PRELIMINARY REQUIREMENT.—The preliminary requirement determines admission to registered schools of pharmacy. The official evidence of the completion of the preliminary requirement is called the pharmacy student certificate which may be secured upon evidence of the successful completion of not less than four years of approved secondary schooling or the equivalent. After January 1, 1928, in addition to such scholastic requirement the applicant must present satisfactory evidence of two years' practical experience in a registered pharmacy or drug store. Form will be furnished applicants by the University. The equivalents are (1) 72 counts earned in Regents examinations at a minimum standing of 75 per cent.; (2) an academic diploma on Regents examinations in the schools; (3) evidence of the successful completion of a year's work in an approved college; (4) evidence of the successful completion of work in another State or in a foreign country, equivalent to the completion of a four-year course in an approved secondary school; (5) evidence from a professional school of the completion of work recognized as the equivalent of four years of work in an approved secondary school. Under this head allowance is made for graduation from registered schools of theology, law, medicine, dentistry and veterinary medicine.

Special Examination in English.—All applicants for a pharmacy student certificate upon credentials from foreign countries other than those in which English is the language of the people, all or any part of which are earned or issued in said foreign countries, must pass a special examination in English. No counts are granted for passing the special English examination.

b. PROFESSIONAL REQUIREMENT.—The professional requirement consists of:

1. Two years' study of pharmacology in a school of pharmacy registered by the Regents as maintaining at the time satisfactory standards and graduation with the degree of Ph.G. or equivalent from a registered school.

2. Four years' experience in a registered pharmacy, one year of which must have been in a pharmacy of the United States under the personal supervision of a pharmacist and within five years of the date of the application. (See page 15, hand-book II.)

The actual time spent in a registered pharmacy school may be applied toward the four years' experience. A minimum of 50 hours a week is required in a registered pharmacy or drug store, and less than 50 hours may receive proportionate credit.

Comity of action in the transfer of students from one professional school to another. The Regents do not consider a course in a pharmacy school satisfactory within the meaning of the pharmacy law, section 230, item 16, if more than two conditions, one major of 100 hours and one minor of 50 hours, are allowed students for promotion from one year's class to the next.

A student failing in two or more of his junior subjects shall not be admitted to the senior class until he has repeated his junior course in resident study. A student failing in one junior subject shall, before becoming eligible for admission to the senior class of this or another school, qualify for the senior class at the school in which he failed. A student, to be eligible for admission to final examinations, shall attend at least 90 per cent. of all exercises from the date of opening.

c. LICENSING EXAMINATIONS.—A candidate for admission to the pharmacist licensing examination must pay a fee of $10, submit satisfactory evidence, verified by oath, that he (1) is more than 21 years of age; (2) is of good moral character; and (3) has met the preliminary and the professional requirements as set forth above.

Examinations.—The examinations are conducted by the Regents of the University, and answer papers are read and marked by the Board, which knows the candidate only by number. The subjects of these examinations are: Materia medica, botany, toxicology, posology and physiology; pharmaceutical chemistry; theoretical pharmacy; practical pharmacy, including manufacturing, tests, prescription work and identification of substances. For pharmacists only—commercial pharmacy, pharmaceutical jurisprudence and pharmaceutical Latin.

Passing Mark.—A candidate must attain a standing of at least 75 per cent. in each subject. A candidate who has standings below 75 per cent. in more than two written subjects must be re-examined in all subjects except practical pharmacy passed at 75 per cent. or above. A candidate who attains a standing of at least 75 per cent. in practical pharmacy need not be re-examined in that subject except for cause.

PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL AND SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION

The design of the School is to afford a practical and scientific education in the principles of General Jurisprudence.

The Common and Statute Law of the United States.

The System of Equity Jurisprudence.

Pleading and Civil Procedure at Common Law and under the Practice Acts of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

The Course for the degree of Bachelor of Laws covers three years.

The case system of study is used. Under this method carefully selected collections of cases are employed as the basis of instruction, the object being to teach the student to deduce legal principles from reported cases, to apply these principles to other cases, and so to develop the power of legal analysis and accurate reasoning by the use of actual decisions of the courts.

Although the aim of the School is to train its students so that they may be qualified to practice law in any common law jurisdiction, especial care is taken throughout the course to indicate in each subject the peculiarities of the law of New York. Particular attention is called to the following courses, which have special bearing on the New York law:

1. Common Law and Code Pleading.—In this course the principles of common law and code pleading are taught, and the chief similarities and differences between the common law pleading and the code pleading (which is in force in New York) are fully explained.

2. New York Civil Practice.—This course embraces a thorough study of the New York Civil Practice Act, as well as practical work in the drawings of pleadings and papers in civil actions and special proceedings.

A comprehensive course in Pure Jurisprudence is conducted, which deals with the fundamental ethical concepts, the general principles which form the basis of law, as well as its juridical and genetic origin.

It is believed that the courses of the School are so arranged as to unite a sound training in the fundamental principles of the law with a training in the practical application of these principles to actual legal work.

Courses in New Jersey Practice and Connecticut Practice respectively are given throughout the year. Either of these courses may be substituted for the New York Practice course by third year students; and, by arrangement with the Registrar, all students may take either of these courses specially, provided there be no conflict with regular courses.

COMMENCEMENT

The Annual Commencement of the University will be held at Fordham on Tuesday, June 9, 1925.

ACADEMIC YEAR

The first half of the Academic Year 1925-1926 will begin on Monday, September 21, 1925, and end on Friday, January 29, 1926. The second half will begin on Monday, February 1, 1926, and end on Tuesday, June 8, 1926. Classes will not be held on any legal holiday, the Friday following Thanksgiving Day, All Saints' Day (Nov. 1), Immaculate Conception (Dec. 8), and Ascension Day (May 21).

The Christmas Recess will begin after the close of lectures on Wednesday, December 23, 1925, and classes will be resumed on Monday, January 4, 1926; the Easter Recess will begin after lectures on Wednesday, March 31, 1926, and classes will be resumed on Tuesday, April 6, 1926.

Matriculation in course is not permitted in the second semester. Special students, however, may register for courses which are conducted during the second semester only.

The School does not conduct any courses during the summer.

STUDIES REQUIRED FOR DEGREE

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Laws will be required to take all the subjects of the three years, except that third year students may elect any one of the three Practice Courses.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The School of Law is open to both sexes. Students will not be registered under abbreviated or colloquial forms of recognized names. The registered name of the student will be adhered to in all certificates and degrees of the school, except in cases of obvious error, or upon presentation of a certified copy of a Supreme Court order permitting a change of name. Applicants for degrees must be at least eighteen years of age upon entering the first year course, must be of good moral character and must present:

1. A certificate of graduation from a University or College approved by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York; or,

2. A certificate showing completion of one year of college work or its equivalent, in a college or university of standing satisfactory to the School of Law, supplemented by a law student qualifying certificate issued by the Board of Regents at Albany, N. Y., to graduates of recognized high schools and to those passing Regents' examinations in equivalent subjects.

Generally, thirty semester hours of college work, or completion of a pre-legal course entitling the candidate to credit equal thereto, will be required as the equivalent of one college year.

Beginning with September, 1927, two years of college work or its equivalent will be required of students entering the first year class in course for a degree.

The Department of Education issues each year a booklet known as Handbook 27, which contains full information as to the institutions recognized by the Regents and the courses which will be accepted as high school equivalents. Copies may be obtained by application at the School. As the Board of Regents requires certification to it of completed high school or college work on its own forms before the law student qualifying certificate will be issued, applicants are advised to obtain said forms as soon as possible from the Examinations and Inspections Division, Educational Building, State Department of Education, Albany, New York, and to have the same promptly filled out by the high school or college in which the applicant pursued his preliminary studies and returned to the proper department of the Board of Regents. Otherwise serious delay in obtaining the necessary credentials may ensue.

ADVANCED STANDING

Students complying with the foregoing requirements for admission to the School, who have, in addition, successfully pursued the study of law for at least one academic year in a law school maintaining standards satisfactory to the School of Law, may, on submission of a proper certificate showing successful completion of such work be admitted to advanced standing. No student will be admitted to advanced standing beyond the second year without the special permission of the Dean.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

A limited number of persons, having a law student qualifying certificate issued by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York, but not otherwise qualified for admission as hereinabove set forth, will be accepted as special students, not candidates for a degree, on presenting such evidence as the school may require of their fitness to study law. Generally such students must be qualified by reason of age and other experience so as not to impede the work of the class. The admission of such students, however, is not encouraged.

Arrangements may be made also with students who desire to pursue specially one or more courses at regular lecture hours.

PRE-LEGAL COURSE

The University conducts on the same floor with the School of Law, a pre-legal course deemed by us the equivalent of one year of college work. The hours of this equivalent course are 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. from Monday to Friday inclusive. The subjects embraced include the following: American History, Economics, English, Logic, Epistemology, General Ethics, Public Speaking, and one elective language course.

Candidates for this course must have or be entitled to a law student qualifying certificate issued by the Board of Regents at Albany.

The fees for this course are as follows: The registration and University fee, Five Dollars each; tuition fee, One Hundred and Fifty Dollars; all payable on the same terms as the fees and tuition of the School of Law as hereinafter noted.

Applicants for registration may apply at Room 2866, Woolworth Building, New York.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

Written examinations are held at the end of each semester in all subjects completed therein and as essential parts thereof. Classroom work, so far as practicable, is also a determinant of general standing.

Examinations are conducted on every week day. The hours of examination for all classes will be from 4.00 p. m. to 7.00 p. m. except that the hours on Saturdays will be from 2.00 p. m. to 5.00 p. m.

Excessive absences from lectures will bar the student from examination.

Students must present themselves for examination at the examination held immediately upon completion of every subject unless excused by the Dean. Omission to do so will constitute a failure of such examination by the student.

The standing of students will be indicated by the letters A, B, C, D and F, signifying Excellent, Good, Fair, Poor and Failure respectively. A paper of exceptional merit will be marked A+.

Failed or omitted examinations aggregating more than two major courses or their equivalent will constitute a failed year. In such case, if the student desires to remain in the School, repetition of the full year, both in course and by successful examination, will be required. Notice of intention to repeat must be given by the student before August 25.

Failed or omitted examinations aggregating not more than two major courses or their equivalent may be retaken at the next conditioned examinations only. If again failed or omitted the student will be required to repeat the subject.

Failure to pass or omission to take the first examination offered in a repeated course or in any course in a repeated year will require the student's withdrawal from the school.

Examinations for removal of conditions are held on the five days immediately following Labor Day.

Where a student's standing is generally of such low grade as to indicate, in the opinion of the Dean, that he cannot continue the work of the School with profit, his withdrawal from the School will be required. To continue in good standing a student must maintain an average grade of at least C.

LAW LIBRARY

The library is now housed on the Broadway front of our quarters, with steady natural light by day, and the most modern system of shaded artificial light for evening work.

The location of the space, on the twenty-eighth floor, looking east, with an unbroken view for many miles, and with quiet assured by the height above the street and the solid walls separating the library from the other rooms, all contribute to its attractiveness.

The library is open throughout the year to the students of the School of Law and its alumni after 9.30 a. m.

PRIZES

In every class the student attaining the highest average in recitations and examinations will be awarded a prize of fifty dollars ($50.00) in gold.

ADMISSION TO THE NEW YORK BAR

The New York State Bar examinations are open at once to all graduates of this school who are citizens of the United States and for six months actual residents of this State.

Successful bar examination candidates who hold an academic degree of a recognized college are entitled to a license to practice in this State, upon satisfying the requirements of the Committee on Character. All successful bar examination candidates who do not hold such academic degree must, before being licensed to practice, furnish proof to the Committee on Character of fulfillment of the further requirement of a calendar year of clerkship in the office of a practicing attorney.

FEES

The following fees are payable: upon registration, a matriculation fee of Five Dollars.

For tuition, One Hundred and Eighty Dollars per annum, payable one-half on entrance, and the balance on February 1 following.

A University fee of Five Dollars, payable by all students at the beginning of every academic year.

A graduation fee of Fifteen Dollars, payable before completion of final examinations.

A conditioned examination fee of Five Dollars for every failed or omitted examination taken.

No degree is granted or certificate of attendance issued to any student who has not paid all fees due from him to the School, and no student of any class will be permitted to attend recitations or examinations who is in default more than two weeks in the payment of any such fee.

LIVING ACCOMMODATIONS

The School does not maintain a boarding department, but information as to where board and rooms can be obtained will be furnished on application.

HOURS OF INSTRUCTION

The School of Law has three divisions; the morning division, the afternoon division, and the evening division, the work of all divisions being identical.

Once registered in a given division of the School, a student may not transfer, at any time, to any other division.

Morning School.—Classes will be held on every week-day, except Saturday, commencing at 9.30 a. m.

Afternoon School.—Classes will be held on every week-day, except Saturday, commencing at 2.30 o'clock p. m.

Evening School.—Classes will be held in the evening of every week-day except Saturday, commencing at 6 o'clock p. m.

Class hours are subject to change at the discretion of the faculty.

The schedule may be consulted for the order of lectures.

The School quarters are open to students on Saturdays.

CLASS IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

Professor Carmody has instituted, under the auspices of the Law School, but not as part of the official curriculum, a class in Public Speaking, limited to not more than twenty-five members; preference is given at present to third year students.

Class hours are ordinarily on Saturday afternoon, and the syllabus of work is the following: "Effective arrangement and delivery of arguments before courts and addresses to juries. Auditory analysis and logical sequence compared and correlated. Voice diagnosis and training."

In order to afford opportunity to as many as possible of the third year students, the class in Public Speaking will be completed in the first semester and repeated in the second.

INTRODUCTION

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY announces the opening of the 1925-1926 sessions of the Graduate School on October 1. Courses of studies are offered in the Graduate School to graduates of the various Universities, Seminaries and Colleges holding a Bachelor's Degree, leading to the degrees of Master of Arts and Science, and to the doctorate in Philosophy.

The Graduate School is located at Fordham University, 190th Street and Third Avenue, and the courses are given by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus and their associates in the work of Higher Catholic and University Education.

Courses in connection with the Graduate School are also held from 4 to 6 daily, at the Graduate School, Fordham, and at the Woolworth Building, the seventh floor, except on Saturdays, when the classes are from 9 to 2.

The Graduate Courses should appeal especially to young priests, professional men, lawyers, doctors, journalists and educators, who find time to pursue higher studies along the line of their previous college work and would be qualified within a few years, according to leisure, capacity, attainments, strength and application, for the degree of Master of Arts and higher degrees. The courses in the Department of Education are intended for those desirous of obtaining credits for promotion and other licenses and also for graduates specializing in pedagogy.

GRADUATE SCHOOL

GENERAL INFORMATION

Introduction and Purpose

The Graduate School offers advanced courses in the various branches of Philosophy, History, Literature and Science. The lectures are intended primarily for persons who have profited by the advantages of a full college course and who are desirous of continuing their studies along the lines of Scholastic and Modern Philosophy, Mathematics, History, Literature, Linguistics, Romance Languages, Science and Pedagogy.

The session opens on October 1. All persons intending to pursue work are advised to register before that date.

Admission and Registration

Every student, upon entrance in the Graduate School, is required to register at the office of the Dean, or the Registrar's Office, 750 Woolworth Building, New York, and, if a candidate for a degree, to file therein an official transcript of his college record, and at the opening of the University in each year thereafter must register, whether continuing in courses of study or only writing the dissertation.

Admission to the Graduate School does not necessarily imply candidacy for a degree, but does imply that the student possesses the ability to pursue with profit the work he undertakes.

Degrees

The degrees conferred in the Graduate School are Master of Arts (A.M.), Master of Science (M.S.), Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), and Doctor of Science (D.Sc.). All recommendations for the higher degrees must originate with the members of the Faculty under whose supervision the candidate has been pursuing his work. No student can acquire a right to such recommendation merely by attending lectures, passing examinations, or by formal compliance with prescribed conditions. The requirements hereinafter specified must, therefore, be regarded as minimum requirements only, the right remaining with the Faculty to refuse to admit a student to his final examinations or to award him his degree.

Residence

All candidates are required to spend at least the last year previous to the final examinations for any degree in residence at this University. To be regarded as in residence a student must complete, within one academic year, not less than eight standard courses or their equivalent, except as hereinafter provided for the Master's Degree.

No work in absentia will be accepted for any degree in the Graduate School, with the exception of work on the Dissertation for the Doctorate.

Graduate work done at other universities or in other schools of this University may be accepted when certified by the Faculty in lieu of a part of the work required for a degree. The entire work of the Major for higher degrees must be done at this University.

Dates for Conferring Degrees

Graduate degrees are conferred in June and August.

In June, degrees will be conferred on students who have made application for the degree not later than the preceding October and who have completed the requirements not later than the last day of the final term examination.

In August, degrees will be conferred on students who have completed the requirements of residence and curriculum not later than the last day of the examinations set during the Summer Session.

Summer Session

Work done in the Summer Session of Fordham University, under the direction of a member of the Faculty of the Graduate School, may be counted for residence towards the degree of Master of Arts under the following conditions: One term's residence to be followed by two Summer Sessions.

This privilege is also granted for some courses leading to the Doctor's Degree.

General Requirements

1. Prompt, regular and full attendance at lectures and public seminars throughout the academic year.

2. Registration in 1925 before the first of October.

3. Payment in advance of registration and tuition fees.

4. Some students, while formally applying at the office in the Woolworth Building, may pursue some of their courses at the University, the Bronx, or vice versa. Such students will present to the Assistant to the Dean, in the place where application has been made for their degree, a complete, approved list of the courses followed in the other branch of the University.

5. Attendance at lectures, classes and other functions will be marked rigidly from the date of registration.

FEES AND EXPENSES

All fees are payable in advance. Fees are in no case refunded, but students who have paid tuition and have become unable, through sickness or any other unavoidable cause, to be present will be credited with the amount in any subsequent session which they may attend.

FEES

1.	University fee for all students	$5.00
2.	Tuition fee, per point	7.50
3.	Religious—each thirty-hour course	10.00
4.	Examination—for candidates for degrees:
	Master's	10.00
	Doctor's	20.00
5.	Diplomas:
	Master's	15.00
	Doctor's	25.00
6.	Special fee for Science Courses as stated in the outline under the particular department.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATE DEGREES

1. The applicant for any of the higher degrees must be a duly registered student of this University.

This registration should be made at the Office of the Dean, or Registrar's Office. Before the registration shall be considered complete, candidates should file with the Registrar an official transcript of his college record, and at the opening of the University in each year thereafter must register, whether continuing his courses or only writing the dissertation.

2. He must have received a Bachelor's Degree from an approved college.

3. The entire curriculum of studies which a candidate offers in fulfillment of the requirements for any degree must be satisfactorily completed within a period of six years from the date when he first began the curriculum or any course of study contained therein. Should a candidate, for any reason whatsoever, fail to receive his degree within the time just named, all claim or right to continue working longer for the same degree, or to have any or all of his work already accomplished credited in fulfillment of the requirements for the same degree, is ipso facto forfeited and annulled.

4. The candidate must, from the outset, give evidence—by examination, either oral or written—of his ability to read and translate technical literature, especially that bearing upon his major work, in at least one foreign modern language. Ordinarily this should be French, German, Spanish or Italian. A reading knowledge of Latin is required of all students electing Scholastic Philosophy as their major course.

5. On or before October 14 of the year in which he takes up graduate work in this University, the candidate must apply to the Rector for the degree and submit to the Faculty for its approval his course of study. The entire course of study of the candidate shall be under the supervision of the school to which his major work pertains.

6. The field and subject-matter of his major course, as well as of each of his two minor courses, shall remain unchanged throughout the entire time spent by the candidate in fulfilling the requirements for his degree.

7. Candidates for any of the higher degrees must submit two typewritten copies of an outline of a thesis on a subject kindred to the matter of the major course of his curriculum, approved by the Faculty on or before November 6 of the academic year in which it is planned to take the degree. The subject of the dissertation for the Master's Degree must be developed in original discussion to a length of not less than six thousand words. The thesis must be either typewritten or printed and substantially bound, and deposited in the office of the Dean of the Graduate School not later than February first of the year in which it is planned to take the degree. The title page must bear the words: "Submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Degree of ————, in the Faculty of ————, Fordham University"; the full title of the dissertation; the year and place of the imprint, and, if a reprint, title, volume and pagination of the publication from which it was reprinted.

There shall be printed and appended to each dissertation, in the form of a Vita, a statement of the place of the birth of the author, of the educational institutions that he has attended, and a list of the degrees and honors conferred upon him as well as the titles of his previous publications.

THE MASTER'S DEGREE

After admission to candidacy for a Master's Degree the student must spend at least one year in residence at the University, pursuing the curriculum presented to the Dean and by him approved at the time of the candidate's entrance.

Students who are engaged in other outside work which reduces the time and thought they are able to give to study will be required to devote more than the minimum time to their study for the Master's Degree.

A statement of the subject of the thesis, with the written approval of the Professor under whose direction it is to be done, must be furnished to the Dean before the tenth of November of the scholastic year in which the degree is to be conferred.

No dissertation will be accepted for M.A. credit which is confined to the mere compilation of facts derived from the writings of known authorities, nor will full credit be allowed for merely literary combinations of such information. It is required that each dissertation show originality in the treatment of such previous accepted knowledge of the subject chosen. This original treatment is understood to mean evidence that the writer of the dissertation is capable of opening a new field of investigation, or of comment or a critical possibility, thus offering a real advance in the study of the subject dealt with.

As an example of such requirements as are above indicated, a dissertation on Chaucer would only comply with the regulations for an M.A. Degree which applied the data collected to the solution of a definite thesis, such as: (1) "Chaucer's poetry is evidence that the author was soundly Catholic."

(2) Or "the accepted belief in Chaucer's Wycliffism is founded on a Puritan interpretation of his poems."

(3) Or "Chaucer epitomizes his national age."

Similar decisive work would be expected in other fields.

The requirements for a Ph.D. Degree follow intensively on those for the M.A. Degree; but the treatment in this case must be more extensive, and the subject of obviously major interest.

In general there is required a literary contribution of suggestive and positive value on the selected topic or topics to be of a weight commensurate with the advance in knowledge in the appropriate field of study.

The completed dissertation must be submitted to the Professor, under whose direction it has been done, before the first of March of the scholastic year in which the degree is to be granted.

For the Master's Degree 24 credits are required. These are distributed as follows: 12 in the major, and 6 in each of two minors.

Each candidate will furnish two bound typewritten copies of his dissertation for the use of the University Library. These copies become the property of the University. These typewritten copies should be of a uniform size of 8 inches by 10½ inches.

Written examinations in the different courses followed will be required of each candidate on the completion of such course. A final oral examination upon all the work presented for the degree will also be required. The candidate will submit for this examination a list of forty theses that shall embody the work of his major and minor courses.

THE DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy is conferred upon a candidate who, after completing not less than three years of graduate work, presents a satisfactory thesis and passes an examination in one major and two minor subjects.

Candidates who are engaged in other outside work which reduces the time and thought they are able to give to study will be required to devote more than the minimum time to their study for the Doctor's Degree.

The candidate for the Doctorate must pursue his major subject under the special guidance of one of the Professors appointed to him by the University. He must, moreover, submit regular reports of his readings and findings.

For the Doctor's Degree there is required 48 credits. These are distributed as follows: 24 in the major, and 12 in each of two minors.

Before the twenty-fifth of March of the year in which the degree is sought, the candidate must submit to the Dean of the Graduate School a list of sixty theses. These theses shall embody the work of his major and minor courses.

Of these theses thirty shall be on the subject-matter of the major course pursued; fifteen on the subject-matter of each of the minors.

A final examination, based on the theses approved by the Dean, will be required of each candidate. This examination is oral, and shall not exceed two hours in length.

Candidates for degrees who intend to pursue the study of Philosophy for the Ph.D. Degree should choose Philosophy as their major subject in their schedule of courses for the Master's Degree, or at least as a minor, in order to keep the subject matter fresh in their minds throughout the interval of Graduate work.

DEPARTMENTS OF INSTRUCTION

ENGLISH

ENG. 100.—The Bible as Literature.

Not only is the Bible a divinely inspired book, it is the world's greatest literary treasure. Genesis begins with the creation of all things, the Apocalypse foretells the end of the world. Outlined in this book we shall see, mainly, the history of a single race, but also the destinies of all mankind.

Its sacred writers are inspired historians, prophets and seers; they are also creative artists in the truest sense of the word. The writers were many, men of different times, of different social rank, shepherds, princes or kings, but their work bears the stamp of a perfect unity.

The Bible has a universal appeal; it touches every chord in the human heart; it strikes every note in the gamut of passion; its pictures surpass Milton's and Dante's in power; its characters are drawn with more truth and dramatic intensity than Shakespeare's. The Psalms of David are more lyrical than the finest odes of Shelley or Francis Thompson.

In the story of Joseph, Moses wrote one of the world's most pathetic stories. Deborah sang a martial hymn which Tyrtaeus never surpassed. The style of the Bible is simple and sublime. It is as Dryden says:

majestic and divine,
It speaks no less than God in every line.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 775. REV. JOSEPH A. MURPHY, PH.D.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 769. JOSEPH F. CASHMAN, PH.D.
First Semester.

ENG. 196.—Literary Criticism.

The course in Literary Criticism presents material in English literature from 1700 upon which sound principles of criticism may be built, and which illustrate the principles. The principles are drawn from the obvious practice of the writers of accepted standing, both poets and prose writers, and are made the subject rather of investigation than of announcement; the tentative attitude is encouraged. The student is directed more to the actual text and less to comment and annotation. Power is sought instead of immediate, finished, verbal facility in opinion. The purpose of the course is to put it in the grasp of the student to continue the study of modern authors along lines similar to those suggested in the course. Application is made to modern American poetry and the short story. The student is expected to show some mastery of one accredited author as well as a sense of general critical principle.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 770.
Second Semester. CHRISTOPHER R. STAPLETON, PH.D.

ENG. 181.—Philosophy of Literature.
(Given 1926-1927.)

(Given 1926-1927.)

LATIN 105.—Quintilian: De Institutione Oratoria, Book I.

Translation, both prepared and at sight. Lectures illustrating Quintilian's pedagogical principles as greatly influencing later famous educators.

Friday, 4–6, W. 783. FRANCIS PRISTERA, PH.D., L.H.D.
Second Semester.

LATIN 106-107.—Quintilian: De Institutione Oratoria, Book XII.

Translation, both prepared and at sight. Illustrations will be given on the literary tendencies of his time; his opposition to the new literary movement, and especially to Seneca; his enthusiasm for Cicero. Stress will be laid on the peculiarities of Quintilian's style and use of words.

(Given 1926-1927.)

LATIN 108-109.—St. Thomas: The Summa Theologiae.

FRENCH

FRENCH 101.—French Middle Ages.

A course of lectures on the little known, but most interesting period, which extends from the middle of the ninth century to the end of the fifteenth century. The course will include: (1) A general survey of the French Middle Ages; (2) a comprehensive exposition of the social, political, religious, and economic conditions prevailing during that period of French history; (3) a critical study of the literature in its various forms. Special attention will be given to the evolution of the religious drama, as represented by liturgical plays, miracles, mysteries, etc. The best epic poems, allegorical stories and dramatic plays will be analyzed and explained.

(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 9.50–10.40, W. 775. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 102.—French Renaissance.

A course of lectures on this great period of French history. The course will include: (1) A general survey of the sixteenth century; (2) a comprehensive study of the foremost writers of that time; (3) an exposition of educational theories; (4) a description of the French Renaissance art in all its forms: architecture, sculpture, painting, furniture, costumes, etc.; (4) an intelligent and practical conclusion as to the influence of the French Renaissance, not only on the literature of the XVIIth and XVIIIth centuries, but also on modern and contemporary literature both in France and abroad.

(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 784. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 103.—French Revolution.

The object of this course is to describe and explain this great reaction against absolutism. The course will include: (1) A comprehensive survey of the conditions, both social and political, which brought about the destruction of the monarchical régime; (2) a vivid picture of the revolutionary wheel, in its every turn, from the convocation of the States-General in May, 1789, to the end of the National Convention in July, 1794; (3) a characteristic portrait of those who took a leading part in this tremendous political drama, namely: Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette, Lafayette, St. Just, Danton, Marat, Robespierre, etc.; (4) a description of the noble rôle played by the Catholic clergy both in the various assemblies and among the people. A special feature of this course will be the reading of the most eloquent discourses delivered by the great orators who so often held the assemblies spell-bound.

(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 775. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 104.—French Lyricism.

A course of lectures on the development of lyrical poetry from the Middle Ages to the present day. Each intervening century will be studied separately. Both the life and the masterpieces of the foremost poets will be presented in a neat frame. Poems which have received the stamp of immortality will be analyzed and explained. It will thus be seen that lyrical poetry always moves by impulse and sensations, and that it is regulated, not by logic, but by the heart and imagination of the poet.

Saturday, 12–12.50, W. 783. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 105.—The Great Literary Women of France.

A course of lectures on the many French women of genius whose names have, in the past, and up to the present day, deserved to be inscribed in the hall of literary fame. Their biography, personality, characteristics, works, and influence, will be made the object of an interesting and instructive study.

This new course will be given either in French or in English, as may be desired by the majority of students.

Saturday, 12.50–1.40, W. 783. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 106.—French Philology and Morphology.

This very practical course does not necessarily require a speaking knowledge of French, as explanations will be mostly given in English. The course will deal with the following topics: (1) History and psychology of the French language; (2) Transformation of Latin into Romance; (3) Various phenomena studied from the point of view of history, phonetics, morphology, semantics, syntax and vocabulary; (4) Etymological or historical explanation of Modern French words most commonly used; their original formation and signification; their successive transformation through the ages up to the present day. A very useful course for both High School and College teachers of French.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 776. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First Semester.

FRENCH 107.—Contemporary French Novel.

A course of English lectures on the social, political, religious, and philosophical trend of the present-day French thought, as exemplified by representative works of the chief novelists. The best novels will be analyzed and discussed. The literary and philosophic theories of each author will be given in his own words translated into English. This will constitute for the student a very valuable collection of literary documents.

(Given 1925-1926.) RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D.,
Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

FRENCH 108.—XVIIth Century French Literature.

A course of English lectures on the more significant authors of the classic age of French literature, such as: Descartes, Pascal, La Rochefoucauld, La Bruyère, Corneille, Racine, Molière, La Fontaine, Boileau, Bossuet, etc., with emphasis upon the meaning of the classic ideal as compared with that of the French Renaissance. Especial attention will be given to the social, æsthetic, and philosophic movements as manifestations of the spirit of the times.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 776. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D.,
Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

Second Semester.

FRENCH 109.—XVIIIth Century French Literature.

A course of English lectures on the more significant authors of the philosophic age of French literature, such as: Lesage, Beaumarchais, Marivaux, l'Abbé Prévost, Montesquieu, Buffon, Voltaire, J. J. Rousseau, the Encyclopedists, Bernardin de Saint-Pierre, etc. It will be shown how the writings of these men were influential in bringing about the French Revolution. Attention will also be given to the great influence of the "salons literaires."

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 783. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D.,
Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

Second Semester.

FRENCH 110.—French Civilization in America.

In this course will be traced the contribution of French Civilization to the three Americas through the four hundred years extending from 1524 to 1925.

1. Beginning with the great explorations of the 16th Century, and their resultant settlements and possessions, the fortunes of New France until the Treaty of Paris in 1763, forming the first wave of French colonization in North America, will be studied as the Colonial Period.

2. The second, or Revolutionary Period, will be considered, special attention being paid to the complex social, political, economic and philosophical relations between the American War of Independence and the French Revolution of 1789. The slavery issue as manifested on a small scale in the French colonization of San Domingo will also be dealt with.

3. The 19th Century, with its simultaneous civilizing drives in North, South and Central America, constitutes the third or National Period. Napoleon's dream of a new American empire; the foundation of the Republic of Haiti, which played a decisive rôle in the liberation of South America; the French-Mexican campaign; the undertaking of the Panamą Canal, will be passed in review as evidence of the permanent influence which France has had in many directions on the New World.

4. Finally, the study of the first quarter of the present century as the International Period, with the momentous events of recent years, as well as the serious problems resulting therefrom: the French island Federation in American waters; the French-Canadian renascence; the war debts; the position of France as an Asiatic power vitally concerned in the Pacific situation, will complete the survey of French participation in the establishment, emancipation, and development of the American Continent. This contribution will appear both as an integral part of the life and culture of America, and as a spiritual monument to France's permanence of purpose, energy, and vision during four centuries.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 783. HENRI M. BARZUN, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

FRENCH 111.—Medieval Civilization in France.

The purpose of this course is to make known the richness and significance of the civilization evolved during the Middle Ages in France, on account both of its intrinsic value and of its preponderant influence on the succeeding centuries to which is still attributed spontaneous grandeur.

Extending from the close of the 9th to the 15th Century, the miscalled Dark Ages will be treated in a general comprehensive survey, previous to the consideration of specific achievements. This survey will cover the historical and economic structure of the civilization under notice, special attention being given to the community life centering around the Cathedral as its place of worship, its town hall, its refuge (in the struggle against feudalism), its meeting place for commemorations, its theater, sacred and profane, its material and spiritual symbol of faith. This community life will be shown in turn as the determinant factor in the foundation of the Opus Francigenum, the first indigenous art evolved with the slow formation of the nation, and the first to be called "French."

A study of this national art as expressed architecturally and plastically in the monumental masterpieces of Chartres, Paris, Rheims, Strasbourg, Amiens, etc., as well as in the great dramatic forms, born also of the collective life, in the miracles, mysteries, and pageants, will complete this panoramic view of the French Medieval Civilization.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 779. Henri M. Barzun, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

HISTORY

HIST. 2-3.—Christian Antiquity.

After a brief survey of the condition of the ancient pagan world at the coming of Christ, together with a study of the origin, nature, and effects of paganism, this course concerns itself with the beginnings of Christianity, its long conflict with paganism, the causes making for its spread, in spite of overwhelming odds, and the benefits accruing to the world by its triumph. The reasons for the downfall of the Roman Empire and the uprearing of the new medieval and modern civilization upon its ruins are touched upon. The organization of the Early Church, and the conversion of the barbarians also form topics of study.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 775. Rev. Demetrius Zema, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 6.—Pre-Reformation Period. Close of the Middle Ages.

The Avignon Period of the Papacy. Great Western Schism. Hundred Years' War. War of the Roses. Pseudo-Conciliar Movement. The Inquisition. The Renaissance. Consolidation of European Monarchies. Europe and the Turks.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 784. REV. DEMETRIUS ZEMA, S.J.
First Semester.

HIST. 7.—The Protestant Reformation. Europe in the First Half of the Sixteenth Century.

The Reformation in Germany and in Switzerland. In Norway, Denmark and Sweden. In England and Scotland.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 784. REV. CHARLES J. DEANE, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 8.—Post-Reformation Period. Counter-Reformation.

Effects of the Protestant Reformation. Counter-Reformation. New Religious Orders. Huguenot Wars in France. Massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day. Thirty Years' War. Puritan Revolution in England. Age of Louis the XIV.

(Given 1926-1927.)

HIST. 100.—Historical Background of Medieval Literature.

Since medieval literature is often used as a source by the student of medieval history and, in turn, the commentator on the literature of the period is often led astray by the false and inaccurate views current in regard to the Middle Ages, the purpose of this class is to discuss frankly certain aspects of medieval life and institutions that are at once important for the proper understanding of the literature, and at the same time are so often neglected, misunderstood and misrepresented in the "conventional histories of the period." Such are the "clergy" and monastic orders, their vast wealth, their immense political power, the charges often brought against them, their real and alleged moral state, etc. Chaucer, John de Meun, etc., and their commentators will be used as basic matter for the illustration.

HIST. 101.—French Middle Ages.

A course of lectures on the little known, but most interesting period, which extends from the middle of the ninth century to the end of the fifteenth century. The course will include: (1) A general survey of the French Middle Ages; (2) a comprehensive exposition of the social, political, religious, and economic conditions prevailing during that period of French history; (3) a critical study of the literature in its various forms. Special attention will be given to the evolution of the religious drama, as represented by liturgical plays, miracles, mysteries, etc. The best epic poems, allegorical stories and dramatic plays will be analyzed and explained.

(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 9.50–10.40, W. 775. Raphael D'Amour, Ph.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

HIST. 102.—French Renaissance.

A course of lectures on this great period of French history. The course will include: (1) A general survey of the sixteenth century; (2) a comprehensive study of the foremost writers of that time; (3) an exposition of educational theories; (4) a description of the French Renaissance art in all its forms: architecture, sculpture, painting, furniture, costumes, etc.; (4) an intelligent and practical conclusion as to the influence of the French Renaissance, not only on the literature of the XVIIth and XVIIIth centuries, but also on modern and contemporary literature both in France and abroad.

(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 784. Raphael D'Amour, Ph.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

HIST. 103.—History of American Constitution.

This course covers: (a) A careful study of the nature and content of the U. S. Constitution itself. (b) Its historical background, i.e., the medieval political ideals and institutions in which it is rooted, and their later development in England and the Colonies, the proximate history of the Constitution as seen in the deliberations of the Constitutional Convention of 1787, its divergencies and compromises. (c) The later growth of the Constitution, i.e., the men and the controversies that have most conduced to its interpretation, expansion or modification down to the present day.

Monday, 4–6, W. 769. REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 110.—History of United States, 1789–1829.

This course will trace the leading political, constitutional and social events from the organization of the national government to the inauguration of Jackson.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2860. OWEN A. HALEY, PH.D.
First Semester.

HIST. 111.—The United States, 1829–1860.

This course will be a consideration of the leading political and constitutional events from the rise of the Jacksonian Democracy to the eve of the Civil War. Lectures, assigned readings, and reports on special topics.

Thursday, 4–6, F. 18. OWEN A. HALEY, PH.D.
First Semester.

HIST. 112.—The Civil War and Reconstruction, 1860–1876.

This course will deal with the causes of secession, the military, economic and constitutional problems which arose during the War, and the political and economic reconstruction of the South after 1865.

Thursday, 4–6, F. 18. OWEN A. HALEY, PH.D.
Second Semester.

HIST. 14.—The United States, 1876–1825.

The course presents an intensive study of the leading political and economic problems of the period. Readings will be assigned and reports required.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2860. OWEN A. HALEY, PH.D.
Second Semester.

HIST. 113.—Economic History of the United States.

The division of the subject is as follows: Early settlements in the New World. Physical geography. Colonial times. The Colonial Policy of England. The Revolution and its economic causes. Financing of the Revolutionary War. Banking in the United States. The Westward Movement — its causes and its effects. Commerce. Industries. Labor.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 769. Rev. Edmund J. Burke, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 114.—The History of Latin America.

This course will treat of the following subjects: Spanish colonial America; the period of liberation; The Age of Dictators; Monroeism and Pan-Americanism; Diplomatic controversies; present civilization, problems and possibilities.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 780. Eugene A. Colligan, A.M.
Second Semester.

HIST. 115.—Pure Jurisprudence.

This course deals with the philosophy of law, and thus investigates its ultimate principles. In it are considered the definition and explanation of "law," the relation of Jurisprudence to ethics and politics, the various kinds of law and the nature of the consequences of law which are termed rights and duties.

(Given 1926-1927.)

HIST. 116.—Scholastic Philosophy of Government.

This course will be based on the texts themselves of the great treatises of (1) St. Thomas' De Legibus and his De Regimine Principum, (2) Bellarmine's De Laicis, (3) Suarez' De Legibus. An analysis will be made of each, supplemented by an historical background. Particular care will be taken to point out what the actual influence of various doctrines has been on subsequent events and the evidence in proof of such influence will be given and weighed.

The bearing of scholastic principles on present problems will be also emphasized.

Saturday, 9–10.40, W. 780.

REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.

First Semester.

HIST. 117.—History of Mexico.

MARIE REGINA MADDEN, M.A.

HIST. 118.—History of the Far East.

This course will consider the relation in the Near East of the Balkans and Greeks, Slav and Turk. In the Far East, the relation between China and Japan, Russia and England.

MARIE REGINA MADDEN, M.A.

HIST. 119.—French Civilization in America.

In this course will be traced the contribution of French Civilization to the three Americas through the four hundred years extending from 1524 to 1925.

1. Beginning with the great explorations of the 16th Century, and their resultant settlements and possessions, the fortunes of New France until the Treaty of Paris in 1763, forming the first wave of French colonization in North America, will be studied as the Colonial Period.

2. The second, or Revolutionary Period, will be considered, special attention being paid to the complex social, political, economic and philosophical relations between the American War of Independence and the French Revolution of 1789. The slavery issue as manifested on a small scale in the French colonization of San Domingo will also be dealt with.

3. The 19th Century, with its simultaneous civilizing drives in North, South, and Central America, constitutes the third or National Period. Napoleon's dream of a new American empire; the foundation of the Republic of Haiti, which played a decisive rôle in the liberation of South America; the French-Mexican campaign; the undertaking of the Panama Canal, will be passed in review as evidence of the permanent influence which France has had in many directions on the New World.

4. Finally, the study of the first quarter of the present century as the International Period, with the momentous events of recent years, as well as the serious problems resulting therefrom: the French island Federation in American waters; the French-Canadian renascence; the war debts; the position of France as an Asiatic power vitally concerned in the Pacific situation, will complete the survey of French participation in the establishment, emancipation, and development of the American Continent. This contribution will appear both as an integral part of the life and culture of America, and as a spiritual monument to France's permanence of purpose, energy, and vision during four centuries.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 783. Henri M. Barzun, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 120.—Medieval Civilization in France.

The purpose of this course is to make known the richness and significance of the civilization evolved during the Middle Ages in France, on account both of its intrinsic value and of its preponderant influence on the succeeding centuries to which is still attributed spontaneous grandeur.

Extending from the close of the 9th to the 15th Century, the miscalled Dark Ages will be treated in a general comprehensive survey, previous to the consideration of specific achievements. Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 779. HENRI M. BARZUN, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 120.—The Science and Method of History.

The nature, function and dignity of History; Historical sources and criteria. The various theories or philosophies advanced to explain the unity of History. Pitfalls of History of all the sciences, the one most exposed to abuse for the purposes of propaganda; the chief phases of religious and racial bias in the historical writings of recent centuries. Catholic presentation of History the most objective. The Modern State of Historical inquiry.

Friday, 4–6, W. 769. REV. DEMETRIUS ZEMA, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 121.—History of the Origin of Modern Liberty and Its Corruption.

By "modern liberty" is meant that liberty which it was intended the Federal Constitution should guarantee. Beginning with a study of Greek and Roman political ideas and institutions, the fact is established that the ancients failed to recognize certain elements essential to any true concept of liberty. Proper recognition of these is shown to have resulted from Christian Revelation. An analysis is made of the teaching of the Fathers and the many modern misconceptions of their true meaning are pointed out and duly corrected. The bearing of this teaching on the late Roman and early barbarian institutions is ascertained in the lights of historical evidence. The gradual development of the principles of liberty and the progress to which they gave rise is traced on down to the end of the thirteenth century, when they begin to be eclipsed on the European continent by a revival of the pagan principles of Roman. This last movement is followed on through the Reformation and Renaissance to the Peace of Westphalia, 1648.

Monday, 4–6, W. 769. REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.
First Semester.

HIST. 122.—History of Modern Philosophy.

Exposition, appreciation and criticism of Descartes' system and its developments; Occasionalism, Ontologism; Pre-Established Harmony; Pantheism.
Exposition, appreciation and criticism of Locke, Berkeley and Hume; Developments of English philosophy; Empiricism; Positivism; Rationalism; Ontological Agnosticism; Empirico-Intellectualism.
Kant: The development of his philosophy; Fichte, Schelling, Hegel, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, Evolution.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 779. Rev. Michael J. Mahony, S.J.

HIST. 123.—French Revolution.

The object of this course is to describe and explain this great reaction against absolutism. The course will include: (1) A comprehensive survey of the conditions, both social and political, which brought about the destruction of the monarchical régime; (2) a vivid picture of the revolutionary wheel, in its every turn, from the convocation of the States-General in May, 1789, to the end of the National Convention in July, 1794; (3) a characteristic portrait of those who took a leading part in this tremendous political drama, namely: Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette, Lafayette, St. Just, Danton, Marat, Robespierre, etc.; (4) a description of the noble rôle played by the Catholic clergy both in the various assemblies and among the people. A special feature of this course will be the reading of the most eloquent discourses delivered by the great orators who so often held the assemblies spell-bound.
(This course will be given in English.)

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 775. Raphael D'Amour, Ph.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 124.—Historical Research Course.

The purpose of this course is to conduct original research work along lines that will enable the student to ascertain definitely and on a basis of facts, the correct interpretation of ideas, institutions and events in the past, touching such phases, especially, of secular history and cultural development as still have a bearing on the present, but which Catholics have neglected because of their greater concern with the ecclesiastical position and which non-Catholics habitually misrepresent or overlook because of the lack of proper comprehension.

REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.

SOCIOLOGY

SOC. 1.—(a) Ethical Principles.

Ethics; its nature, object, necessity. Beatitude. Morality of volitional acts. The determinants of morality. The eternal law. The natural law.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 768. THOMAS J. BARRETT, S.J.
First Semester, or
Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 784.
First Semester.

SOC. 2.—(b) Individual Ethics.

Rights and duties. Duties to God; internal and external worship, rationalism, indifferentism. Suicide, killing, lying. Right of ownership; socialism. Contracts: Rights of disposing of property by will. Trade Unions. Strikes.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 768. REV. THOMAS J. BARRETT, S.J.
Second Semester, or
Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 784.
Second Semester.

SOC. 3.—Social Ethics.

Man a social being, morality of society; Conjugal society, the marriage contract, divorce; Parental Society; Industrial Society, private ownership, socialism, wages, the living, minimum wage, strikes, boycotts, unions; Civil Society, origin, authority; The State, not an end in itself; Its primary and secondary purposes; The Church and State; their respective spheres, their relations; Nations and the moral law, international law.

Monday, 4–6, W. 779. REV. THOMAS BARRETT, S.J.
First Semester.

SOC. 8.—Political Economy 2.

This course embraces a series of lectures on the following subjects:

1. Banking.—History. Kinds of banks in the United States. Their nature and functions.

2. Commerce.—Domestic and Foreign Trade. Causes and advantages of exchange. Mechanisms of exchange. Tariffs. Protection and Free Trade.

3. Transportation.— Railroads: Growth; Groups; Charges; Alleged evils. Interstate Commerce Commission. Government regulation. Government ownership.

4. Corporations.—Trusts. Advantages and disadvantages of large corporations. The Trust Problem.

5. Government Revenue.—Sources. Taxation: kinds; incidence and shifting of taxes; principles of taxation. Public debts.

6. Insurance.—History. Nature and advantages. Theory. Kinds of insurance. Industrial insurance. Compensation laws.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 2758. REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.
Second Semester.

CHEMISTRY

(Graduate students will make arrangements regarding hours of lecture and laboratory work with the head of the department. The head of the department may be interviewed on week days, except Saturday, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.)

SC. 1.—Inorganic Chemistry 1.

The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the principles of general chemistry. The work embraces a consideration of the fundamental theories underlying the science, the laws involved in chemical operations, methods and practice of inorganic preparations, with a rather detailed discussion of the non-metallic elements.

Text, Holmes' General Chemistry; Laboratory Manual, Holmes'.

SC. 2.—Inorganic Chemistry 2.

This course embraces a more extended discussion of certain of the chemical laws and theories, with especial emphasis upon their applications to physical, thermal, metallurgical, actinic and electrolytical operations. The metallic elements and their compounds are treated at length. Mendelejeff's periodic classification with its important relations to chemical phenomena is stressed.

SC. 70.—Qualitative Organic Analysis.

This course is intended to follow the usual course of synthetic organic preparations, and comprises a systematic method for the identification of organic compounds. Though rather recently introduced into the curriculum, qualitative organic analysis is now recognized to be of fundamental importance in the training of the chemist in the organic field.

Fee—$60.00.

SC. 100.—Quantitative Organic Chemistry.

Like quantitative inorganic chemistry, this course is mostly laboratory work. It includes nitrogen determinations by the method of Kjeldahl and Dumas, also determinations of Carbon, Hydrogen, Oxygen, Sulphur, the Halogens, etc., by the methods of Liebig and Carius. Individual instruction is given on the theoretical portion as the work progresses.

Time.—About 240 hours of laboratory work.
Fee—$60.00.

SC. 101.—Organic Chemistry.

A brief description of the aliphatic and aromatic compounds is undertaken, and a short time is spent on the carbohydrates, fats and proteins. The chemical structure of these food materials is briefly discussed as well as that of some of the ordinary food adulterants.
It is not necessary for the student to have completed qualitative analysis.

SC. 102.—Physiological Chemistry.

This course deals mainly with the chemistry of normal vital processes occurring in the animal body, especially human, though some emphasis is placed upon the pathological and otherwise abnormal chemical activities. Though primarily a lecture course, this subject is sometimes supplemented by laboratory work.

For hours, confer Head of Depeartment.

EDUCATION

ED. 100.—Early Christian and Medieval Education.

Beginning with a brief survey of the ancient Roman world, especially of its culture, the course will consider the assimilation of pagan learning by the Church, her own contributions to life and civilization, the education to Christian ideals and practices, first of the Graeco-Roman society, then of the Northern Barbarians, and the gradual development of the culture and educational agencies which the Middle Ages have bequeathed to modern times. While due regard will be paid to the work of the school in furthering intellectual education and progress, this account of the first fifteen centuries of Christian education is made to include other agencies which at times were more potent factors than the schools in Western civilization. All through the course emphasis will be laid on the relation between education and the social and political conditions which form its background.

Saturday, 9.50–10.40, W. L. 1.

PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 101.—Modern Education.

The course begins with a survey of Western education at the close of the Middle Ages, then deals with the following movements and their influence on education: the Renaissance, the Protestant Reformation and Catholic Revival, Realism, Rationalism and Naturalism; the Industrial Revolution and Nationalism.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. L. 1.

PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 102.—Science of Education.

The meaning of education as determined by nature and destiny of man—educational aims, physical education, mental growth and development; education of the feelings, will; content of education; extra academic activities; school as an educational agency.

(Given 1926-1927.)

ED. 103.—Philosophy of Education (a).

The aim of this course is to make a general survey of the whole field of educational theory and to develop a body of sound educational doctrine. The method of treatment will be both historical and philosophical. Pure speculation is apt to evolve a more or less imaginary philosophy of education, whereas an exclusively historical treatment of the subject would lead to a purely empirical science of education.

History and speculation assist and supplement each other in the formulation of a normative science of education. The course is divided into two parts.

Part I. The individualistic vs. the social view of education. The scientific treatment of educational problems and the relation of the science of education to other sciences, especially religion, psychology, ethics, sociology and history. The broad and narrow views of education. Teaching and discipline as an expression of the whole problem of education. The place and value of instinct in education. Educational aims and ideals and their respective values. The content of education in past and present-day systems and the evaluation of its elements. The subjective and objective view of education.

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. L. I.

PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.

First and Second Semester.

Part II. The relation of the materials of instruction to the aim of education; the correlation and grading of these materials and the organization of the course of study in the various branches of the curriculum. The assimilation of knowledge from the standpoint of the individual and subject matter. The essential factors of teaching and learning and the various types of instruction. Informal and formal agencies of education. The school, its history, types and relation to society. The training of teachers.

(Given 1926-1927.)

ED. 104.—National Systems of Education.

A comparative study of educational systems, especially in the United States and the leading European nations. The course will trace the history of each system from its beginning down to its present form and account for the modifications which took place during the process of development; typical systems will then be compared as to aims and work of each type of school, classes of pupils educated, extent of national support and supervision.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 775. PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.
Second Semester.

ED. 105.—Educational Measurements 1.

This course will consider Intelligence Tests, both individual and group, their uses and limitations; Achievement Tests in Arithmetic, Reading, Spelling, Composition, Penmanship. Diagnostic and prognostic applications of the tests; advantages and limitations of uses of such tests.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
First Semester, or

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 770.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 106.—Educational Measurements 2.

This course will consider in a detailed manner the educational statistics of central tendencies, variability and correlation; the elements constituting the organization of standardized tests; the application of Intelligence, Achievement, Diagnostic and Prognostic Tests to secondary schools.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Second Semester.

Research Course in Educational Psychology and Measurements.

This course will be open to graduate students, who, with the permission of the Dean, will make intensive studies of problems relating to Educational Psychology or Educational Measurements.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.

ED. 107.—Diagnostic Testing and Remedial Instruction.

This course will investigate the cases of sub-normal work in the several elementary school subjects as evidenced by the application of standardized tests and prescribe remedial treatment.

Only students who have completed courses in Psychology and Educational Measurements may register for this course.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. L. 3.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 108—Educational Administration.

A study of the organization of a school system and some of the major problems confronting administration and supervisions. Emphasis will be placed on administration in its relation to the work in the school and in the class-room. Topics will include the public and the schools, school buildings, types of schools, equipment, text-books, training of teachers, course of study, grading, comparative studies of schools, measurements of intelligence and achievement, supervision of study, analysis of study process, abstraction of instruction and rating of teachers.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 780. STEPHEN F. BAYNE, M.A.
Second Semester.

ED. 9-10.—School and Class Management.

The philosophy of supervision; the school principal; his relations to the public, the parents, the teachers, the pupils; the school building, equipment, supplies, etc.; organization of curriculum; classification of pupils; the teaching process, discipline, truancy; habit formation and routine.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 779. HENRY E. HEIN, PH.D.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 11.—Principles of Secondary Education.

This course will aim to present knowledge of the needs and aptitudes of youth, with the accompanying effects upon courses of study, general method, discipline, outside activities and related topics. It will aim to show further, that the guiding principles of secondary education should naturally be an outgrowth of study of the psychology of adolescence. The course should be of value to those who are interested in the special problems of secondary education.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 775. MILO F. MCDONALD, PH.D.
First Semester.

ED. 13-14.—Teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

This course presents the entire work of high-school teachers of English. It includes books usually studied in secondary school courses, and gives general instruction in all class-room and extra class-room work. It gives full preparation for the New York City examinations for license as teacher of English.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 776. KENNETH W. WRIGHT, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 17-18.—Methods of Teaching Latin in High Schools.

The course will include a study of the New York State Syllabus for this subject. The Beginner's Book, Cæsar, Cicero, Virgil, the Aeneid, will be examined from a point of view of recent text-books, analysis, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background. Written reports will be required.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 2858. EDWARD J. KAVANAGH, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 19-20.—Methods of Teaching French in High Schools.

This course will include a study of the New York State Syllabus for this subject. The matter will be presented from the point of view of recent text-books, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background.
This course being given in English, it should appeal not only to those students who are already possessed of a fairly good knowledge of French, but also to those who may wish to acquire a solid foundation for further studies.

(Given 1926-1927.)

ED. 26-27.—Teaching of Mathematics in Secondary Schools.

This course is intended:

1. To be helpful to teachers of mathematics by affording opportunity for discussion of methods.

2. To present to students ideas of special method in mathematics so that they may discover a possible aptitude.

3. To prepare prospective teachers of mathematics for their work.

Specific lessons according to the modern trends and tendencies.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 2862. ADOLPHUS A. LIPPE, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 21-22.—Teaching of History and Civics in Secondary Schools.

This course is devoted to a study of the general problems of history — teaching with special reference to the high school. It will consider the nature of history; its relation to other subjects, and its place in education; selection of subject-matter and its arrangement in courses of study; effective presentation of materials of instruction; judging text-books; collateral reading; testing results.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 775. JAMES L. TOBIN, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 40.—Extra Class Activities.

The relation of extra activies to school life as an aid and as a means of introducing the pupil to education for leisure time will be studied. The correlation of these activities with the school curriculum and the relation of extra activities to the question of vocational guidance will be examined. Among the activities that will be considered are: athletics, with particular reference to the organization and management of competitions; the orchestra, the science club, the nature club, the reading club, the school newspaper, the color guard.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 783. LEO I. KEARNEY, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 34-35.—Oral English I.

A course for teachers and others interested in speech standards, niceties of pronunciation, skill in reading and a working knowledge of phonetics and speech psychology. Special attention to the correction of personal voice and speech faults. Course should prove of special interest to teachers of English, of Speech Correction and those contemplating High School work in Oral English. Not a course in abstruse theory or in picture writing, but in the acquiring of oral skill through vocal and oral work.

Monday, 4–6, F. 18. JOHN B. SHAMUS, B.A.
First and Second Semester, or

Friday, 4–6, W. 2858.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 36-37.—Oral English II.

A continuation of the work of Oral English I. The development of skill in interpretative reading, fluency in public speaking and the acquiring of conscious speech power are the objectives. Formal drill in the various vocal qualities, exercises for modulative finesse and ease, delivering of the more important speech forms and a complete study of the psychology of the audience are some of the features of the work.

Tuesday, 4–6, F. 19. JOHN B. SHAMUS, B.A.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 38.—Formative Principles of Character.

In this course, the following points find treatment: Disposition and Temperament, Habit and Character. Studies in formation of character require treatment of the Passions; Analysis of "Good"; Psychology of Appeal. The four pivotal aspects of character, the cardinal virtues, engage the attention of the student during most of the course.

INTRODUCTION

Fordham University, conducted by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus and their associates, will open its Summer Session on Monday, July 6, and courses will be conducted for men and women in the subjects hereafter specified.

Each course will consist of thirty class hours or their equivalent of sixty hours in laboratory or field work. Written examinations will be held at the close of the session.

The courses are designed for the following classes:

1. Those desirous of completing their work for College entrance requirements.
2. Candidates for the baccalaureate degree who desire to shorten the period of residence or to make up deficiencies.
3. Teachers in elementary or secondary schools wishing courses in some special branches.
4. Candidates for higher degrees.

REGISTRATION

No work will be credited towards graduate degrees unless, before the work is undertaken, it has been approved by the Committee in charge.

Detailed requirements for all undergraduate degrees conferred by Fordham University may be had on application to the Registrar. Students working for such degrees at this University will inform themselves of these requirements, as credit for courses not demanded for such degrees cannot receive credit by substitution. Registration for a course does not imply that such work will be accepted towards a degree.

Registration may be made by mail or in person. Candidates for degrees at this University are encouraged to register by mail and before the beginning of July. Blanks for this purpose may be obtained on application to the Registrar.

Students will not be admitted to classes without presenting an admission card to the Professor of each class.

Changes in courses will not be permitted after July 8. Such changes should not be made without notification (on blanks provided for this purpose) to the Registrar.

Students for undergraduate degrees who wish to receive credit for work done at other Colleges must present to the Registrar an official transcript of the work for which credit is asked.

CANDIDATES FOR DEGREES

At the Close of Summer Session

All students who are candidates for degrees at the end of the current session must have all credentials approved before the end of the second week.

Candidates for the graduate degrees must submit their theses for oral examination and their dissertations before the end of the fourth week.

Candidates for graduate degrees who have not complied with the Seminar Requirement during the Scholastic year will be required to do so during the Summer Session.

FEES

1.	University fee for all students	$5.00
2.	Tuition fee, per point	7.50

This course will include: (1) Practical exercises in introductory Spanish prose composition; (2) A thorough study of the Spanish idioms and idiomatic expressions most commonly used both in literature and in the spoken language; (3) Spanish dictations carefully planned to develop the aural aspect of the language; (4) Conversational drills; (5) Home and class readings.

EDWARD GALLEGO, B.A.

SPANISH 2.—Second Year College Spanish.

This course is designed to give a second year college student a working knowledge of both written and spoken Spanish; it will include: (1) Practical exercises in advanced Spanish Prose Composition; (2) Short talks by the instructor on some of the best Spanish writers of the present day; (3) Oral discussions on the various subjects studied; (4) A study of Spanish Prosody; (5) Home and class readings.

EDWARD GALLEGO, B.A.
Pharmacy 2. 2-3

SPANISH 3.—Conversational Spanish.

A course in conversational Spanish designed for teachers who wish to acquire greater facility and ease in this branch of their work as well as for students who desire to improve their expression and to prepare for graduate work where the lecture work is entirely in the Spanish vernacular.

BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.

ECONOMICS

ECON. 1.

Its relation to Ethics and Political Science. Method employed by the science. Schools: Liberal, Socialist, Catholic, Historical. Wealth, Value, Price. Production. Factors of Production: Nature, Labor, Capital. Exchange. Money. Money and Prices. Inflation and Contraction. Depreciation. Credit. Consumption of Wealth. Distribution of Wealth. Rent. Interest, Profits, Wages.

MORRIS DESCHEL, M.A.
Freshman Hall 2. 9-10

ECON. 2.

This course embraces a series of lectures on the following subjects:

1. Banking.—History. Kinds of banks in the United States. Their nature and functions.

2. Commerce.—Domestic and Foreign Trade. Causes and advantages of exchange. Mechanisms of exchange. Tariffs. Protection and Free Trade.

3. Transportation.—Railroads: Growth; Groups; Charges; Alleged evils. Interstate Commerce Commission. Government regulation. Government ownership.

4. Corporations.—Trusts. Advantages and disadvantages of larger corporations. The Trust Problem.

5. Government Revenue.—Sources. Taxation: kinds; incidence and shifting of taxes, principles of taxation. Public debts.

6. Insurance.—History. Nature and advantages. Theory. Kinds of insurance. Industrial insurance. Compensation laws.

MORRIS DESCHEL, M.A.
Freshman Hall 2. 10-11

ECON. 3.—Economic History of United States.

The division of the subject is as follows: Early settlements in the New World. Physical geography. Colonial times. The Colonial Policy of England. The Revolution and its economic causes. Financing of the Revolutionary War. Banking in the United States. The Westward Movement — its causes and effects. Commerce. Industries. Labor.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.
Collins Hall 18. 1-2

ITALIAN

ITALIAN 1.—Elementary Italian. The first volume of A. Costa's Grammar.

This course will be given for the benefit of:

(a) Beginners desiring to cover the essentials of Italian grammar.

(b) Pupils who have had a year of Italian and desire to review, with the purpose of establishing firmly the grammatical principles of the language.

(c) Those of Italian descent having a knowledge of an Italian dialect who desire to learn the language correctly.

ALESSANDRO AUSILI, B.A.
Administration Hall 4. 1-2

ITALIAN 2.

Conversation and reading of Modern Authors.

ALESSANDRO AUSILI, B.A.
Administration Hall 4. 2-3

EDUCATION

ED. 1.—Early Christian and Medieval Education.

Condition of the Roman world at the beginning of the Christian era. The spread of Christianity and the organization of Christian education. The new western world arising from the barbarian invasions. Influences working for progress. Military, industrial and school education in the Middle Ages.

REV. JOHN F. X. MURPHY, S.J.
Collins Hall 18. 9-10

ED. 2.—History of Education.

General survey, covering Primitive Oriental, Hebrew, Greek, Roman, Christian Education. Renaissance, reformation, realism, naturalism, psychological, scientific, sociological and modern tendencies.

Each system will be investigated with a view of ascertaining its effects on schools of to-day.

LEO I. KEARNEY, B.Sc.
Collins Hall 20. 9-10

ED. 3.—Supervision and Methods of Teaching Special Subjects in the Elementary Schools.

This course will investigate the principles of teaching the special subjects in the elementary schools. Systematic methods of supervision will be evolved.

STEPHEN F. BAYNE, M.A.
Collins Hall 19. 10-11

ED. 4.—Principles of Secondary Education.

This course will aim to present knowledge of the needs and aptitudes of youth, with the accompanying effects upon courses of study, general method, discipline, outside activities and related topics. It will aim to show further, that the guiding principles of secondary education should naturally be an outgrowth of study of the psychology of adolescence. The course should be of value to those who are interested in the special problems of secondary education.

MILO F. MCDONALD, PH.D.
Collins Hall 17. 11-12

ED. 5.—Educational Psychology.

The course considers original nature, instinctive behavior, individual differences, habit formation, memory, imagination, thinking. Problem of transfer of training, measuring result of achievement.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Jouin Hall 6. 10-11

ED. 6.—Principles of Education.

A study of the principles contributed to education by biology, physiology, sociology, psychology and religion, and the general application of these principles in the work of the teacher.

Jouin Hall 6. 10-11

ED. 9.—Educational Measurements 1.

This course will consider Intelligence Tests, both Individual and Group, their uses and limitations; Achievement Tests in Arithmetic, Reading, Spelling, Composition, Penmanship. Diagnostic and Prognostic applications of the Tests; Advantages and Limitations of uses of such tests.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Collins Hall 20. 1-2

ED. 10.—Educational Measurements 2.

This course will consider in a detailed manner the educational statistics of central tendencies, variability and correlation; the elements constituting the organization of standardized tests; the application of Intelligence, Achievement, Diagnostic and Prognostic Tests to secondary schools.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Collins Hall 20. 2-3

ED. 11.—Educational Administration in Elementary Schools.

A study of the organization of a school system and some of the major problems confronting administration and supervisions. Emphasis will be placed on administration in its relation to the work in the school and in the class-room. Topics will include the public and the schools, school buildings, types of schools, equipment, text-books, training of teachers, course of study, grading, comparative studies of schools, measurements of intelligence and achievement, supervision of study, analysis of study process, abstraction of instruction and rating of teachers.

STEPHEN F. BAYNE, M.A.
Collins Hall 19. 11-12

ED. 12.—Educational Administration in Secondary Schools.

This course will aim to present an analysis of the American high school. Included in it will be consideration of the general problem of high school organization with reference to building, equipment and teachers. Special problems of high school organization, such as the articulation of the high school with the elementary school; the relative advantages of the specialized and the composite high school; classification of pupils; program making; course guidance; scholarship; examinations and records will be considered.

MILO F. MCDONALD, PH.D.
Collins Hall 19. 1-2

ED. 13-14.—School and Class Management.

The philosophy of supervision; the school principal; his relations to the public, the parents, the teachers, the pupils; the school building, equipment, supplies, etc.; organization of curriculum; classification of pupils; the teaching process, discipline, truancy; habit formation and routine.

HENRY E. HEIN, PH.D.
Collins Hall 17. 9-11

ED. 15.—Psychology of Elementary School Branches.

This course will consider the dominant psychological elements involved in learning and teaching the subjects in the elementary school curriculum. Principles of Method peculiar to each will be evolved.

MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Jouin Hall 6. 11-12

ED. 16.—Methods of Teaching Christian Doctrine.

This course will deal with the matter of Christian doctrine that is the subject of instruction for children of elementary school age. It will also, in a lesser degree, contain hints and methods employed in this instruction.

REV. JOHN X. PYNE, S.J.
Collins Hall 18. 8-9

ED. 18-19.—Teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

This course presents the entire work of high school teachers of English. It includes books usually studied in secondary school courses, and gives general instruction in all class-room and extra class-room work. It gives full preparation for the New York City examinations for license as teacher of English.

Collins Hall 17. 1-3

ED. 20-21.—Teaching of History and Civics in Secondary Schools.

This course is devoted to a study of the general problems of history — teaching with special reference to the high school. It will consider the nature of history; its relation to other subjects, and its place in education; selection of subject-matter and its arrangement in courses of study; effective presentation of materials of instruction; judging text-books; collateral reading; testing results.

EUGENE A. COLLIGAN, M.A.
Collins Hall 18. 10-12

ED. 22-23.—Teaching of Mathematics in Secondary Schools.

Standard methods in teaching Algebra, Geometry and Trigonometry. Modern applications, such as interest, annuities, bond valuation, alignment, charts, graphic methods and efficiency devices will be considered.

SAMUEL WITHERS, M.A.
Jouin Hall A. 10-12

ED. 24-25.—Methods of Teaching French in High Schools.

This course will include a study of the New York State syllabus for this subject. The matter will be presented from the point of view of recent text-books, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background.

This course being given in English, it should appeal, not only to those students who are already possessed of a fairly good knowledge of French, but also to those who may wish to acquire a solid foundation for further studies.

RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D.,
Pharmacy 3. 1-3

ED. 26-27.—Methods of Teaching Latin in High Schools.

The course will include a study of the New York State Syllabus for this subject. The Beginner's Book, Caesar, Cicero, Virgil, the Aeneid, will be examined from a point of view of recent text-books, analysis, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background. Written reports will be required.

EDWARD J. KAVANAGH, M.A.
Collins Hall 21. 1-3

ED. 28-29.—High School Physics.

An intensive study of elementary physics, including mechanics, sound, light, heat, magnetism and electricity. Special arrangements will be made for students wishing to perform certain experiments.

WILLIAM T. SHIELDS, B.Sc.

ED. 30-31.—Methods of Teaching Pitman Stenography.

This is a course for present and prospective teachers. Class members will be required to prepare lesson plans on each "Principle" and present them in class for discussion and criticism. This course, together with a 30-hour course in Methods in Typewriting, fulfills certain eligibility requirements approved by the Board of Examiners.

KATHERINE P. CONLON, M.A.
Administration 3. 9-11

ED. 32.—Isaac Pitman Stenography.

Elementary Course: The course is planned to give a full knowledge of the principles underlying the theory together with considerable practice in their application.

KATHERINE P. CONLON, M.A.
Administration 3. 11-12

ED. 35.—Music Appreciation.

Pre-Bach music to the Moderns and Ultra Moderns. Complete course in Music understanding, covering the clavichord and harpsichord and pianoforte, as well as instruments of the symphony orchestra. It is designed to prepare teachers for the courses in this subject in Junior High and High Schools. No technical terms will be used, and it will also serve as a general cultural course for all those who wish to increase their capacity for enjoyment of one of the most important arts.

FRANKLIN G. DUNHAM, M.A.
Collins Auditorium. 2-3

ED. 36.—Methods of Teaching the Blind.

Among the topics considered in this course are the following: Reading and writing of revised Braille, prevention of blindness, conversation of vision classes, special methods and devices.

In this class demonstrations will be given by the pupils from the Catholic Institute for the Blind.

SISTER M. GERONIMA, O.S.D.
Jouin Hall 1. 9-10

ED. 37.—BUSINESS LAW I: Elements of Law.

Origin of Law. Its necessity in Business Life. Object of Law. Distinction between Unwritten and Written Law. Constituent Elements of Written and Unwritten Law.

Contracts.—Definition of Contract. Contract distinguished from mere agreement. Kinds of Contracts: Simple, Sealed, Express, Implied, Executed, and Executory. Unilateral and Bilateral Contracts distinguished. Contract Essentials elucidated. Sufficiency as against Adequacy of Consideration in a Contract. Competency of parties to a Contract. Void, Voidable, and Illegal Contracts. Assignment of Rights and Obligations under a Contract. Contracts required to be in writing under the Statute of Frauds. Effect of Fraud in a Contract. Contract of Guaranty and Surety distinguished. Summary of Essentials of Law of Sales. Construction and Interpretation of Contract. Methods of discharging Contract. Remedies for Breach. Statute of Limitations. Advantages of Arbitration Clause in a Contract. Conflict of Laws.

FRANK B. TREANOR, B.A., LL.B.
Jouin Hall 5. 9-10

ED. 37a.—BUSINESS LAW II: Insurance.

Definition and Origin. Essentials of the Contract. Marine, Fire, Life, Fidelity, Title, Credit, and Casualty Insurance. Definition and Exemplification of Insurable Interest. The Standard Insurance Policy and its Provisions considered. The Binder. Premiums. Effect of False Statement by Insured considered. Effect of Concealment on the Contract of Insurance. Standardized Clauses in various Policies considered. Estoppel and Waiver in Insurance.

FRANK B. TREANOR, B.A., LL.B.

ED. 39.—Accountancy.

Basis of Double Entry. Opening and Closing of Books. Recording Business Transactions. Preparation of Financial Statements. Division of Ledger, Controlling Accounts. Division of Journal, Columnar Development. Bank and Petty Cash Reconciliations. Principles of Internal Check. Accruals and other Closing Adjustments. Single Entry.

The Principles studied are demonstrated by the solution of problems adapted from practice and the maintenance of actual accounting records. The course is arranged to meet the requirements of the student who is unfamiliar with bookkeeping as well as the student who is a bookkeeper.

ED. 41.—Business English.

Overcoming defective habits of expression arising from environment. A study of the sentence as the unit of expression. Grammatical and rhetorical division of sentences. Rules for sentence construction. Selection and right use of words. Methods of developing vocabulary. Books and reading. The function of the Topic Sentence and the Sentence of Summary in paragraph development. The Business Letter in business life. Mechanics of the Business Letter. Adapting the Business Letter to the reader. Indispensable qualities aiming at securing action by the reader of the Business Letter. Avoiding stock phrases. Exercises in the correction of defects.

THOMAS A. SCANLAN, M.A.
Freshman Hall 1. 11-12

ED. 42-43.—Oral English I.

A course for teachers and others interested in speech standards, niceties of pronunciation, skill in reading and a working knowledge of phonetics and speech psychology. Special attention to the correction of personal voice and speech faults. Course should prove of special interest to teachers of English, of Speech Correction and those contemplating High School work in Oral English. Not a course in abstruse theory or in picture writing, but in the acquiring of oral skill through vocal and oral work.

ARTHUR C. MULLIGAN, M.A.
Jouin Hall 8. 1-3

ED. 44.—General Methods.

Types of Teaching, Drill, Induction, Deduction, Appreciation, Study Lesson; Project Problem; Aids in Learning Process; Motivation; Dramatization, Multiple Sense Appeal, Questioning, Organization of Lesson Plans, Training of Will, Education of Emotions.

LEO I. KEARNEY, B.A.
Jouin Hall 1. 1-2

ED. 47.—Teaching of Geography in Elementary Schools.

This course includes a study of the principle underlying the selection and organization of the subject matter of school geography and a consideration of courses in geography. Attention will be given to the readjustment of emphasis in this subject as shown to be necessary by the great war; and the nature and use of maps, graphs, diagrams, and other illustrative material of geography and the principles of geography will be considered.

WILLIAM RABENORT, PH.D.
Collins Hall 22. 9-10

ED. 48.—Teaching of Arithmetic in Elementary Schools.

This course treats of Modern Methods of Teaching Arithmetic in the Elementary Schools. In addition to methods of presenting the various topics of the course of study in arithmetic, special attention will be paid to drills, habit formation, standard tests and measurements, and the applications of arithmetic to modern business life.

STEPHEN F. BAYNE, M.A.
Collins Hall 19. 9-10

ED. 49.—Teaching of English in Elementary Schools.

The various phases of the English Course of Study (reading literature, memory work, composition, spelling, grammar) discussed with emphasis on underlying principles, methods of teaching, class-room procedure and devices, practical applications.

HENRY E. HEIN, PH.D.
Collins Hall 20. 11-12

ED. 50.—Teaching of History in Elementary Schools.

This course will consider the elementary school syllabus in history—its aims, its methods and its subject matter. The chief topics will be so studied as to give the teacher the wider range of knowledge requisite in guiding pupils to organize their ideas and to see causes and results.

JAMES L. TOBIN, M.A.
Collins Hall 20. 10-11

ED. 51-52.—Dramatics in the Schools.

A course in the theory and technique of dramatics with young folks. The work is designed to present the means by which dramatic values of oral English may be achieved. It will deal with the theory of educational dramatics, emotional expression of poetry, plays and pageantry. It is planned to make the course of equal value to teachers in elementary and high schools and to demonstrate how dramatics may be carried on successfully with the physical handicaps the average school imposes. Miss Brennan will take up the relation of Eurythmics, the dance and music to dramatic productions. The work will include the choosing, casting, rehearsing, mounting, costuming, lighting and mechanical operation of a play.

EUGENE B. GARTLAN, M.A.
HELEN A. BRENNAN.
Collins Auditorium. 10-12

ED. 53.—Physical Geography.

Jouin Hall 1. 8-9

ED. 54-55.—Physical Training in the Schools.

This course will investigate the underlying principles in the teaching of Physical Training in the Junior and Senior High Schools. The theory presented will be supplemented by practical class-room demonstrations.

MARIE DILLON, B.A.
Gymnasium. 1-3

ED. 56-57.—Speech Improvement and Correction of Speech Defects. Elementary Course.

A course designed to prepare teachers and supervisors to become specialists in the correction of stuttering, stammering, lisping and other functional speech disorders.

Theory: Classification of Speech Defects, Correction of Foreign Accent — Anatomy and Physiology of the Vocal Organs. The Central Nervous System—The Sympathetic Nervous System, Physiological Causes of Stammering and Other Speech Defects. Psychic Causes of Stammering — The Subjective and Objective Mind. General and Special Methods for Correcting Speech Defects. Phonetics and Speech Improvement. Speech for the Deaf. The Speech Problem in the Subnormal Child. Advice to Parents. Organization and Administration of a Speech Improvement Department.

Clinic: Intensive individual practice in diagnosis and treatment of children and adults who may apply for corrective treatment.

ARTHUR G. MULLIGAN, MUS.D.
Collins Hall 22. 1-3

ED. 57a-57b.—Speech Improvement and Correction of Speech Defects. Advanced Course.

This course devotes its time and emphasis to a more detailed and intensive consideration of the topics discussed in the elementary course. Special attention will be given to the fundamental problems of speech correction and the administration of a Speech Improvement department. Each student will have the opportunity of examining classes in the neighboring vacation schools. Visits to institutions where various types of speech defects may be observed and studied, will be part of the course. Specialists will be invited to present their views on different aspects and causes of speech disorders. Reports, resumés and clinical practice will be required. Open only to students who have completed the elementary course in Speech Improvement or its equivalent.

ARTHUR G. MULLIGAN, MUS.D.
St. John's Hall 1. 11-12

ED. 58.—Methods of Teaching Subnormal Children.

This course will consider the principles and practice applied to the teaching of the mentally deficient child.

Jouin Hall 4. 1-2

ED. 59.—Play and Recreation.

The course studies the nature of play from a theoretical and practical standpoint. The topics will include: Child nature, theories of play, age and sex difference, the playground movement, organization of the playground, athletic meets, parental co-operation. Students will be required to do special work, not over three hours weekly.

LEO I. KEARNEY, B.SC.

ED. 60.—Extra Class Activities.

The relation of extra activities to school life as an aid and as a means of introducing the pupil to education for leisure time will be studied. The correlation of these activities with the school curriculum and the relation of extra activities to the question of vocational guidance will be examined. Among the activities that will be considered are: athletics, with particular reference to the organization and management of competitions; the orchestra, the science club, the nature club, the reading club, the school newspaper, the color guard.

LEO I. KEARNEY, B.SC.
Jouin Hall 1. 10-11

ED. 61-62.—Theory and Principles of Gregg Shorthand.

ED. 63.—Methods of Teaching Gregg Shorthand.

These courses are offered in response to the increasing demand for teachers thoroughly trained in the principles of Gregg Shorthand. The Methods Course will enable those taking it to bring their instruction into harmony with the basic principles and practices of psychology and pedagogy. Special emphasis will be placed on the practices and teaching expedients that have proved most successful in actual class-room work.

The courses will be of particular interest to teachers preparing for the New York City High School and Promotion Examinations.

JOHN J. WHALEN, B.A.

Collins Hall 21. 9-11. 11-12

ED. 64-65.—Methods of Teaching Physical Education in the Schools.

This course will present methods and principles of physical training, and will give the student an opportunity to develop efficient methods by actual practice.

The work will include marching, corrective, educational, hygienic and mimetic exercises, and methods of teaching basketball, baseball, hockey, hurdling, and other games suitable for use in the high schools, with emphasis on the rules and technique of the game.

The second half of the period will be devoted to dancing, including rhythms, folk and classical dances, analysis and practice of technique and interpretation of technical terms. Assigned readings, reports.

MARIE DILLON, B.A.

60 hours. 4 points. 1-3

ED. 66.—Elementary Swimming: Women.

This course will include progressive developmental drills to give confidence and self-control in the water, and the ability to use the Australian crawl.

Monday and Thursday } 3-3.30
Tuesday and Friday }

MARIE DILLON, B.A.

Fee—$4.00—8 lessons.

ED. 67.—Intermediate and Advanced Swimming: Women.

An advanced course to develop technique and speed in swimming, as well as instruction in Red Cross life saving.

Monday and Thursday
Tuesday and Friday } 3.30-4

Fee—$4.00—8 lessons.

Note: Swimming Classes will be restricted to twenty students.

MARIE DILLON, B.A.

ED. 68.—Private Lessons—Swimming.

Private lessons will be given to students by special appointment.

Plunges.—For students who know how to swim, or who are learning and want practice, the pool will be reserved for plunges daily, under the constant supervision of an Instructor.

Note: Suits and towels furnished. 1-3

SCIENCE

SC. 1.—High School Physics.

An intensive study of elementary physics, including mechanics, sound, light, heat, magnetism and electricity. Special arrangements will be made for students wishing to perform certain experiments.

WILLIAM T. SHIELDS, B.Sc.

Fee—$25.00. Jouin Hall 20. 9-11

SC. 2.—General Science.

A lecture course considering the more important problems in physics, chemistry and biology.

PETER J. CONROY, PH.G., B.A.
WILLIAM P. HURLEY, B.Sc.

Fee—$30.00. WILLIAM T. SHIELDS, B.Sc.
Science Hall. 1-3

SC. 3.—Radio Telegraphy and Telephony.
History of Radio, Electricity and Magnetism, Direct and Alternating currents, simple cells, primary cells, generators and alternators.

Oscillating and Amplifying vacuum tubes.—A demonstrative course covering the theory and application of the modern vacuum tubes used in radio telephony and telegraphy.
Fee—$10.00. JOHN VEGESSY.
Science Hall. 1-2

SC. 4.—Biology I.
This course includes the fundamental principles of biology and a detailed study of the morphology, physiology, ecology, evolution, classification of plants and economic botany. The laboratory work required of the students will embrace all the experiments usually demanded in Secondary School courses.
Fee—$30.00. Jouin Hall 26. 1-3

SC. 5.—Biology II.
The Course will be in Zoölogy, and will study—the composition of the animal body and its organs in terms of their vital units, the cells;—the chromosomes, the basis of heredity;—the origin and the maturation of the germ-cells, fertilization, cleavage, and differentiation of tissues;—the origin of the individual and the developmental process from the oosperm to the adult. Practice in Micro-technique will be required.
Fee—$30.00. REV. JOSEPH ASSMUTH, S.J.

SC. 6.—Inorganic Chemistry 1.
The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the principles of general chemistry. The work embraces a consideration of the fundamental theories underlying the science, the laws involved in chemical operations, methods and practice of inorganic preparations, with a rather detailed discussion of the non-metallic elements.

Text, Holmes' General Chemistry; Laboratory Manual, Holmes'.

REV. GEORGE F. STROHAVER, S.J., AND ASSISTANTS.
Science Hall. Lecture, 9-10. Laboratory, 10-12
Fee—$50.00.

SC. 7.—Inorganic Chemistry 2.

This course embraces a more extended discussion of certain of the chemical laws and theories, with especial emphasis upon their applications to physical, thermal, metallurgical, actinic and electrolytical operations. The metallic elements and their compounds are treated at length. Mendelejeff's periodic classification with its important relations to chemical phenomena is stressed.

REV. GEORGE F. STROHAVER, S.J., AND ASSISTANTS.
Science Hall. Lecture, 11-12. Laboratory, 9-11
Fee—$50.00.

SC. 8.—Qualitative Organic Analysis.

This course is intended to follow the usual course of synthetic organic preparations, and comprises a systematic method for the identification of organic compounds. Though rather recently introduced into the curriculum, qualitative organic analysis is now recognized to be of fundamental importance in the training of the chemist in the organic field.
Fee—$60.00.

SC. 9.—Quantitative Organic Chemistry.

Like quantitative inorganic chemistry, this course is mostly laboratory work. It includes nitrogen determinations by the method of Kjeldahl and Dumas, also determinations of Carbon, Hydrogen, Oxygen, Sulphur, the Halogens, etc., by the methods of Liebig and Carius. Individual instruction is given on the theoretical portion as the work progresses.

Time.—About 240 hours of laboratory work.
Fee—$60.00.

SC. 10.—Organic Chemistry.

A brief description of the aliphatic and aromatic compounds is undertaken, and a short time is spent on the carbohydrates, fats and proteins. The chemical structure of these food materials is briefly discussed as well as that of some of the ordinary food adulterants.

It is not necessary for the student to have completed qualitative analysis. 6 points.

Lecture, 5 hrs. per week; laboratory, 10 hrs. per week.

Text, Perkins' and Kipping's.

Laboratory Manual, Fordham University Manual of Organic Chemistry.
Fee—$60.00.

SC. 11.—Physiological Chemistry.

This course deals mainly with the chemistry of normal vital processes occurring in the animal body, especially human, though some emphasis is placed upon the pathological and otherwise abnormal chemical activities. Though primarily a lecture course, this subject is sometimes supplemented by laboratory work.

For hours, confer Head of Department.

SC. 12.—Physics 1.

The topics of the lectures are rectilinear motion, curvilinear motion, wave motion, forces with their application to simple machines.

The laboratory work includes the study and use of the vernier, micrometer, planimeter, pherometer, cathetometer, the resolution and composition of forces, the laws of torsion and the determination of the acceleration due to gravity.

WILLIAM P. HURLEY, B.Sc.

Science Hall. Lecture, 9-10. Laboratory, 10-12
Fee—$50.00.

SC. 13.—Physics 2.

The subjects of the lectures in this course are the mechanics of heat, light, magnetism and electricity.

The laboratory work includes the study and use of the Chemical Balance, Jolly and Mohr-Wesphal Balance, the determination of specific heat, latent heat, expansion coefficients, mechanical equivalent of heat, velocity of sound, laws of vibrating strings, wave length of various notes, the study of lenses and optical instruments, spectrometry, photometry, wave length by means of the diffraction grating, study of direct and alternating currents, resistance of conductors, capacity of condensers, motors and generators. In the laboratory work, the student must study thoroughly the arrangement of his apparatus in order that the best possible results may be obtained. He must make a written report in which he must explain the method followed and the theory underlying the work in hand. All calculations must be shown and average deviations, fractional deviations, and percentage deviations determined. Results, together with the probable sources of error, must be neatly tabulated. Graphs and diagrams are required.

REV. WILLIAM G. LOGUE, S.J.
JOHN J. O'CONNOR, M.A.

Science Hall. Lecture, 11-12. Laboratory, 9-11

SC. 14.—Physiology.

The following subjects will be treated:

Muscle and Nerve.—Voluntary and Involuntary muscle and their reaction to mechanical, thermal, chemical and electrical stimulation, etc. Ciliary Movement.

Hæmodynamics.—The blood; mechanics of the circulation; the phenomena of the heart-beat; the pulse; the innervation of the heart and the blood vessels. Lymph—Formation; composition, etc. Effects of respiration on circulation.

Respiratory System.—Chemistry of respiration; respiratory movements and their regulation; tissue respiration.

Digestive System.—Digestion in the mouth, the stomach and the intestines. Metabolism. Animal Heat. Food and Diet. The Endocrine Glands.

Nervous System.—The neuron; the spinal cord; reflex action; spinal shock. The brain. The Autonomic System. Sensation and Organs of Special Sense. Special emphasis will be placed upon this branch of the course as a preparation for the course in Psychology.

CREDIT FOR COURSES

UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED, ALL THIRTY-HOUR COURSES CARRY TWO POINTS CREDIT; SIXTY-HOUR COURSES, FOUR POINTS CREDIT.

CLASSROOM NUMBERS PRECEDED BY W. INDICATE THAT THE COURSE IS GIVEN IN THE UNIVERSITY ROOMS, WOOLWORTH BUILDING: NUMBERS PRECEDED BY F. INDICATE THAT THE COURSE IS GIVEN AT THE UNIVERSITY, FORDHAM, THE BRONX.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Candidates for admission must present evidence of their graduation with diploma from a four-year high school course in a school accredited by the New York State Regents. They must also submit a detailed record of their high school work. This record must represent at least 15 units distributed over four full years, and must be accompanied by a certification by the principal that the student is qualified for higher studies. It is expected that such certification will not be given to those who have received a grade of less than 75% in their yast year of high school. Students must also furnish certificates of good moral character, and of honorable withdrawal from the school they last attended.

A unit of credit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work.

The credits offered for entrance must include the following subjects:

For A.B. Course		For B.S. Course
Latin	3 or 4 units	English	3 or 4 units
English	3 or 4 units	Algebra	2 or 1 unit
Algebra	2 or 1 unit	(at least through quadratics)
(at least through quadratics)		Plane Geometry	1 unit
Plane Geometry	1 unit	Trigonometry	½ unit
Trigonometry	½ unit	Modern Language	2 or 3 units
Modern Language	2 or 3 units	History	1 unit
History	1 unit

The remaining units may be made up from any standard high school subjects except commercial and manual training courses.

Applicants may be admitted without Trigonometry, in which case they will be required to take this subject, as an extra course, in addition to the other requirements.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING.

A candidate for admission to advanced standing from other institutions of collegiate rank must present, first, a catalogue of the college from which he comes, and, second, an official certificate showing his entrance credits at that institution and his college record in each subject taken.

He must have completed creditably at least one entire year in a school of collegiate grade.

He must have taken the courses in Latin, (Greek), English and Philosophy as prescribed in the curriculum, and also Trigonometry, if not a part of his high school course. For other subjects an equivalent may be accepted at the discretion of the Board of Admissions.

No one will be admitted under any circumstances to a standing higher than that represented by the completion of the junior year.

ELECTIVES

30 points required. Students before taking up the electives should submit to the Dean a complete list of subjects they intend to follow under this head.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science must take six additional points in electives.

General Requirements

1. Prompt, regular and full attendance at lectures and public seminars throughout the academic year.

2. Registration in 1925 before the first of October.

3. Payment in advance of registration and tuition fees.

4. Some students, while formally applying at the office of the Extension School in the Woolworth Building, may pursue some of their courses at the University, the Bronx, or vice versa. Such students will present to the Assistant to the Dean, in the place where application has been made for their degree, a complete, approved list of the courses followed in the other branch of the University.

5. Attendance at lectures, classes and other functions will be marked rigidly from the date of registration.

FEES AND EXPENSES

All fees are payable in advance. Fees are in no case refunded, but students who have paid tuition and have become unable, through sickness or any other unavoidable cause, to be present will be credited with the amount in any subsequent session which they may attend.

FEES

1. University fee for all students 5.00
2. Tuition fee, per point 7.50
3. Religious—each thirty-hour course 10.00
4. Diplomas:
   Bachelor's 10.00
5. Special fee for Science Courses as stated in the outline under the particular department.

MATHEMATICS

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts in this College in Fordham University are required to offer two courses in mathematics; candidates for the Bachelor of Science must offer three courses in mathematics. Should one of the courses enumerated below have been offered as part of the entrance requirements, such course will not receive college credit.

MATH. 1.—Algebra, Intermediate Course.

Solution of the quadratic equation and quadratic systems. Graphs. Cube root. Binomial surds. Synthetic division. Arithmetical and geometrical series, Logarithms.

MATH. 11.—Solid Geometry.

Simple models constructed and studied. Theorems and problems, with practical applications.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. L. 2. ADOLPHUS LIPPE, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

MATH. 12.—Plane Trigonometry.

Trigonometric functions. Formulæ Solution of the plane triangle. Trigonometric equations and identities. Problems.

Saturday, 9–10.40, W. 2860. WILLIAM SHIELDS, B.Sc.
First Semester.

MATH. 21-22.—College Algebra.

Theory of equations. Cardans' Solutions. The liquadratic, Horner's method. Series. Partial fractions. Complex numbers. De Moivre's theorem. Permutations and combinations. Determinants. Binomial theorem.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 2860. WILLIAM SHIELDS, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

MATH. 31.—Analytic Geometry.

Systems of co-ordinates. Loci and equations. The conic sections. The general quadratic and loci.

Saturday, 9–10.40, W. 2860. WILLIAM SHIELDS, B.Sc.
Second Semester.

MATH. 32.—Spherical Trigonometry and Co-ordinate Geometry of Three Dimensions.

Solution of the spherical triangle. Problems. Surfaces, volumes and their equations.

(Given 1926-1927.)

MATH. 41.—Differential Calculus. Differentiation.

Geometrical and physical applications of the derivatur. Problem of rates. Maxima and minima. Curvature. Partial differentiation.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 2860. JOHN J. O'CONNOR, M.A.
First Semester.

MATH. 42.—Integral Calculus.

Integration of standard forms. Constant of integration. The definite integral. Integration applied to curves, areas and volumes.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 772. WILLIAM SCHWARZ, PH.D.
First and Second Semester.

MATH. 51.—Calculus.

Continuations of Courses 41 and 42. Taylor's Series. Curve tracing. Complex variable. Double and triple integration.

MATH. 52.—Differential Equations.

This course is an introduction to the more elementary portions of the theory of ordinary differential equations of the first and second orders with applications to problems in geometry, mechanics, physics and chemistry.

N. B.—Only those students will be allowed to take course 52 who have successfully completed all the preceding courses.

MATH. 53.—Analytical Mechanics with Elementary Introduction to Vector's Algebra.

Vector addition and multiplication Differentiation. Different kinds of motion. Equations of the more common forms of motion. Force. Central forces. Theory of moments. Moment of inertia. Problems.

N. B.—Prerequisite, Courses 41-42.—It is desirable that students should have completed Courses 51 and 52 before taking this course.

MATH. 61.—Projective Geometry.

Simple synthetic treatment—(as above)—. The course is introductory and deals with the projective properties of fundamental forms of the first and second orders.

Monday, 4–6, W. 772. WILLIAM SCHWARZ, PH.D.

Second Semester.

MATH. 62.—History of Mathematics.

(Given 1926-1927.)

MATH. 71.—Teaching of Mathematics in Secondary Schools.

(This course is same as Ed. 26-27.)

MATH 72.—This course is an intensive review of the subjects of Algebra. Geometry, both plane and solid, Trigonometry, both plane and spherical, is intended primarily for students who, having completed courses 11 to 51, inclusive, are planning to take up the teaching of mathematics in Secondary Schools. Students who are preparing to take examinations in these courses will find Course 72 helpful. Methods of presenting the various subjects will be considered; also methods of attacking and solving problems. Problem work will feature the course throughout.

Monday, 4–6, W. 2860. JOHN J. O'CONNOR, M.A.

First and Second Semester.

HISTORY

All candidates for a degree in this College must acquire twelve points in history: of these four points must be in the period of Ancient, four in the period of Medieval and four in the period of Modern History. Students following the History courses in their electives should include History 1, The Science and Method of History.

HIST. 120.—Science and Method of History.

The nature, function and dignity of History; Historical sources and criteria. The various theories of philosophies advanced to explain the unity of History. Pitfalls of History of all the sciences, the one most exposed to abuse for the purpose of propaganda; the chief phases of religious and racial bias in the historical writings of recent centuries. Catholic presentation of History the most objective. The Modern States of Historical inquiry.

Friday, 4–6, W. 769. Rev. Demetrius B. Zema, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 2-3.—Christian Antiquity.

After a brief survey of the condition of the ancient pagan world at the coming of Christ, together with a study of the origin, nature and effects of paganism, this course concerns itself with the beginnings of Christianity, its long conflict with paganism, the causes making for its spread, in spite of overwhelming odds, and the benefits accruing to the world by its triumph. The reasons for the downfall of the Roman Empire and the uprearing of the new medieval and modern civilization upon its ruins are touched upon. The organization of the Early Church and the conversion of the barbarians also form topics of study.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 775. Rev. Demetrius B. Zema, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 4-5.—Early Middle Ages.

This course covers cursorily the destruction of the ancient civilization at the hands of the northern barbarians and in greater detail the rebuilding of the European world through the conversion of the barbarians. The origin, nature and beneficent effects of Monasticism; the beginnings of education, the revival of art and learning, and the stabilization of social order under the uplifting influence of the Church, together with the crippling effects upon the reviving civilization of Norse raids. Moslem invasions and the tyranny of the brutal kings are particularly dwelt upon.

Monday, 4–6, W. 775. REV. DEMETRIUS B. ZEMA, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 6.—The Pre-Reformation Period.

The Avignon Period of the Papacy. Great Western Schism. Hundred Years' War. War of the Roses. Pseudo Conciliar Movement. The Inquisition. The Renaissance. Consolidation of European Monarchies. Europe and the Turks.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 784. REV. DEMETRIUS B. ZEMA, S.J.
First Semester.

HIST. 7.—The Protestant Reformation.

The Reformation in Germany and in Switzerland. In Norway, Denmark and Sweden. In England and Scotland.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 784. REV. CHARLES J. DEANE, S.J.
Second Semester.

HIST. 8.—The Post Reformation.

Effects of the Protestant Reformation. Counter Reformation. New Religious Orders. Huguenot Wars in France. Massacre of St. Bartholomew's Day. Thirty Years' War. Puritan Revolution in England. Age of Louis the XIV.

(Given 1926-1927.)

HIST. 9-10.—The History of Modern Europe.

The revolution in France, Portugal, Spain, Italy, Germany and Austria. Rise of Germany and Italy. New Eastern and Far Eastern Questions. Present Problems.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 769. EUGENE A. COLLIGAN, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

HIST. 110.—History of the United States from 1789–1829.

This course will trace the leading political, constitutional and social events from the organization of the national government to the inauguration of Jackson.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2860. Owen A. Haley, Ph.D.

First Semester.

HIST. 111.—The United States, 1829–1860.

This course will be a consideration of the leading political and constitutional events from the rise of the Jacksonian Democracy to the eve of the Civil War. Lectures, assigned readings, and reports on special topics.

Thursday, 4–6, F. 18. Owen A. Haley, Ph.D.

First Semester.

HIST. 112.—The Civil War and Reconstruction, 1860–1876.

This course will deal with the causes of secession, the military, economic and constitutional problems which arose during the War, and the political and economic reconstruction of the South after 1865.

Thursday, 4–6, F. 18. Owen A. Haley, Ph.D.

Second Semester.

HIST. 14.—The United States, 1876–1925.

The course presents an intensive study of the leading political and economic problems of the period. Readings will be assigned and reports required.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2860. Owen A. Haley, Ph.D.

Second Semester.

ENGLISH

For the Bachelor's degree 16 points are required in English. Of these only 6 points are for elected courses: Poetics, Literary Criticism, History of Literature A and B and Rhetoric are prescribed subjects. Students are advised that on notification they may have to include among their electives the course entitled "Theory of Expression."

ENG. 1.—Poetics.

The nature and province of Poetry. The emotional element in Poetry. The function of the imagination. The intellectual element, and points of form. An examination of Epic, Lyric and Dramatic Poetry. General laws of versification, including the standard forms of verse, the ode, the sonnet, the Spenserian stanza, etc. The French forms of verse, the triolet, the rondeau, etc.

Monday, 4–6, W. 770. REV. ROBERT GIBSON, M.A.
First Semester.

Saturday, 12–12.50, W. 772.
CHRISTOPHER R. STAPLETON, PH.D.
First and Second Semester.

ENG. 196.—English Literary Criticism.

The course in Literary Criticism presents material in English Literature from 1700 upon which sound principles of criticism may be built, and which illustrate the principles. The principles are drawn from the obvious practice of the writers' accepted standing, both poets and prose writers, and are made the subject rather of investigation than of announcement; the tentative attitude is encouraged. The students are directed more to the actual text and less to comment and annotation. Power is sought instead of immediate, finished, verbal facility in opinion. The purpose of the course is to put it in the grasp of the students to continue the study of modern authors along lines similar to those suggested in the course. Application is made to modern American poetry and the short story. The student is expected to show some mastery of one accredited author as well as a sense of general critical principle.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 770. CHRISTOPHER R. STAPLETON, PH.D.
Second Semester.

ENG. 3.—English Literature A.

History of English literature from Beowulf to the Restoration. The development of prose and poetry. The growing interest in the drama. Shakespeare. Poetic and dramatic study and analysis of Macbeth, As You Like It, The Tempest.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 770. JESSE HALEY, PH.D.
First Semester.

ENG. 4.—English Literature B.

History of English literature from the Restoration to the present time. The classical, romantic and realistic schools. The development of the novel and the essay. Reading and study of the prose writers of the XVIIIth and XIXth centuries. Study and application of the principles of style and literary criticism. Written exercises in prose composition.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 770. Jesse Haley, Ph.D.
Second Semester, or
Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 772.

ENG. 5.—Principles of Rhetoric and Oratory.

The theory of oratory. Analysis of oratorical masterpieces, historical study of the great orators. The preparation of briefs and the composition of speeches.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 770. Rev. Joseph A. Murphy, Ph.D.
First Semester.

ENG. 6.—American Literature.

History of American Literature from 1607 to the present time. A critical appreciation of Literary development in the Colonial Revolutionary and National periods of our History. American contributions to literature. Theories of the short story. Present-day tendencies in prose and poetry. Reading and study of the leading American writers.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 770. Miss Jane A. Carney, Ph.D.
Second Semester.

ENG. 151.—Greek Poetry. (In English.)

A study in English of the growth and development of classical Greek poetry. This course aims, through the medium of the best translations, to impart to those who do not know Greek a scholarly acquaintance with the masterpieces of ancient Greek epic, lyric and pastoral poetry — from Homer to Theocritus.

Friday, 4–6, W. 776. Rev. Augustus M. Fremgen, S.J.
Second Semester.

ENG. 150.—The Attic Drama.

A course of lectures on the classical Greek drama illustrated by readings from the best English translations. The lectures comprise: the Origin and Development of Attic Tragedy; Aeschylus; Sophocles; Euripides; The Old Comedy; Aristophanes; The New Comedy; Menander; Influence of the Ancient upon Modern Drama: Modern Presentation of Greek Plays.

Friday, 4–6, W. 776. REV. AUGUSTUS M. FREMGEN, S.J.
First Semester.

ENG. 9.—Theory of Expression.

This course deals with the materials of expression in its various aspects. It aims to familiarize the student with the technique of gathering, weighing, organizing, and expressing material. Special attention will be given to the various forms of exposition. Theme assignments and practice writing in class. Those preparing theses will find this course helpful.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 770. MISS JANE A. CARNEY, PH.D.
First Semester.

ENG. 182-183.—Technique of the One-Act Play.

Monday, 4–6, W. 776.
First and Second Semester.

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 772. REV. EDWARD B. BUNN, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

ENG. 200-201.—Oral English I.

A course for teachers and others interested in speech standards, niceties of pronunciation, skill in reading and a working knowledge of phonetics and speech psychology. Special attention to the correction of personal voice and speech faults. Course should prove of special interest to teachers of English, of Speech Correction and those contemplating High School work in Oral English. Not a course in abstruse theory or in picture writing, but in the acquiring of oral skill through vocal and oral work.

Monday, 4–6, F. 18.
First and Second Semester, or

Friday, 4–6, W. 2858. JOHN B. SHAMUS, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

ENG. 202-203.—Oral English II.

A continuation of the work of Oral English I. The development of skill in interpretative reading, fluency in public speaking and the acquiring of conscious speech power are the objectives. Formal drill in the various vocal qualities, exercises for modulative finesse and ease, delivering of the more important speech forms and a complete study of the psychology of the audience are some of the features of the work.

Tuesday, 4–6, F. 19. John B. Shamus, B.A.
First and Second Semester.

ENG. 17.—Contemporary Literature in Great Britain and Ireland.

A study of the literature and literary movements in Great Britain and Ireland since 1914 to their origins and the principal writers.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 772. Joseph F. Cashman, Ph.D.
Second Semester.

ENG. 194.—Contemporary American Literature.

A survey of the Catholic writers in English and American literature, poets, essayists, novelists, historians — from the Elizabethan times to the present, with special attention to recent writers, as Francis Thompson, Chesterton, Belloc.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 772. Joseph F. Cashman, Ph.D.
First Semester.

MODERN LANGUAGE

Students desirous to begin a second Modern Language, one distinct from the language required, may do so, incorporating this work in their electives, subject to the permission and on the conditions laid down by the Board after consultation.

FRENCH a

The course comprises the rudiments of grammar, syntax and the inflection of the verbs; special attention is given to correct pronunciation.

Friday, 4–6, W. 769. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.
First Semester.

FRENCH b

The entire syntax and irregular verbs will be covered during this course. Reading of standard modern authors; particular attention is given to conversational idioms. French will be the language of the greater part of this course.

Monday, 4–6, W. 783. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.
Second Semester.

FRENCH c

This course will review the work already done in French; will stress composition in idiomatic language and proper forms. French will be the language of the greater part of this course.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 784. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.
First Semester.

FRENCH I.

This course will include: (1) Practical exercises in introductory French prose composition; (2) A thorough study of the French idioms and idiomatic expressions most commonly used, both in literature and in the spoken language; (3) French dictations carefully planned to develop the aural aspect of the language; (4) Conversational drills; (5) Home and class readings; (6) Reports.
Text-books:

Francois' Alternate Exercises for Introductory French Prose Composition; Hennequin's Practical Lessons in Idiomatic French; Molière: Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme; Augier: Le Gendre de M. Poirier; Racine: Esther Athalie.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 784. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.

Second Semester.

FRENCH II.

This course is designed to give a second year college student a working knowledge of both written and spoken French; it will include: (1) Practical exercises in advanced French Prose Composition; (2) Short talks by the instructor on some of the best French writers of the present day; (3) Oral discussions on the various subjects studied; (4) A study of French Prosody; (5) Home and class readings.

Text-books:

Francois: Advanced French Prose Composition; La Fontaine: Fifty Selected Fables; Molière: Le Misanthrope; Corneille: Le Cid.

FRENCH 3.—Conversational French.

A course in conversational French designed for teachers who wish to acquire greater facility and ease in this branch of their work as well as for students who desire to improve their expression and to prepare for graduate work where the lecture work is entirely in the French vernacular.

Monday, 4–6, W. 783. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.

First Semester.

GAELIC

GAELIC 1.

Sounds, Declensions, Conjugations of the regular verbs and of the verb "to be."

Texts: Aids to Irish Composition, The Christian Brothers. Irish Grammar, The Christian Brothers. Seanchus, Easy stories and sketches. Aids to the Pronunciation of Irish, The Christian Brothers. Cainnt nan Daoine, Part I, Rev. P. O'Leary, for memory work and conversation.

(Given 1926-1927.)

GAELIC 2.

Detailed study of all irregular verbs. The verb "is" and its uses. Syntax and Idioms. Composition and Conversation.

Texts: Aids to Irish Composition — completed. Introduction to Studies in Modern Irish, O'Nolan — completed. Seanda, Rev. P. O'Leary — for reading and conversation. Grammar of Irish, The Christian Brothers. Aids to the Pronunciation of Irish, The Christian Brothers.

Saturday, 1.40–2.30, W. 784. EDWARD J. KAVANAGH, M.A. First and Second Semester.

ITALIAN a.—Elementary Italian. The first volume of A. Costa's Grammar.

This course will be given for the benefit of:

(a) Beginners desiring to cover the essentials of Italian grammar.

(b) Pupils who have had a year of Italian and desire to review, with the purpose of establishing firmly the grammatical principles of the language.

(c) Those of Italian descent having a knowledge of an Italian dialect who desire to learn the language correctly.

Wednesday, 6-8, W. 784. FRANCIS PRISTERA, PH.D.

ITALIAN b.

Conversation and reading of Modern Authors.

Thursday, 6–8, W. 784. FRANCIS PRISTERA, PH.D.

SPANISH

SPANISH a.

De Vitis Grammar: Articles, gender, auxiliary verbs, regular conjugations, possessive, interrogative, demonstrative and relative adjectives and pronouns.

Composition: Exercises from De Vitis Grammar and Gil Blas.

Literature: Gil Blas de Santillana, by Padre Isla. (Holt & Co.)

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 768. LUIS SHERWELL, M.A. First Semester.

SPANISH b.

Idiomatic expressions, irregular and radical changing verbs, numbers, dates, time of day, subjunctive mood.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 768. LUIS SHERWELL, M.A.
Second Semester.

SPANISH c.

De Vitis Grammar: Review of the subjunctive mood, imperative tense, sequence, conditions, passive voice, impersonal verbs, idiomatic verbs, present participle, past participle, the infinitive, reflexive verbs, use of prepositions, commercial correspondence and idioms.

Composition: Exercises based on De Vitis Grammar, original letter writing.

Literature: Gil Blas de Santillana, by Padre Isla. (Holt & Co.)

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2858. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.
Second Semester.

SPANISH 1.—First Year College Spanish.

This course will include: (1) Practical exercises in introductory Spanish prose composition; (2) A thorough study of the Spanish idioms and idomatic expressions most commonly used, both in literature and in the spoken language; (3) Spanish dictations carefully planned to develop the aural aspect of the language; (4) Conversational drills; (5) Home and class readings.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 768. LUIS SHERWELL, M.A.
First Semester.

SPANISH 2.—Second Year College Spanish.

This course is designed to give a second year college student a working knowledge of both written and spoken Spanish; it will include: (1) Practical exercises in advanced Spanish Prose Composition; (2) Short talks by the instructor on some of the best Spanish writers of the present day; (3) Oral discussions on the various subjects studied; (4) A study of Spanish Prosody; (5) Home and class readings.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 768. LUIS SHERWELL, M.A.
Second Semester.

SPANISH 3.—Conversational Spanish.

A course in conversational Spanish designed for teachers who wish to acquire greater facility and ease in this branch of their work as well as for students who desire to improve their expression and to prepare for graduate work where the lecture work is entirely in the Spanish vernacular.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 2858. BASILE G. D'OUAKIL, B.A.
First Semester.

LATIN

16 points required. (3 years of High School work in this subject is a prerequisite.) Should a student wish to substitute other courses in Latin for those enumerated below permission for this must be obtained from the Dean in writing. Theme work will be required in all courses in Latin.

Latin is not required for the degree of Bachelor of Science. It may be taken, however, as an elective.

LAT. 1.—Horace: Ars Poetica and Selected Satires.

Study of colloquial Latin. Horace's theories of poetic composition and criticism. Exercises in prose and verse composition.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 768. FRANCIS PRISTERA, PH.D.
First Semester.

LAT. 2.—Horace: Satires.

Reading and interpretation. Study of the development and the growth of the satire in Latin Literature.

Monday, 4–6, F. 19. REV. HUGO A. GAYNOR, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

Monday, 4–6, W. 768. FRANCIS PRISTERA, PH.D.

Second Semester.

GREEK

BEGINNER'S GREEK.

This course is intended for students who wish to acquire a good working knowledge of the elements of Greek in a comparatively short time; i.e., for mature beginners, and for students who have previously had some Greek and who wish to refresh their knowledge.

Carefully graded selections from a fairly wide range of authors will be studied, e.g., numerous single lines and proverbs from Menander; single lines and aphorisms from the tragedians, Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides; easy passages from Xenephon's Memorabilia; selected fables of Aesop; easy selections from Herodotus; short passages from the New Testament. In the later stages of the course a considerable portion of Plato's Lysis, and of his Protagoras will be read. Text-book, "The First Year of Greek."

Friday, 4–6, W. 770. EDWARD J. KAVANAGH, M.A.
First and Second Semesters.

PHILOSOPHY

PHIL. 1.—Dialectics or Formal Logic.

Philosophy: definition, division. Minor logic, dialectics. Three operations of the mind.

Idea. Division of ideas. Transcendental and non-transcendental universals. The heads of predicables. The Porphyrian tree. Division of terms. Analogy. Supposition of terms. Judgment. Reasoning and argumentation. The syllogism: figures, modes, kinds, laws. Fallacies. (Sciences, their division and subordination.)

Monday, 4–6, W. 2858.
First Semester, and
Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 2858.

REV. MICHAEL J. MAHONY, S.J.
First Semester.

PHIL. 2.—Epistemology I. Prerequisite, Phil. 1.

Truth: Ontological, logical and moral. Falsity. Logical truth and falsity completely found in the judgment only. General and partial causes of error. States of the mind in relation to truth. Ignorance. Doubt. Suspicion. Opinion. Certitude. Metaphysical, physical and moral certitude: Natural and philosophical certitude. Universal and partial scepticism. Descartes' Methodic Doubt.

Monday, 4–6, W. 2858.
Second Semester, and
Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 2858.
REV. MICHAEL J. MAHONY, S.J.
Second Semester.

PHIL. 3.—COSMOLOGY I. The World. Prerequisite, Phil. 2.

Characteristics. Origin: Pantheism, Materialism, Creation, possibility of, fact of. Constitution of Bodies: Mechanism, Dynamism, Dynamic-Atomism, Hylomorphism.

Wednesday, 4–6, W. 779.
First Semester, or
Friday, 4–6, F. 17.
First Semester, or
Saturday, 12.50–1.40, W. 780. REV. JOHN X. PYNE, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

PHIL. 4.—ONTOLOGY I. Ontology or General Metaphysics. Prerequisite, Phil. 3.

General Ontology.

1. Basis and defense of a sound system of Metaphysics against the attacks of Agnosticism. The abstract notion of being — its psychological origin and the characteristic precision of which it is the resultant. The contraction of the notion of being. Three questions and their answers by Scotus, Cajetan and Suarez. Is the concept of being really transcendental? Is the concept of being in relation to its inferiors univocal or analogous? Is the objective concept of being one or multiple? The practical bearing of the doctrine of the analogy of being in the defense of Theism against Pantheism and Atheism.

2. General notion of potency and act. Essence and existence as potency and act. An age-old controversy—the distinction between essence and existence. The possibles in their formal nature. False doctrines on the origin of possibility. Occam and Descartes. The Scholastic solution. The Divine Essence as the ultimate extrinsic source of possibility.

3. The Transcendental Attributes of being. The Unity of being. The Truth of being. The Goodness of being. Evil, its definition and causes.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 779.
First Semester, or

Friday, 4–6, F. 17.
Second Semester, or

Saturday, 12.50–1.40, W. 780. REV. JOHN X. PYNE, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

PHIL. 5.—Fundamental Psychology (Life in General).

Life; defined, its grades, origin. The principle of life in the plant and the brute animal. Sensation. The external and internal senses. The sensitive appetite. The passions.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 769. REV. JOSEPH A. MURPHY, S.J.
First Semester.

PHIL. 6.—Rational Psychology. Prerequisite, Phil. 5.

The human soul; one, abiding, substantial principle of life in man. Its simplicity, spirituality and immortality. Intellectual life. Rational appetency.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 769. REV. JOSEPH A. MURPHY, S.J.
Second Semester.

PHIL. 7.—Ethical Principles. Prerequisite, Phil. 6.

Ethics; its nature, object, necessity. Beatitude. Morality of volitional acts. The determinants of morality. The eternal law. The natural law.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 768.
First Semester, or

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 784. REV. THOMAS J. BARRETT, S.J.
First Semester.

PHIL. 8.—Individual Ethics. Prerequisite, Phil. 7.

Rights and duties. Duties to God; internal and external worship, rationalism, indifferentism. Suicide, killing, lying. Right of ownership; socialism. Contracts: Rights of disposing of property by will. Trade Unions. Strikes.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 768.
Second Semester, or
Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 784. REV. THOMAS J. BARRETT, S.J.
Second Semester.

PHIL. 9.—PHILOSOPHY OF THEISM. (Natural Theology I.) Prerequisite, Phil. 8.

The Existence of God.

Cognoscibility, Ontologism, Traditionalism. Metaphysical proof. Argument from Design. Moral proof.

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 769. REV. JOSEPH A. MURPHY, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

ECONOMICS

POLIT. SC. 1.—Political Economy I.

Its relation to Ethics and Political Science. Method employed by the science. Schools: Liberal Socialist, Catholic Historical, Wealth, Value, Price. Factors of production. Nature, Labor, Capital. Exchange. Money. Money and Prices. Inflation and Contraction. Depreciation. Credit. Consumption of Wealth. Distribution of Wealth. Rent. Interest, Profits, Wages.

Wednesday, 4–6, F. 17. MORRIS DESCHEL, M.A.
First and Second Semester, or
Tuesday, 4–6, W. 2858. REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.
First Semester, or
Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. 776. MORRIS DESCHEL, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

POLIT. SC. 2.—(Economics 2.)

This course embraces a series of lectures on the following subjects:

1. Banking. — History. Kinds of banks in the United States. Their nature and functions.

2. Commerce.—Domestic and foreign trade. Causes and advantages of exchange. Mechanisms of exchange. Tariffs. Protection and Free Trade.

3. Transportation. — Railroads: Growth; Groups; Charges; Alleged evils. Interstate Commerce Commission. Government regulation. Government ownership.

4. Corporations. Trusts. Advantages and disadvantages of large corporations. The Trust Problem.

5. Government Revenue. Sources. Taxation: kinds; incidence and shifting of taxes; principles of taxation. Public debts.

6. Insurance.—History. Nature and advantages. Theory. Kinds of insurance. Industrial insurance. Compensation laws.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 2858. REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.
Second Semester.

POLIT. SC. 113.—Trade Economics.

The course treats of the causes, effects and extent of international trade; balances of trade and balance of accounts of nations. Correlation between imports and exports. Agencies of internal trade; Corporation, their advantages and disadvantages. Mechanism introduced by internal trade; Tariffs, Banks; Edge Law. Consular Service. Practical Exporting.

Thursday, 6–8, W. 784. REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.
Second Semester.

POLIT. SC. 4.—Sociology.

Assuming the definition of Sociology as the Science that treats of efficaciously attaining the ends of Society, this course will treat of some of the means of attaining those ends, and of the correction of some evils that now make the attainment difficult or impossible.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 772. REV. JOHN HALPIN, M.A.
Second Semester.

POLIT. SC. 5.—Municipal Government.
(Given 1926-1927.)

EDUCATION

ED. 1-2.—History of Education.

A general survey of the history of education from ancient times down to the present day. The purpose of this course is to trace educational aims, ideals and practices to their origin and to account for their development.

Particular attention will be given to those national systems and educational movements which have had a marked influence on the schools of to-day.

Monday, 4–6, W. 784. PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.
First Semester and
Monday, 4–5, W. 784.
Second Semester (45 hrs.).

Thursday, 4–6, F. 17. LEO I. KEARNEY, B.SC.
First Semester and
Thursday, 4–5, F. 17.
Second Semester (45 hrs.).

ED. 100.—Early Christian and Medieval Education.

Condition of the Roman world at the beginning of the Christian era. The spread of Christianity and the organization of Christian education. The new western world arising from the barbarian invasions. Influences working for progress. Military, industrial and school education in the Middle Ages.

Saturday, 9.50–11.40, W. L. 1.
PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 101.—Modern Education.

The course begins with a brief survey of Western education at the close of the Middle Ages, then deals with the following movements: the Renaissance, the Protestant Reformation and Catholic Revival, Realism, Rationalism, Naturalism and the various tendencies of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Each movement or tendency is first briefly treated in its general aspect, its historical setting and relation to other movements or tendencies; then its influence on educational theory and practice is examined in detail. Thus, e.g., before taking up humanistic education, the Renaissance, of which humanism was but one phase, is treated in broad outline; the purpose in this, as in every case, is to make clear the relation between education, its aims, ideals, content and methods on the one hand, and the thought, life, political, social and economic conditions on the other.

Saturday, 10.40–11.30, W. L. 1.

PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 5–6.—Principles of Education.

This course is intended to be eminently practical. After a brief consideration of the more important principles contributed to education by religion, psychology, logic, biology, sociology and ethics, their practical application to the teacher's work will be examined and illustrated. The following are some of the topics treated: imitation, habit formation and character building; curiosity, attention and interest; the association of ideas and apperception; the fundamental methods of learning; culture vs. efficiency as educational aims.

Monday, 5–6, F. 17. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Second Semester and
Tuesday, 4–6, F. 17.
Second Semester (45 hours).

Monday, 5–6, W. 784. PIERRE J. MARIQUE, PH.D., PD.D.
Second Semester and
Friday, 4–6, W. 784.
Second Semester (45 hours).

ED. 105.—Educational Measurements 1.

This course will consider Intelligence Tests, both individual and group, their uses and limitations; Achievement Tests in Arithmetic, Reading, Spelling, Composition, Penmanship. Diagnostic and prognostic applications of the tests; advantages and limitations of uses of such tests.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
First Semester, or
Saturday, 9–9.50, W. 770.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 106.—Educational Measurements 2.

This course will consider in a detailed manner the educational statistics of central tendencies, variability and correlation; the elements constituting the organization of standardized tests; the application of Intelligence, Achievement, Diagnostic and Prognostic Tests to secondary schools.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Second Semester.

ED. 7.—Educational Psychology.

The course considers original nature, instinctive behavior, individual differences, habit formation, memory, imagination, thinking. Problem of transfer of training, measuring result of achievement.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
First Semester.

ED. 8.—Psychology of Elementary School Branches.

This course will consider the dominant psychological elements involved in learning and teaching the subjects in the elementary school curriculum. Principles of Method peculiar to each will be evolved.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 784. MAURICE E. ROGALIN, PH.D.
Second Semester.

ED. 9-10.—School and Class Management.

The philosophy of supervision; the school principal; his relations to the public, the parents, the teachers, the pupils; the school building, equipment, supplies, etc.; organization of curriculum; classification of pupils; the teaching process, discipline, truancy; habit formation and routine.

Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 779. HENRY E. HEIN, PH.D.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 11.—Principles of Secondary Education.

This course will aim to present knowledge of the needs and aptitudes of youth, with the accompanying effects upon courses of study, general method, discipline, outside activities and related topics. It will aim to show further, that the guiding principles of secondary education should naturally be an outgrowth of study of the psychology of adolescense. The course should be of value to those who are interested in the special problems of secondary education.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. L. 1. MILO F. MCDONALD, PH.D.
First Semester.

ED. 12.—Methods of Teaching Christian Doctrine.

This course will deal with the matter of Christian doctrine that is the subject of instruction for children of elementary school age. It will also, in a lesser degree, contain hints and methods employed in this instruction.

Tuesday, 4–6, F. 20. REV. JOHN X. PYNE, S.J.
First Semester.

ED. 13-14.—Teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

This course presents the entire work of high school teachers of English. It includes books usually studied in secondary school courses, and gives general instruction in all class-room and extra class-room work. It gives full preparation for the New York City examinations for license as teacher of English.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 776. KENNETH WRIGHT, B.S.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 15-16.—Methods of Teaching Pitman Stenography.

This is a course for present and prospective teachers. Class members will be required to prepare lesson plans on each "Principle" and present them in class for discussion and criticism. This course, together with a 30-hour course in Methods in Typewriting, fulfils certain eligibility requirements approved by the Board of Examiners.

Wednesday, 4–6, F. 18. KATHERINE P. CONLON, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 17-18.—Methods of Teaching Latin in High Schools.

The course will include a study of the New York State Syllabus for this subject. The Beginner's Book, Cæsar, Cicero, Virgil, the Aeneid, will be examined from a point of view of recent text-books, analysis, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background. Written reports will be required.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 2858. EDWARD J. KAVANAGH, M.A.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 19-20.—Methods of Teaching French in High Schools.

This course will include a study of the New York State Syllabus for this subject. The matter will be presented from the point of view of recent text-books, methods of presentation, model lessons, historical background.

This course being given in English, it should appeal not only to those students who are already possessed of a fairly good knowledge of French, but also to those who may wish to acquire a solid foundation for further studies.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 783. RAPHAEL D'AMOUR, PH.D., Officier de l'Instruction Publique.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 26-27.—Methods of Teaching Mathematics in the Secondary Schools.

This course is intended:

1. To be helpful to teachers of mathematics by affording opportunity for discussion of methods.

2. To present to students ideas of special method in mathematics so that they may discover a possible aptitude.

3. To prepare prospective teachers of mathematics for their work.

Specific lessons according to the modern trends and tendencies.

Saturday, 12–1.40, W. 2862. ADOLPHUS A. LIPPE, B.S.

First and Second Semester.

ED. 28-29.—Teaching of History and Civics in Secondary Schools.

This course is devoted to a study of the general problems of history — teaching with special reference to the high school. It will consider the nature of history; its relation to other subjects, and its place in education; selection of subject-matter and its arrangement in courses of study; effective presentation of materials of instruction; judging text-books; collateral reading; testing results.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 775. JAMES L. TOBIN, A.M.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 21.—General Methods.

Types of Teaching, Drill, Induction, Deduction, Appreciation, Study Lesson; Project Problem; Aids in Learning Process; Motivation; Dramatization, Multiple Sense Appeal, Questioning, Organization of Lesson Plans, Training of Will, Education of Emotions.

Saturday, 9–9.50, W. L. 2. LEO I. KEARNEY, B.S.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 22.—Special Methods.

Dynamic factors in the teaching and learning the subjects of the elementary school curriculum. Special emphasis on English, Arithmetic, Geography, History and Nature Study.

Saturday, 9.50–10.40, W. L. 2. LEO I. KEARNEY, B.S.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 23.—Teaching of History in Elementary Schools.

This course will consider the elementary school syllabus in history—its aims, its methods and its subject matter. The chief topics will be so studied as to give the teacher the wider range of knowledge requisite in guiding pupils to organize their ideas and to see causes and results.

Saturday, 12.00–1.40, W. 769. JAMES L. TOBIN, M.A.
First Semester.

ED. 24.—Teaching of English in Elementary Schools.

The various phases of the English Course of Study (reading literature, memory work, composition, spelling, grammar) discussed with emphasis on underlying principles, methods of teaching, class-room procedure and devices, practical applications.

Friday, 4–6, W. 784. HENRY E. HEIN, PH.D.
First Semester.

ED. 25.—Teaching of Arithmetic in Elementary Schools.

This course treats of Modern Methods of Teaching Arithmetic in the Elementary Schools. In addition to methods of presenting the various topics of the course of study in arithmetic, special attention will be paid to drills, habit formation, standard tests and measurements, and the applications of arithmetic to modern business life.

Tuesday, 4–6, W. 780. STEPHEN F. BAYNE, M.A.
First Semester.

ED. 30-31.—Dramatics in the Schools.

A course in the theory and technique of dramatics with young folks. The work is designed to present the means by which dramatic values of oral English may be achieved. It will deal with the theory of educational dramatics, emotional expression of poetry, plays and pageantry. It is planned to make the course of equal value to teachers in elementary and high schools and to demonstrate how dramatics may be carried on successfully with the physical handicaps the average school imposes. Miss Brennan will take up the relation of Eurythmics, the dance and music to dramatic productions. The work will include the choosing, casting, rehearsing, mounting, costuming, lighting and mechanical operation of a play. Mr. Gartlan and Miss Brennan have successfully designed and directed many children's plays.

Thursday, 4–6, F. 22. EUGENE B. GARTLAN, M.A.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 32-33.—Speech Improvement and Correction of Speech Defects.

A course designed to prepare teachers and supervisors to become specialists in the correction of stuttering, stammering, lisping and other functional speech disorders.
Theory: Classification of Speech Defects, Correction of Foreign Accent — Anatomy and Physiology of the Vocal Organs. The Central Nervous System — The Sympathetic Nervous System, Physiological Causes of Stammering and

Other Speech Defects. Psychic Causes of Stammering — The Subjective and Objective Mind. General and Special Methods for Correcting Speech Defects. Phonetics and Speech Improvement. The Speech Problem in the Subnormal Child. Advice to Parents. Organization and Administration of a Speech Improvement Department.
Clinic: Intensive individual practice in diagnosis and treatment of children and adults who may apply for corrective treatment.

Tuesday, 4–6, F. 18. ESTA PASTEL, A.B.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 34-35.—Oral English I.

A course for teachers and others interested in speech standards, niceties of pronunciation, skill in reading and a working knowledge of phonetics and speech psychology. Special attention to the correction of personal voice and speech faults. Course should prove of special interest to teachers of English, of Speech Correction and those contemplating High School work in Oral English. Not a course in abstruse theory or in picture writing, but in the acquiring of oral skill through vocal and oral work.

Monday, 4–6, F. 18.
First and Second Semester.

Friday, 4–6, W. 2858. JOHN SHAMUS, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

ED. 36-37.—Oral English II.

A continuation of the work of Oral English I. The development of skill in interpretative reading, fluency in public speaking and the acquiring of conscious speech power are the objectives. Formal drill in the various vocal qualities, exercises for modulative finesse and ease, delivering of the more important speech forms and a complete study of the psychology of the audience are some of the features of the work.

Tuesday, 4–6, F. 19. JOHN SHAMUS, B.Sc.
First and Second Semester.

SCIENCE

SC. 1.—General Science.

A lecture course considering the more important problems in physics, chemistry and biology.

Thursday, 4–6, W. 2858. REV. FRANCIS D. O'LAUGHLIN, S.J.
First and Second Semester.

SC. 2.—Physics 1.

The topics of the lectures are rectilinear motion, curvilinear motion, wave motion, forces with their application to simple machines.

The laboratory work includes the study and use of the vernier, micrometer, planimeter, pherometer, cathetometer, the resolution and composition of forces, the laws of torsion and the determination of the acceleration due to gravity.

REV. FRANCIS D. O'LAUGHLIN, S.J., AND ASSISTANTS.

Lecture, Wednesday, 4–6, F. 1, and Saturday, 9–10, F. 1.
Laboratory, Saturday, 10–12, F. 1.
First Semester.

SC. 3.—Physics 2.

The subjects of the lectures in this course are the mechanics of heat, light, magnetism and electricity.

The laboratory work includes the study and use of the Chemical Balance, Jolly and Mohr-Wesphal Balance, the determination of specific heat, latent heat, expansion coefficients, mechanical equivalent of heat, velocity of sound, laws of vibrating strings, wave length of various notes, the study of lenses and optical instruments, spectrometry, photometry, wave length by means of the diffraction grating, study of direct and alternating currents, resistance of conductors, capacity of condensers, motors and generators. In the laboratory work the student must study thoroughly the arrangement of his apparatus in order that the best possible results may be obtained. He must make a written report in which he must explain the method followed and the theory underlying the work in hand. All calculations must be shown and average deviations, fractional deviations, and percentage deviations determined. Results, together with the probable sources of error, must be neatly tabulated. Graphs and diagrams are required.

REV. FRANCIS D. O'LAUGHLIN, S.J., AND ASSISTANTS.

Lecture, Wednesday, 4–6, F. 1. and Saturday, 9–10, F. 1.
Laboratory, Saturday, 10–12, F. 1.
Second Semester.

SC. 4.—Biology 1, Botany.

This course includes the fundamental principles of biology and a detailed study of the morphology, physiology, ecology, evolution, classification of plants and economic botany. The laboratory work required of the students will embrace all the experiments usually demanded in Secondary School courses.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J., Lecturer.
LABORATORY ASSISTANTS.

Lecture, Friday, 4–6, W. 775.
Laboratory, Saturday, 1–3, F. 2.
First Semester.
Also, Lecture, Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 2862.
Laboratory, Saturday, 1–3, F. 2.
First Semester.

SC. 5.—Biology 2, Zoölogy.

Zoölogy treats of the Origin, Classification, and Distribution of Animals; Development of the Ovum; Parthenogenesis; Evolution; Darwinism. Transformism; Catholics and Evolution; Heredity.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J., Lecturer.
LABORATORY ASSISTANTS.

Lecture, Friday, 4–6, W. 775.
Laboratory, Saturday, 1–3, F. 2.
Second Semester.
Also, Lecture, Saturday, 9.50–11.30, W. 2862.
Laboratory, 1–3, F. 2.
Second Semester.

SC. 6.—Biology 3.

The course will be in Zoölogy, and will study — the composition of the animal body and its organs in terms of their vital units, the cells;—the chromosomes, the basis of heredity; — the origin and the maturation of the germ-cells, fertilization, cleavage, and differentiation of tissues; — the origin of the individual and the developmental process from the oosperm to the adult. Practice in Micro-technique will be required.

REV. JOSEPH ASSMUTH, S.J.

Lecture, Saturday, 9–10.

Laboratory, Saturday, 10–12.

First and Second Semester.

CHEMISTRY

SC. 7.—Inorganic Chemistry.

The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the principles of general chemistry. The work embraces a consideration of the fundamental theories underlying the science, the laws involved in chemical operations, methods and practice of inorganic preparations, with a rather detailed discussion of the non-metallic elements.

Text: Holmes' General Chemistry; Laboratory Manual, Holmes'.

Lecture, Saturday, 2–3, F. Sc. 1.

Laboratory, Saturday, 3–5, F. Sc. 2.

SC. 8.—Inorganic Chemistry.

This course embraces a more extended discussion of certain of the chemical laws and theories, with especial emphasis upon their applications to physical, thermal, metallurgical, actinic and electrolytical operations. The metallic elements and their compounds are treated at length. Mendelejeff's periodic classification with its important relations to chemical phenomena is stressed.

Prerequisite, Course 1.

Text and Laboratory Manual, same as Course 7.

Lecture, Saturday, 4–5, F. Sc. 1.

Laboratory, Saturday, 2–4, F. Sc. 2.

SC. 9.—Organic Chemistry 1.

A brief description of the aliphatic and aromatic compounds is undertaken, and a short time is spent on the carbohydrates, fats and proteins. The chemical structure of these food materials is briefly discussed as well as that of some of the ordinary food adulterants.

It is not necessary for the student to have completed qualitative analysis.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SERVICE

OF

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

ANNOUNCEMENT, 1925-1926

2866 WOOLWORTH BUILDING
NEW YORK

Archbishop's House
452 Madison Avenue
New York

June 28, 1924.

Reverend Edward P. Tivnan, S.J.,
President, Fordham University,
New York City.

Dear Father Tivnan:

I give my most cordial endorsement to the Fordham School of Social Service. I have been deeply interested in the School from its beginnings. In fact, it was in answer to my earnest wish that the University added this additional department to its curriculum. It gratifies me to learn that the School is making excellent progress. That it fills a great need goes without saying.

Our Catholic Charities, here and elsewhere, need trained and devoted workers. The principles which guide our work for the poor are eternal and unchangeable, but every age demands the methods best suited to its problems. In our day the study of sociology and social science occupies an increasingly important place in the curricula of our secular universities. But they build on the shifting sands of time who build merely on man alone! Beneath the figure of the most lowly, the most neglected, the most sinful, is to be found the image of our Divine Master, if one will only dig deep enough. Catholic Social Science will do all things for the individual that secular social science can do, but it will and must go further and help to save the soul of the one with whom it comes into contact. It will do this because of the basic principle motivating all our work: love of God and love of neighbor; because that neighbor is created in God's image and has an eternal destiny.

The Charity of the Church is to-day as vast and as varied as are the social ills that afflict humanity. Our Divine Lord through His Church is helping to solve, with His grace and benediction, the problems that beset the individual and the family, and by so doing is solving the ills that trouble the world. We need the highest standards of training and technique surcharged with the age-old principles of the Holy Mother Church given to her by Her Divine Founder, if we are to measure up here in America to our opportunity. The Fordham School of Social Service can do much to restore souls to Christ by sending forth workers into the field of social and charitable activity, thoroughly trained—first, in religious principles, and, secondly, in the latest methods of social science.

I, therefore, recommend the School once more to the attention of the Clergy of the Archdiocese, and bespeak their earnest co-operation in its future development. It would please me very much if some of the younger Priests would take these courses at Fordham, and thus fit themselves in a special way for better co-operation in the parishes with the work of Catholic Charities. In particular, I most earnestly commend the School to the Superiors of our Religious Orders engaged in Social Service. Our devoted Sisters are doing remarkable work, but their effectiveness for the saving of immortal souls will be made far more fruitful for Christ if the Sisters intended for work in our Child-caring Homes, Hospitals, Day Nurseries, Settlements, etc., are directed to take the complete course at Fordham. Our young women, too, privileged by God in receiving higher education in Catholic Colleges ought to be actively encouraged by their teachers to enter into Social Service. The poor of God's Church need them, and nothing would please me more than to know that our Catholic Colleges were sending some of their graduates yearly into this field.

With a blessing on the School, its faculty and its students, I am,

Faithfully yours in Christ,

✠ PATRICK CARDINAL HAYES,
Archbishop of New York.

INTRODUCTION

Purpose of the School

To give a professional training for social and civic work. This training will be two-fold, viz.: thorough instruction in the fundamental principles which underlie such work; and the practical application of these principles to the problems and conditions of our social life. The first will be based on the several branches of Social Science; the second on the concrete facts of observation and experience.

The School has succeeded in engaging the service of most devoted and thoroughly-trained instructors, and is thus fully equipped in all the scientific provisions of the day, and offers a complete course in all lecture-classes, as well as in all the branches of field work. Above all it possesses the incalculable advantage of that Catholic faith and sound philosophy, which cannot be measured in terms of wealth and lucre. The findings of correct ethics and psychology form the moral and intellectual basis of all true social work. To-day in many places, we find that the very freedom of the human will, as well as the existence of a provident Creator, are often openly denied. There is hardly a study of the day so filled with intellectual fads and follies that react most disastrously upon practical life, as sociology and its practical allied branches of social service. Hence the need and the blessing of Catholic schools devoted to the teaching of these important subjects.

Social Service

In general, Social Service is any service which tends to promote social well-being. It may be considered under two aspects; as remedial, in healing the wounds and sores of society, such as ministering to the sick and poor; or preventive, in so ordering and regenerating the social forces as to ward off as far as possible such conditions. The first deals mainly with effects, the second with causes.

Social Service and Our Age

Social problems and the social activities connected with these problems mark especially the present age. With all the evidence of industrial progress, social life is not happy and healthy and there is everywhere felt an acute sense of unrest and maladjustment. The words of the illustrious Pontiff Leo XIII calling us to concerted social study and corporate action on social problems are an urgent summons to us to assume in a worthy way the great responsibility of the new world of social and industrial relations in which we live. Moreover, apart from the inspiring apostolate which it affords, Social Service holds out sufficiently ample rewards to those who make it their life-work.

The Church and Charity

In the field of charity Catholics have ever been in the forefront. There is no work which appeals so strongly to all their high ideals and sympathies. It is the great commandment of the Gospel—the splendid evidence of faith—the glory of the Church's history. Following the divine example of her Founder, the Church has in all ages succeeded in enlisting her children in charitable deeds toward their neighbor. She is the mother of private and organized Social Service, and has shown a genius for organization in every domain of social effort and welfare.

It is the glory of the Church that she possessed such bishops as St. Ambrose, St. Chrysostom and St. Martin of Tours; that European civilization is based on the foundation laid by the monks of St. Benedict; that the simple spirit of St. Francis of Assisi inspired multitudes of her children to undertake works of social reform of a lasting nature. Catholics think of St. Vincent de Paul and the Sisters of Charity with a thrill of pride, and centuries have taught that the pronouncements of the rulers of the Church form the only sound basis upon which the world can proceed to peace and contentment.

Catholic Charities

The Catholic Church has been very active in the field of charity in the Archdiocese of New York, which includes the counties of New York, Bronx, Richmond, Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Sullivan and Rockland. Her works include many child-caring homes, twenty-three hospitals, twenty-six day nurseries, six homes for the aged, ten settlements, besides temporary homes and agencies offering relief to the poor or affording protection, education and recreation to boys and girls.

After a thorough survey of the extent and needs of these various agencies, His Eminence, Patrick Cardinal Hayes, in 1920 established a new central organization called "The Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York." It is the work of this new organization to supervise all the social and charitable activities of the diocese, to provide a center for advice and information, to re-arrange and co-ordinate the functions of existing activities, to point out weaknesses in constituted organizations and help overcome them, to promote the extension and establishment of agencies, to cover fields at present neglected, to prepare reports of the work done for the general public and to unify Catholic charitable activities, at the same time leaving all such institutions and agencies autonomous.

The organization is not, as some have assumed, a financial federation, but rather a social federation of Catholic charitable work. Its general fund, raised by an annual appeal to the Catholics of the Archdiocese, is designed for the upbuilding of existing agencies and the provision of new ones where need has been shown; but the raising of maintenance funds is left to the individual agencies, partly at least, in order not to weaken the appeal for their special purposes and needs.

The administrative organization comprises six principal divisions: Families, Children, Health, Protective Care, Social Action and Finance.

An important part of the work undertaken is the introduction of standardized policies for various kinds of work. Such standards are being introduced into the Catholic hospitals, homes for children and day nurseries. Attention is also being given to the extension of placing out activities and of supervision over children discharged from institutional care.

This comprehensive organization, in addition to the purposes for which it has been established, is exercising an important influence upon general charitable work, both in the diocese and in other parts of the State.

Many Fordham students receive their field training with Catholic Charities, and others are employed in its central office and in agencies under its supervision.

Opportunities for Positions in Social Service

At the present time, Social Service is recognized as a distinct profession with certain standards, technique and philosophy, requiring a definite educational background. There are now approximately four thousand social service workers engaged in this profession, and aside from these, there are many thousands doing work in this field as volunteers. The range of opportunities is wide and varied with increasing possibilities. It is therefore a profession in which a trained person may earn an adequate livelihood. Following are some of the available positions in Social Service work:

Social Case Work: General family case work; child placing; probation and protective work; visiting teacher; vocational guidance; hospital social service; psychiatric work; Travelers' Aid, etc.

Social Group and Community Work: Settlement club work; boy and girl leadership and Scout work; dramatics; community organization; municipal playgrounds; neighborhood clubs; surveys as health and housing; immigration, unemployment; child labor; leisure time activities; rural problems.

Institutional Work: Temporary care of children and convalescents; permanent care of defective and criminal cases; reformation and training; Industrial schools; dietetic and supervisory work.

Social Research: Collecting, checking and analyzing social data.

The supply of trained workers is insufficient to meet the need, since in addition to the opportunities in public and private organizations for such workers, there is a demand for graduates of Schools of Social Service to fill State and Municipal positions, such as Probation and Attendance Officers, Social Investigators, Institutional Inspectors, Factory and Sanitary Inspectors, etc. The salaries of trained social workers might be placed at $1,500 to $10,000. For positions where specialized training is required, high salaries are paid. A good salary for capable women workers could be put at $3,000; for men, $5,000.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Entrance Requirements

Social Service by its very nature demands a large endowment of moral character and the resources of a well-trained mind. It implies order and method, good judgment and the capacity to handle the delicate situations which necessarily arise in the abnormal conditions of social disorder.

Hence, it is advisable, though not essential, that candidates for admission shall have completed a college course. However, candidates who shall have finished two years of college or their equivalent, who give evidence of sufficient mental ability and present credentials of strong moral character and earnestness of purpose will be accepted, subject to the discretion of the Dean.

Hours of Class

The regular classes will be held from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week; Thursday and Friday will be devoted to field work. Institutes and special lectures will be conducted at hours indicated by the Dean.

Curriculum

The training in the School of Social Service occupies two academic years and covers the full field of social work. Students who are candidates for a diploma in Social Service must complete the prescribed curriculum, both as to hours of study and field work. They are required also to do outside reading and research work in connection with the various subjects as suggested by the lecturers.

The second-year courses are open to students who have satisfactorily completed the full first-year courses in the School, or an equivalent group in another accredited school of Social Service. In the latter case, the intending student, upon presentation of credentials for such courses, will not be required to pass an entrance examination as a preliminary to being permitted to follow the work of this year.

Students are expected to specialize in their second-year work, and, in addition to attendance at lectures in their selected groups, will also take part in special seminars arranged by the professors in charge of their major subjects.

Students who are not able to complete the course for the diploma within two years may, at the discretion of the Dean, be allowed to distribute the work over three years.

In all the courses the "Case System" of fact and illustration will be followed.

Special Students

Special students are those taking one or more courses, but who are not candidates for the diploma. These students may be admitted as auditors to all first-year courses. Under special conditions, they may also be admitted to the second-year courses.

Examinations

Examinations will be held at the end of each semester. Those who fail in any examination will be allowed one condition examination. Those who fail in the original examinations in courses aggregating more than two major courses must repeat the year. Condition examinations for First Semester courses will be held in April and for Second Semester courses in September. Hence any Second Year student conditioned in Second Semester work cannot receive the diploma until September.

Field Work

The importance of practical work in the field of Social Service is recognized and insisted upon everywhere to-day. Lectures alone are not sufficient to make the student an efficient social worker, nor will mere observation of the methods of others bring about this result. Actual case-work must be done by the student under careful and expert supervision.

Students who are candidates for the diploma are required to give two days per week to field work in selected organizations engaged in Social Service. They will hand in weekly records of their work to the Director of Field Work, who will receive periodical reports from the organizations concerned. These reports will be of great value in helping to determine the fitness or unfitness of the individual students for professional work in Social Service. A special form of report has been designed by the School, securing accurate and detailed information concerning the student.

Visits of Inspection

Excursions to leading and typical public and private institutions, with the work of which the student should be familiar, will be taken under the guidance of the teacher, so that the methods and technique followed in these institutions may be closely observed and studied with profit.

Special Lectures

Special lectures will be given each year by leading representatives of agencies in the city engaged in philanthropic and humanitarian work, so that the student may become acquainted with the work done therein. These lectures will be arranged so as to correlate with the work of the School. The dates of these lectures will be announced on the bulletin board.

Institutes

At any time during the year institutes will be arranged, both for those actually engaged in Social Service who may wish to have further training as well as for volunteer workers who may desire information along definite lines. The forming of any such institute will be contingent upon the number of students registering for the same.

Tuition

The matriculation fee will be five dollars.

Tuition for regular students will be one hundred dollars per annum, payable semi-annually. The fee for special students, i. e., those taking one or more courses, will be fifteen dollars for each thirty-hour course, in addition to the matriculation fee.

The fees for the Institutes will be announced at the time of the formation of each special Institute.

All fees are payable in advance.

Fees are in no case refunded, but students who have paid tuition and have become unable, through sickness or any other unavoidable cause, to be present, will be credited with the amount on any subsequent session which they may attend.

Diplomas

Diplomas will be given to those students who shall have satisfactorily completed the full two years' course of the School.

Students satisfactorily completing the full work of one year, and students in special courses or in the evening Institutes may receive a statement certifying to the work done if they so desire.

Library

A select library of standard works and Government pamphlets is provided by the School for the use of the students.

For reference and wider reading the Sociological Department of the New York Public Library and the Russell Sage Foundation offer exceptional facilities.

Registration

Students are required to register at the School office, Room 2866, Woolworth Building, New York City, during the two weeks preceding the opening of the School, October 5, 1925.

The registration blank, duly filled out, must be in the hands of the Registrar previous to the opening of class on the latter date.

Location of School

The School is situated on the twenty-eighth floor of the Woolworth Building, a convenient and central location for all residing in or near New York City. The accessibility of the School from all districts is assured by the proximity of the Subways, Elevated Railways (Second, Third, Sixth and Ninth Avenue lines), Hudson Tubes and Ferries.

School Year

The School session is divided into two terms. The first term will begin on Monday, October 5, 1925, and end on Friday, January 29, 1926. The second term will begin on Monday, February 1, and end on Friday, May 28, 1926.

Although students are admitted at the beginning of each term for courses beginning with that term, those who wish to become candidates for the diploma must take the regular course beginning on October 5, 1925.

Scholarship

The "Margaret Cummings Haney Scholarship" was presented by Mr. John D. Haney, Ph.D., in memory of his wife. Up to her lamented demise, Mrs. Haney was a lecturer at the School, and had given twenty years of her life to arduous social service. The principles by which her work was guided are summed up in the following excerpt from one of her lectures: "We should investigate thoroughly and kindly, without malice or adverse preconception, and then build eagerly for betterment. We should try to see widely, receiving suggestions from every available source, collate carefully, analyze closely, candidly, and above all, fairly, and then use every energy for constructive help."

SCOPE OF THE CURRICULUM

Sound social service takes man as he is, body and soul. It is based neither on Utopian nor materialistic and deterministic philosophy. Sound social service takes into account the ever-guiding Providence of God, the everlasting destiny of man and his freedom of will. It seeks to secure his temporal and eternal happiness by removing present evils, and so influencing moral, social and economic forces as to prevent the recurrence of these evils. This two-fold aspect, remedial and preventive, finds adequate treatment in the curriculum of the school.

The individual who comes under the care of our social agencies cannot rightly be planned for in terms of one dimension, viz., himself; but his family and home conditions must be examined, the neighborhood environment must be scrutinized, and the agencies, both of relief and prevention, must be brought into play. This brings the student to the study of family case work, with its carefully determined technique of interviewing, investigation, diagnosis, and plan of treatment. To get the proper background the student needs a thorough understanding of the internal structure of the family and its rightful precedence over and yet lawful subordination to the larger unit, the State.

So often are the difficulties arising in families due to ill health that it becomes necessary for the trained social worker to have accurate knowledge of prevalent diseases and the facilities of the community for their treatment. The Department of Social Health also treats such topics as the development of preventive medicine, the principles of sanitation, the regulation of communicable diseases and the functions of public health agencies.

It is well recognized that industrial conditions have a great bearing on the welfare of the individual and the family. It is increasingly important for the trained social worker to have an adequate knowledge of industrial social service, social insurance, workmen's compensation laws, and the work of public and private employment bureaus. Industrial conflicts arising at the present time can be read only in the light of the history of labor and current economic conditions, and with an understanding of the principles underlying trade unions and employers' associations, strikes, wage agreements and arbitration. Moreover, immediate suitable employment is often desirable, both for the normal and the problem child. The course in vocational guidance and placement visualizes this subject as well as the larger problems of the child's future industrial education.

The effects of ill health, unemployment or moral delinquencies, leading to a breakdown in the family life, are especially injurious to the children of the family. While the orphan and the waif have always elicited the deep sympathy of the Church and of well-minded people everywhere, the complexities of modern life, and progress in the science of child care demand of the Child Welfare worker of to-day training and skill of a high order, in addition to Christ-like kindness and sympathy. It is necessary to understand the nurture of a child's body, the development of a child's mind and the upbuilding of a child's character, if one is to participate intelligently in child welfare work. The dependent child at home or under foster care, the child coming before the Juvenile Court, whether neglected or delinquent, and the child suffering from mental or physical handicap, demand carefully differentiated treatment. Legislation governing child labor and public allowances to mothers must be studied in conjunction with modern standards and procedure for day nurseries, child-caring homes, child-placing agencies and children's courts.

The problems that confront both adults and children often arise from mental conditions. To attempt a reconstruction of the individual, however, without due regard for the findings of Ethics and Psychology, would result in misplaced and often harmful efforts. Hence, a course in Psychology is afforded, in which the soul of man and its twin major powers, intellect and free will, are discussed, while in another course character and its various formative principles are analyzed. These courses indicate the correct psychological and ethical approach to an adjustment of character and supply a background to the important course of Psychiatry, which investigates psychotic and neurotic conditions and the varieties of mental deficiency. A trained social worker should also be conversant with Social Psychology and its treatment of "group-units," "mob-mind," "group-consciousness," etc.

Conditions in the immediate neighborhood and in the community at large have much to do with right social order. The subject of Community Organization must, therefore, be placed before the student in such a way as to teach him the community resources, actual and potential, for recreation centers, and the adaptability of various recreational movements to different types of character. Leadership plays an important part in these departments of social service, both as a personal asset of the trained worker and as a program for the education of others.

Closely interwoven with many cases that call for readjustment is the question of crime. This may be either the cause or the outcome of unhealthy conditions. The Department of Criminology undertakes to consider the causes, treatment and prevention of crime. It also sets forth the true purposes of punishment, the history of prison work, the policies governing present day parole and probation work, and the philosophy and practice of criminal law and procedure.

Adequate records are essential in every modern social agency, and much knowledge can be gained from an intelligent study of Social Statistics already compiled. Therefore, a course is provided to present scientific methods of record-keeping and research.

Thus, it can be seen, the curriculum is an organic unit centered about the individual, but finding its completion only in the manifold study of all those increasingly larger groups of which he is inevitably a part.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL CASE WORK

The purpose of this department is to investigate the family which is the true unit of society and the source of all other groupings. Any inadequate functioning of the family necessitates adjustments, and to make such, training is needed both in the method and technique of handling family problems as well as in the philosophy of this fundamental unit so vital in proper social progress.

I. Technique and Policies in Social Case Work.

REV. ROBERT F. KEEGAN.

3 periods per week. First Semester. First Year.

This course deals (1) with the principles and processes of case work; (2) with the methods of investigation, diagnosis, emergent treatment and adequacy of permanent care; (3) with the various agencies for prevention and relief to which recourse may be had by the Social Worker; and (4) with the ethical principles guiding the Social Worker as to inquisitiveness, confidence, secrecy and the fact-handling of moral problems.

II. The Family.

REV. FRANCIS P. LE BUFFE, S.J.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. First Year.

The family is studied in its internal and external constitution, regarded both as a unit in itself, self-sufficient and autonomous within a limited range, and as the fundamental unit in the larger and naturally complementary social whole called the State. The origin, history, social needs and normal standards of the family are investigated.

III. The Dynamics of Social Progress.

REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

In this course are studied the determinants of social progress such as education, religion, democracy, suffrage, etc. The constructive force of a sound sociology and of rightly functioning social service is evaluated.

IV. Seminar in Social Case Work.

REV. ROBERT F. KEEGAN.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

This course is open to those who have completed the First Year, and is conducted in the manner of a round table discussion of actual cases. By this study, based on ascertained facts, the students perceive the good or bad results of certain methods of procedure in concrete situations. Their own experiences in field work are discussed.

V. Field Work.

2 days per week in a recognized Family Case Work Agency.

DEPARTMENT OF CHILD WELFARE

In this department the courses are so planned that the student will gain an adequate knowledge of the child in itself, its psychology and its normal and abnormal needs. The so-called underprivileged child is studied together with the various agencies and methods which the social worker may employ to right untoward conditions, which are frequently the occasion of physical and moral harm.

I. Objectives in Child Welfare.

REV. BRYAN J. MCENTEGART.

2 periods per week. First Semester. First Year.

(a) Nature and Nurture of the Child. The influence of the family and other social groups on the development of child life, and the bearing of recreation, education and religious training are considered. In the light of these facts the history of child-caring work is reviewed.

(b) The Child in Its Own Home. Of recent years, many movements have been launched to safeguard and improve the home conditions, the recreation, the education, the health and the character of the underprivileged child in its own home. The trained worker must know and utilize the resources of the community in the way of day nurseries, mothers' allowances, milk stations, maternity clinics, compulsory education laws, continuation schools and vocational guidance.

II. Foster Care of the Child.

REV. BRYAN J. MCENTEGART.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. First Year.

(a) The Child in Need of Foster Care. Methods of admission and discharge used by children's institutions and agencies will be discussed. This will include the investigation of the work done by Clearing Bureaus.

(b) The Care of Children in Institutions. Cottage, small group and congregate plans will be studied together with problems of health care, school work and social training.

(c) Child Placing in Families. Selection and supervision of boarding and free homes. Policies of payment and record keeping. Regulations concerning surrenders and adoption.

III. The Delinquent Child.

MR. BERNARD J. FAGAN.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

In this course the student studies the problem and causes of Juvenile Delinquency and the methods adopted in dealing with such delinquents—the children's courts, probation, institutional care and parole. Consideration is also given to the preventive and corrective activities of the various children's societies, Big Brothers and Big Sisters, etc.

IV. The Handicapped Child.

MR. BERNARD J. FAGAN.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

The handicapped child provides a problem in itself and as the varying forms of handicap entail different problems, individual study is made of the child that is deaf, blind, feeble-minded, tubercular, cardiac or crippled. The care and supervision of the illegitimate child and the handling of consequent social problems are studied.

V. Seminar in Child Welfare.

MISS MARY FRANCES GODLEY.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

This course entails further intensive studies of child-caring agencies and discussions of national, state and county programs of Child Welfare. Each student is expected to make a critical analysis of one of the principal problems or agencies in the field.

VI. Field Work. 2 days per week.

The work entailed in this course will be in the specialized field covered by Child Welfare agencies, and agencies for delinquent boys and girls. Time will be spent in actual investigation of foster homes.

DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HYGIENE

The purpose of this department is to acquaint the students with the outstanding facts and problems of human psychology in its normal and abnormal manifestations. By means of lectures, practical demonstrations at hospitals and the actual handling of cases that call for treatment, the students are given an appreciation of the wide scope of mental problems and are thus equipped to lend intelligent aid to the trained psychiatrist.

I. Character: Its Nature and Formative Principles.

REV. FRANCIS P. LE BUFFE, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. First Year.

In this course is discussed the natural foundation on which character is built, viz.: temperament, with its constitutive elements, dispositions. Habit is analyzed from a psychological standpoint and its rational basis is indicated. The nature of "appeal" and the fundamental concept of "goodness" call for treatment. The major formative principles are then studied.

II. Psychiatry.

DR. SYLVESTER R. LEAHY.

2 periods per week. First and Second Semesters. First Year.

In former times psychiatry dealt only with the problem of the frankly insane. To-day the psychiatrist and the social worker are called upon to help solve many problems of conduct disorder not only in adults but in children. In these days of stress and artificial living, the incidence of maladjustments is greatly increased and many situations develop abnormal reactions in apparently normal individuals. The problems of dependence are often due to psychotic, neurotic or mental defective conditions in the individuals rather than to environment per se. In the study of Criminology, many psychiatric problems are met. Placing-out agencies now realize the necessity for psychiatric examinations of their children. This course presents the many problems met in Psychiatry by a study of the individual case, by case work, conferences, and by visits to Bellevue Hospital, Randall's Island and Manhattan State Hospital at Ward's Island. The neurotic, mental defective, psychotic, drug-addict and criminal types are studied.

III. Rational Psychology.

REV. FRANCIS P. LE BUFFE, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

One of the most important assets for a social worker is a proper grasp of the true psychology of adjustment, that the maladjusted individual may be rehabilitated in ways that are conformable to his nature seen in its adequate fulness. A knowledge is requisite, therefore, of the soul as the abiding principle of all the interlocking activities of man, as spiritual, even though it be the active principle of a material body, as immortal and therefore not to be adjusted in terms of merely passing values. The intellectual processes are investigated as also the meaning and extent of the freedom of the will.

IV. Social Psychology.

REV. R. RUSH RANKIN, S.J.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

The subject of Social Psychology is of very wide importance in social work, for it entails the study of the interactions of individuals in their various group relations. The group itself calls for analysis, both the properly constituted group and the mob. Within groups, there are contacts of harmony and conflict, and so, too, between groups. Moreover, since every group consists of leader and led, there opens the question of group leadership and group control, and the wide phenomena of imitation and suggestibility.

V. Educational Measurements.

MISS ZELLAH RYAN.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

In this course the various intelligence tests are explained and their worth and limitations indicated. Actual applications of the tests are made both on individuals and on groups and their value, both in diagnosis and prognosis, is examined.

VI. Seminar.

DR. SYLVESTER R. LEAHY.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

During these periods case-discussions will be held, and analysis will be made of work done by the students. The course will further be so adapted that students majoring in mental hygiene will familiarize themselves with the technique of personal examinations and regional surveys.

VII. Field Work. 2 days per week.

The mental clinic at St. Vincent's Hospital, under the auspices of Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of New York, is thoroughly equipped for the examination and study of mental cases, and the field work is done through this clinic.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL HEALTH

The aim of this department is to supply the student with a sufficient knowledge of the outstanding facts of health and disease. These facts concern not only the individual as such, but the social whole. The more prevalent diseases are therefore considered together with the organized efforts of both public and private agencies to control the health of the community.

I. Hygienic Groundwork of Social Service.

DR. THOMAS F. REILLY.

1 period per week. Second Semester. First Year.

It is the aim of this course to furnish a working knowledge of the principles of disease as far as they are applicable to Social Service. Household hygiene in so far as the use of home remedies, general care of the invalid, and what results may be expected will be discussed. After this, the principal symptomatology of the common infectious diseases, as well as the degenerative diseases of middle and advanced age will be described. The great plagues of society, cancer, tuberculosis and venereal diseases, will be discussed from the standpoint of the social worker; the means of recognizing them and the institutions devoted to their care will be enlarged upon. Enough medical facts will be furnished so that the student may be able to visualize the effect of illness on the community.

II. Hospital Social Service.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

This course will prepare the student to work in conjunction with hospitals and medical institutions in the investigation of home conditions of patients and their relatives, and in the following up of cases which, though dismissed, require an amount of helpful attention. Practical case-work will be taken in specially-selected hospitals.

III. Public Health and Housing.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

In this course will be discussed the functions of state, municipal and voluntary health departments; control of communicable diseases, milk and water supply, nuisances; tenement control and housing reforms; vital statistics.

IV. Field Work.

2 days per week in the social service department of a hospital.

DEPARTMENT OF CRIMINOLOGY

This department presents the student with the criminal himself, and the hereditary and environmental influences which are liable to tempt to criminal acts. Both the aims and the process of inflicting punishment are dealt with and the fundamental principles of criminal law and procedure are outlined.

I. Crime and Punishment.

MR. EDWIN J. COOLEY.

2 periods per week. First Semester. First Year.

(a) History and Theories. This course concerns itself primarily with the philosophy and methods of dealing with crime and criminals in all ages. A proper evaluation of the various theories of criminality, the nature of the criminal, the aims of punishment, and the gradual transitions that have taken place in the evolution of the penal law, are developed as a result of this historical review.

(b) Causation and Modern Methods. A study and investigation of crime and criminals, and a survey of the causes, treatment and prevention of delinquency. Criminal responsibility and social constraint are discussed in detail and the concepts of the modern penological and reformatory programs are examined. Case studies are analyzed and discussed with the class.

II. Social Treatment of Crime.

MR. EDWIN J. COOLEY.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. First Year.

(a) Descriptive Penology. This course undertakes a critical study of penal and correctional processes, including an analysis of their social effectiveness, current tendencies and the laws governing them. The various types of penal and correctional institutions are examined in detail with particular attention to the problems of organization and discipline, and the more recent administrative developments. Emphasis is placed upon the modern programs of prevention.

(b) Probation and Parole. An intensive study is made of the principles and methodology of probation and parole. This course reviews the history and development of the systems of probation and parole, methods of investigation and case treatment, standards of work and psychiatric clinics. An important part of this course is the analysis of the various types of case problems.

III. Criminal Law and Procedure.

MR. EDWIN J. COOLEY.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

A study of the fundamental principles of criminal law, evidence and the rules and practice of criminal procedure. The legal machinery, having to do with the apprehension, trial and punishment of criminals, is discussed in detail. The laws relating to domestic relations, child welfare, mental defectives, and the insane and those having to do with health, education, labor and public welfare generally, are considered. The influence of social progress and its effect on criminal law and procedure is noted and analyzed.

IV. Seminar in Criminology.

MR. EDWIN J. COOLEY.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

Those who desire to major in Criminology and Penology will be required to do research work in assigned subjects. This work will consist principally of intensive surveys and studies and will be under the immediate direction of the head of the department. Round table discussions of actual cases will be carried on currently.

V. Field Work. 2 days per week.

Assignments to field work will be made by the head of the department. Special trips will be made to courts and to penal and correctional institutions.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION.

Social Service looks not only to the ills of society which already exist, but it endeavors to prevent such ills from occurring again and to offset others which may be threatening the social body. Herein, the Department of Community Organization finds its scope, indicating methods of community control of the environment through the various agencies that have proved their worth, and pushing investigation further to solve outstanding problems.

I. Community Problems and Organization.

REV. EDWARD R. MOORE.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. First Year.

This course deals with the various phases of community work, its development, organization and administration. Plans are studied which have already been adopted for the solution of problems that arise in unhealthy environment, such as the settlement house, recreation centers, clubs for boys and girls, etc. Further investigations are made of the manner of conducting surveys as to health and housing, and of the housing problem of unattached strangers as well as the methods used in solving them.

II. Leisure Time Problems.

MR. LEO I. KEARNEY.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

The problems of recreation, in its larger sense, form the subject of this course. The true meaning of recreation is considered and its place is indicated in the life not only of the child, but of older folk. The playground and its proper, wholesome management; recreation in industrial plants and settlement houses; recreation centers; amateur theatricals; the development of various recreational movements.

III. Social Legislation.

REV. MOORHOUSE I. X. MILLAR, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

In this course, the proper sphere of State control over social activities and, as a consequence, the limitations of social legislation will be indicated. An accurate, but non-technical interpretation will be given of the problem of preparing and administering our growing mass of social legislation.

IV. Seminar. REV. EDWARD R. MOORE.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

This course will be conducted in the manner of a round table discussion of actual problems in community organization, and of recreational movements already fully tried out or under advisement.

V. Field Work.

2 days per week under the direction of the Head of the Department.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL RECORDS

This department aims to meet the rightfully exacting requirements of modern social agencies by training the students in the framing of reports. Moreover, it provides principles for the correct understanding and interpretation of statistical data.

I. Record Writing.

MISS MARY L. GIBBONS.

1 period. Second Semester. First Year.

This course deals with one of the most vital factors in efficient social service. Cases must be reported correctly, succinctly and yet adequately, and records must be made and filed that correct judgments may be made. The forms and systems used in various types of social agencies will be studied and constructively criticized.

II. Records and Reports.

MR. GEORGE H. CHATFIELD.

2 periods. First Semester. Second Year.

Books, loose-leaf devices, cards, visible indexes; their uses separately and in combination; limitations; cost in relation to needs. Standard forms. Correspondence. Filing systems—similarities and differences—advantages and disadvantages; cross indexing; filing devices; cost in relation to use.

The designing of record forms as to arrangements of matter, spacing, accessibility to information, clearness, transcription, tabulation, economy of material, filing; elimination of superfluous clerical work. The necessary correspondence of related records. Checks for controlling the movement of large masses of records. Registration, numbering, listing and invoicing—when and how of advantage.

Study and criticism of current record forms. Aims and purposes as shown by required reports. Current records and reports as an instrument of supervisory control and a measurement of efficiency of individual workers. Limitation. Routine records and reports as a means of providing data for periodic reports. Systematic routine reporting as opposed to the casual.

III. Collection and Compilation of Social Information.

MR. GEORGE H. CHATFIELD.

2 periods. Second Semester. Second Year.

Data essential to the carrying out of various types of social service programs, such as relief, health and recreation. Principles underlying such collection, arrangement and compilation. Methods of assembling data; mechanical tabulation and its uses. Simple tables: their limitation, use and interpretation. Simple graphic representation; criticism of published tabular reports; the calculation of solutions to problems involving social data and arising from every-day experience. Sources of information; every study involving comparative data.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL SOCIAL SERVICE

This department is designed to equip the student with a knowledge of the intricate problems of the highly industrialized organization of our modern community life. Unemployment of the family wage earner is often the cause of crime and of neglected, dependent and delinquent children. The maladjustment of the wage earner, and the consequent inability properly to support his family, is often due to lack of vocational guidance and placement in his youth or to the hasty selection of unsuitable employment. The aim of this course is to point out the principles and methods of guiding the child to select an occupation which will help him to be a good and useful citizen, as well as to secure for the family wage earner regular suitable employment with a living wage. This course also deals with personnel and welfare work in manufacturing and commercial organizations.

I. Economic Groundwork of Social Service.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. First Year.

To do intelligent work for the social welfare, it is essential to know the fundamental principles of Political Economy. Hence, the course will embrace lectures on the principal subjects that come under that science, such as: wealth, value, price, the factors of production—nature, labor, capital. Money—depreciation of money—credit; banking; trade; transportation; corporations; taxation; insurance; consumption of wealth; distribution of wealth; rent; interest or profits; wages.

The theoretical discussion of these subjects will naturally introduce the practical matters that pertain more immediately to the domain of Social Service. Hence the treatment of such topics as: the laws affecting prices; immigration; banking facilities; industrial insurance; employers' liability; workmen's compensation; poverty, its causes, its prevention and its relief; the relation between capital and labor; the effects of corporations and trusts upon labor and the conditions of the laborers; the wage system; wages; the just wage; the minimum wage; standard of living in the United States as compared with standards of other countries; child labor; labor of women; labor unions; factory life, its conditions and its needs; pensions; solutions of present social problems as presented by Socialist, Liberal and Catholic Schools of Economics.

II. Industrial History.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

This course will deal with the history of labor and among other subjects will treat of: Evolutionary theories and historic facts. Labor among the Jews, Greeks and Romans. The medieval guilds. Beginning of the labor problem. The factory system. Trade Unions. American Social History. Co-operative systems. Trade Agreements. Social work accomplished by the Church. Christian Democracy.

III. Labor Problems.

REV. EDMUND J. BURKE, S.J.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

In this course, attention will be given to the consequences of inadequate social control over industrial organization. Such problems as the abuse of child and woman labor, seasonal employment, underpayment and dangerous working conditions will be considered, and various remedial programs under consideration will be examined.

IV. Unemployment.

MR. RICHARD A. FLINN.

2 periods per week. First Semester. Second Year.

(a) Adult. Unemployment; its causes, effects and suggested remedies. History and methods of public employment bureaus in the United States, Canada and Europe. Methods of handling adult cases referred by social service agencies.

(b) Juvenile. Vocational Guidance and Placement. Continuation school courses. Special employment and vocational problems of dependent, delinquent, mentally and physically handicapped children. Studies of trades offering the best opportunities to children.

V. Personnel Management.

MR. RICHARD A. FLINN.

2 periods per week. Second Semester. Second Year.

(a) Labor Laws. Protection of the wage earner; special laws protecting women and children in industry.

(b) Industrial Hygiene. Regulations and methods for safety and health of workers; visits are made both to old and to modern factories to show by contrast the value of protective measures.

(c) Social Insurance. Workmen's Compensation laws; benefits to injured workman and his dependents. Principal systems of old age, health and unemployment insurance. Recent development of unemployment insurance by trade organizations.

(d) Employment and Service Department. Selecting and training employees; job analysis; labor turn-over; industrial unrest; service and welfare work for employees.

VI. Field Work.

2 days per week under the direction of the Head of the Department.
